RESERVE BANKS TO QUIT BUYING FEDERAL BONDS

New Crisis for Gold Plan of President.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—With President Roosevelt resuming today his drive to depreciate the dollar despite the protests of organized business more storm clouds gathered over his monetary policy. These were outstanding developments of the day:

1. After putting on the brakes for five days the treasury depressed the gold value of the dollar still further by boosting the price offered for gold ten cents an ounce.

2. Wheat and stocks went up, but the quotations on government bonds again declined.

3. The federal reserve system, which regards the President's monetary policy economically unsound, withdrew its support from the government bond market.

4. Leading bankers of the country, gathered for the quarterly meeting of the federal reserve board's advisory council, debated a pronouncement on the President's monetary program.

5. Acting Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau clamped an iron-clad lid of secrecy down on the treasury department, forbidding any official or employé to give information to the press without his permission.

Disclosure that the federal reserve system has virtually suspended the large scale purchase of government bonds marked the second rift in the administration firmament since the President embarked upon the dollar depreciation policy. The first one led to the involuntary resignation of Dean G. Acheson, undersecretary of the treasury, and his replacement by Mr. Morgenthau, ardent devotee of the President's program.

Treasury May Buy Bonds.

Forced to proceed without the cooperation of the federal reserve system, Mr. Morgenthau admitted that he is preparing to have the treasury buy its own bonds in an effort to check the decline in their prices. Balances which the treasury may have on hand in its postal savings fund or other revolving funds will be invested in government securities in an effort to bolster them, he said.

Refusal of the reserve banks to continue purchases of the government securities was said to be based on the belief that the decline in government values was due solely to the gold policy, making the problem entirely "the treasury's baby" according to high reserve board officials.

After having bought government securities at the rate of about 38 million dollars' worth a week, the reserve banks last week cut their buying to 2 million dollars' worth. This week probably will see them out of the market almost entirely, officials predicted.

Treasury Has Billion Available.

With this prop gone from the bond market, Acting Secretary Morgenthau today ordered his subordinates to report to him the total funds which the treasury has available for stabilization operations in its own securities. Unofficial estimates placed the total of such moneys at about a billion dollars.

Fresh dismissals of high officials, especially Eugene R. Black, governor of the federal reserve board, may result from the new split. It was pointed out, however, that spanking of the reserve board would still not reach the 12 regional reserve banks which really control the system's policy.

Despite the slap which the reserve system has given the gold policy, the administration clung to it, raising the domestic gold price again today for the first time since Morgenthau took office. Mr. Morgenthau and Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the RFC, now the only members of the monetary board which formerly included Acheson, raised the price of domestic newly mined gold from $33.56 to $33.66 an ounce.

Dollar Drops to 61.4 Cents.

The value of the dollar measured in gold automatically dropped to 61.4 cents. Government bonds fell half a point before noon, but recovered later in the day to close above the low points.

Morgenthau summoned a meeting of the federal reserve board's executive council, of which he is an ex-officio member, this morning, but he insisted later in the day that he had done so merely to "get acquainted." He also

Racine, Wis., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—A band of desperate, efficient robbers raided the American Bank and Trust company of Racine today and fled with a large sum—perhaps $50,000—after a sensational battle in which they wounded two persons, kidnaped two, and stood off a crowd of 300 citizens who gathered while they were at their banditry.

Although dozens of shots were fired at them by policemen, the robbers escaped apparently unscathed. They fled into Waukesha county and released the two kidnaped victims, President Grover Weyland of the bank and Mrs. Ursula Patzke, an employé, at a point about 35 miles from Racine.

Dillinger the Leader?

It is believed the leader of the band is John Dillinger, Indiana's most noted criminal, who shot his way out of a Chicago police trap last Wednesday. Some investigators, however, contended that they all came from Milwaukee or St. Paul. Altogether there were ten or twelve men involved.

Shortly before the bank's closing time, 3 p. m., they arrived at the curb in two automobiles. Four, with weapons under their overcoats, walked sedately into the institution. One, with a machine gun, took his stand at the door. Two others walked up to the cashier's window and roughly pushed aside Barney Cowan, a depositor. Cowan started to protest but became quiet when a pistol was thrust against him. One of the pair then addressed H. C. Graham, behind the window.

Ordered to "Stick 'Em Up."

"Stick 'em up," he cried, "and be quick."

Graham, whose back was turned, thought some joker was addressing him.

"What's the hurry?" he asked.

The bandit, to show that he could not be trifled with, fired and Graham was wounded in the right arm. The man at the bank door began to spray machine gun bullets on the floor.

From the cars in front bandit reinforcements ran in and began to scoop up money from the tills and the vaults.

L. C. Rowan, an assistant cashier, stepped on an alarm button. It notified the police of the robbery and set off a gong in front of the building, upon which a dense crowd began to converge. From the police station two blocks away came a car in which rode Policemen Frank Worsley, Wilbur Hansen, and Cyril Boyard, the last with a machine gun.

Boyard was the first into the institution. He never had a chance to fire. At the door a bandit gunner caught the drop on him and he was disarmed. Hansen, behind him, was fired on and wounded. Worsley retreated to cover.

Retreat in a Body.

Completing their gathering of currency, the bandits moved in a body to the bank door. With them as shields they took the bank president, Mrs. Patzke, and Policeman Boyard.

The presence of the hostages prevented other policemen from shooting.

Policeman Boyard, who was held on the running board of one of the cars, was released a mile from the bank. Weyland and Mrs. Patzke reported their release from a farmhouse and were later driven back to Racine, unharmed. It was said tonight that the wounds of Hansen and Graham were not critical.

NASH DISPUTE OVER WAGES ENDS; REACH AGREEMENT

Kenosha, Wis., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The ten day shutdown of the Nash Motors company over a wage dispute between the United Automobile Workers' union and the company was ended tonight with a settlement.

The agreement recognized the principle of collective bargaining and provided arbitration by committees of workers for all disputes.

The union accepted the agreement at the massmeeting of 2,000 automobile workers today, and after the meeting a committee conferred with the Nash officials on the formal agreement.

Dr. John A. Lapp, member of the national labor advisory board, federal government unit for an arbitration of industrial disputes, arranged the conferences which brought proposals and counter-proposals finally reaching agreement. The union immediately removed its pickets from the plant, and announcement of the settlement of difficulties was greeted with wild cheering by the men.

The plant will reopen Wednesday.

Dr. J. F. Golden Dies in Plunge of 8 Floors

Dr. John Ferdinand Golden, noted surgeon, was killed yesterday afternoon in a fall from a window of his eighth floor apartment at 6700 Crandon avenue to the sidewalk below.

Dr. Golden was alone in the apartment before the fall, but a friend and fellow surgeon, Dr. Robert A. Black, and police of the Woodlawn station expressed the conviction that the fatal plunge was accidental. No notes or other indications of suicide were found.

Dr. Golden had been in ill health since his retirement from active practice a year and a half ago, after a nervous breakdown, and was still subject to attacks of vertigo, according to his nurse, Lucille Leder, who was on duty and away at the time of the fall.

Falls While Opening Window.

"I believe it was warm in the room and he went to raise a window, falling out when he did so," said Dr. Black, who had been associated with Dr. Golden at the Mercy hospital. Dr. Black had been attending Dr. Golden and was summoned immediately after the discovery of the tragedy was made by William Bowen, maintenance man at the apartment hotel.

Dr. Golden, who was 53 years old, was a nephew and former associate of the late Dr. John B. Murphy. He was widely known for his work in joint rehabilitation and for his technique in appendix and gall bladder operations, according to Dr. Black.

Three years ago Dr. Golden inherited the $1,500,000 estate of his wife, the former Florence Lydon, whose brother, W. A. Lydon, was president of the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company.

Two Children at School.

Two children, Clara, 14 years old, and John F. Jr., 10, were attending classes at the St. Philip Neri school at the time of the accident. They were notified by Dr. Black.

Dr. Golden was born in Appleton, Wis. He was graduated from St. Mary's school at Appleton and then attended Northwestern university. His post-graduate work was done in London, Paris, and Berlin, and he returned to Chicago to begin practice in 1903. He was a fellow of the American Medical association and of the American College of Surgeons.

NORTHWESTERN AND CHICAGO U. FRAME MERGER

Negotiations Reach Final Stage.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Northwestern university and the University of Chicago are to be welded into a single vast educational unit unless some unforeseen obstacle prevents it.

President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago admitted last night that such a plan is being studied but said that facts concerning the merger would not be made public until after the first of the year. President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern refused to discuss the project.

It has been disclosed, however, that the proposed merger not only has now become the basis of heated controversy on the campuses of the two institutions and among their trustees but also promises to make of these negotiations a widespread battle between two opposing forces in higher educational thought.

Complete Merger Is Plan.

Melvin A. Traylor, chairman of the merger committee for the Northwestern university trustees, said that the merger would be complete and that it was not a mere cooperative plan.

A committee composed of Edmund E. Day of the Rockefeller foundation, John C. Merriam of the Carnegie foundation, and President L. D. Coffman of the University of Minnesota has been nominated to study the administrative and educational feasibility of the plan. This committee has met with authorities of the universities during the last week, and after study of the problems will submit a report. By reason of the positions of these committee members it is predicted that the report will favor the merger.

Three Proposals Advanced.

It has been learned that since negotiations between the universities began last summer, three plans have been under consideration.

The first proposed a thorough cooperation between the two institutions in which all wasteful duplication of efforts would be eliminated. Under this plan, to which it is understood there was no opposition, the independence and autonomy of each university would be preserved.

The second plan, an outgrowth of the first, proposed the formation of a third organization to act as a holding corporation for the two universities. It was discovered, however, that this plan would accomplish nothing which could not be achieved by cooperation.

Merger Is Third Proposal.

With the rejection of this proposal, the trustees favoring the third plan—that of the merger—were led to put it forth on the present basis, which would consolidate the identities of the two schools.

The merger is expected to permit the reorganization of the University of Chicago's two medical departments Rush Medical school and the University of Chicago medical school. In this reorganization the Northwestern Medical school would also be an important factor.

The merger negotiations, however, are arousing discussion in a much wider field than that of medical training. The whole idea of bigness in educational development has been under widespread attack as a result of recent experience. While educators agree that the great size of some American universities has been inspiring in many ways, a number of them say that the system has developed certain weaknesses.

Point to One Weakness.

One of these, they say, is that the administrative machinery required by great universities has impersonalized higher education, since it has separated the student from educational leaders. They charge that the vastness of the institutions provides a shield for mediocrity in teaching, and that it has made of university administrators promotional agents rather than educators.

Economy also is an issue in this discussion. Proponents of the system of great universities argue that savings are made in handling large numbers of students as one unit. To this other educators reply that administrative costs in large universities have

Shot to Death in His Mansion After Quarrel

Paulsboro, N. J., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Sheldon A. Clark, eldest son of Sheldon Clark, Chicago sportsman and oil company executive, was shot and killed in his palatial home here this evening by his comely young wife, Audrey Smith Clark, former actress.

The slaying ended a violent quarrel, in which young Clark allegedly broke a billiard cue on his wife's head. Even as he fell, with a bullet near his heart, Clark murmured words of forgiveness.

"That's all right, honey," he said. Then he died.

Notifies Lawyer and Police.

Clark, 35 years old, was a maintenance engineer in this district for the Sinclair Oil company, of which his father is vice president. His self made widow is 25, and the mother of two young sons, Sheldon III., 6 years old, and Harry, 4.

Immediately after the shooting, Mrs. Clark notified her lawyer and police and was taken to the Underwood hospital at Woodbury, five miles away. She was placed under guard. Physicians said she was suffering from a severe cut on the head and unable late tonight to give a detailed statement.

Tell of Frequent Quarrels.

The killing furnished this ordinarily placid town with the ultimate in excitement and with it gossip purporting to show that the Clarks, both headstrong and temperamental, frequently found disagreement in their marital life. The gossip also attempted to portray young Clark as a gay chap and sportsman of a kind who had been accepted as a friend by Peggy Hopkins Joyce.

Apart from this gossip and as close to the facts as the police could get them, the shooting itself resulted from what could be considered a not uncommon dispute. Clark had refused to remain home for dinner. He wanted to go out. Two important witnesses who described the fight and the slaying were Mrs. Siavenia Brown, 60 year old Clark housekeeper, and George Johnson, a local ironworker.

Clark and Johnson, who had been doing some repair work on the former's motor launch at anchor in the neighboring Delaware river, were in the basement of the Clark home playing billiards. This home, the most pretentious in Paulsboro, once was owned by the late Congressman Henry C. Loudenslager, Clark's maternal grandfather.

Calls Husband to Dinner.

Mrs. Clark who has been convalescing from a recent illness, returned home from a neighborhood visit around 5 p. m. and was told by Mrs. Brown, the housekeeper, that dinner would be ready presently. Mrs. Clark went to the basement and notified her husband. According to the housekeeper, Clark "was drunk and very pugnacious."

"I'm not going to eat any dinner," he replied.

Mrs. Clark berated him for not wanting to be with his family, police were told, and then hurried up the stairs toward her bedroom. Enraged, Clark followed her carrying a billiard Weather Mild Along Atlantic Coast.

Lindy Off for Azores

LISBON, Nov. 21 [Tuesday].—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off on their big seaplane early today, presumably for the Azores. Col. Lindbergh responded to all questions with a smile as he carried their baggage to a motorboat which took the couple to their plane, but refused to talk.

The famous American flying pair came here several days ago after a flight from Santona, Spain, which was interrupted for two nights and a day when they were forced down en route by bad weather near Caldelas de Tuy.

Salem, N. J., Nov. 20.—(AP)—The Settle stratosphere balloon, after a 58,000 foot ascent, was sighted over southwestern New Jersey tonight and was believed dropping slowly to a landing.

The big bag last was seen over Daretown, about 15 miles east of Salem, at 8:45 p. m. eastern standard time. It was over a sparsely settled country and naval authorities said they believed the balloon's skipper—Lieut. Commander T. G. W. Settle—was maneuvering the unwieldy bulk as best he could, seeking a favorable spot to land.

A six mile ground wind was blowing over southern New Jersey. There was no apprehension for safety of Settle or his aid, as weather conditions were good.

Soars from Akron.

Settle let his balloon soar skyward from Akron, Ohio, at 9:27 a. m. today and it began drifting toward the Atlantic seaboard. He maintained communication with the ground by wireless and reported he had reached almost 11 miles. Observations were made and then the balloon began a slow descent.

It drifted over cities and was reported at regular intervals until dusk blotted it out.

A report that the balloon landed at Alloway, N. J., near Salem, early in the evening was investigated by New Jersey state police, who reported the information erroneous.

A complete check was kept by state policemen. The latest word they received was that the bag was drifting slowly and low over sparsely settled southwestern New Jersey.

Coast Guard on Lookout.

The United States coastguard took notice of the balloon's delayed landing and said a plane at Cape May, N. J., had been ordered to stand by and prepare to aid cutters if the balloon should be blown to sea.

The chances of drifting over the sea appeared remote, however, unless Settle lost his bearings completely. He can descend any time by yanking his rip cord, but, being a skilled balloonist with valuable records aboard, he naturally would prefer to make a more gentle landing.

Delay in Landing Explained.

Akron, O., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Three possibilities for the apparent delay of Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle in landing in southern New Jersey after his balloon flight into the stratosphere were advanced tonight by Lieut. Sam Townsend of the naval radio station here, who was in constant communication with the aeronaut until late this afternoon.

Townsend said Commander Settle might be "loafing in the relatively calm atmosphere waiting for a southwest wind which would carry him to the naval air station at Lakehurst."

Waiting for Daylight?

Or, Townsend said, Settle, an experienced balloonist with a long list of achievements to his credit, might be maneuvering about to keep the balloon up all night and wait for a daylight landing. Attaches at the airport here expressed the belief Settle could do this because of the favorable weather conditions.

There also was a possibility, Townsend added, that Settle and his companion, Maj. Chester L. Fordney of the United States marine corps, had landed in an isolated section and had been unable to reach a telephone or other communication.

Taking off at the Akron airport at 9:27 a. m., the great hydrogen-filled bag and its tiny spherical gondola passed the 50,000-foot mark after 2

p. m., said advices to the naval wireless station here.

Lieut. Townsend tonight expressed the belief Commander Settle had been heading toward the naval air base at Lakehurst, but had not been able to get there.

Having dumped overboard his storage battery and other paraphernalia, Settle could not communicate with the station here, as he had done all day from the moment of his takeoff. With a receiving set at his command, however, Settle could take reports and check his position.

Gives Praise to Settle.

"He's one of the best balloonists in the country," Townsend said. "He took his ship along the route of the Pennsylvania airlines almost as if it had an engine and a rudder."

Townsend added that if Settle had any fear of being blown into the Atlantic ocean he could easily descend.

The wives of the two officers, after kissing them good-by, entered the automobile of E. H. Perkins, representative of the firm which built the paper-thin magnesium alloy gondola. They hoped to follow the course of the balloon's flight by auto as far as Pittsburg, at least.

Balked in his first attempt to reach the stratosphere last summer when his gas valve stuck at an altitude of 5,000 feet in Chicago, Commander Settle had waited here several days for favorable weather.

For food the men carried chocolate bars, coffee, hot chocolate, bananas, apples, and grapes.

Lieutenant Commander Settle and Maj. Fordney made the fourth recorded flight in all history in a free balloon into the stratosphere.

The 58,000 feet, which Settle believed he had exceeded, would be almost 11 miles, as recorded on the altimeter inside the black and silver seven foot spheroid in which the two men made the trip. Their "top" thus apparently was about a mile short of the almost 12 miles which three Russian balloonists reported they had attained Sept. 30, 1933.

Talk to Those Below.

As Settle and Fordney cruised beneath a sky described as a "beautiful blue," hanging suspended 58,000 feet above sea level, they talked with those on earth below them, casually, calmly, in the fashion of men telephoning to a friend to impart a bit of ordinary information.

Methodical and unhurried, they replied to questions asked them on a short wave voice wireless set to inform their listeners that they were comfortable, had drunk a cup of coffee apiece, and believed everything was going off according to schedule.

Particularly they were sure the tanks of liquid oxygen on which their lives depended would sustain them in their sealed gondola until they once again set foot on solid earth.

The adventurers had the specific mission of studying the nature of the cosmic ray, that elusive beam bombarding the earth which has claimed the undivided attention of famous scientists for years. The rays, 100 times as powerful in the stratosphere as at sea level, were to be recorded on delicate instruments carried by the aeronauts.

If, in summing up the results of today's experiment, it is found that Dr. Arthur H. Compton of the University of Chicago is correct in contending the rays are electrons, scientists possibly would see support for the theory that the universe originated in an explosion thousands of millions of years ago.

Universe Self-Renewing?

If it is round that the rays are photons, or bullets of light, as Dr. Robert A. Millikan of the California Institute of Technology contends, those same scientists may conclude that the universe is "immortal" and self-renewing. The photons, according to the Millikan theory, represent left-over energy released in space in the process of forming new atoms of matter to replenish dying stars.

The aeronauts carried two "coincidence counters" and another meter, as well as a block of tungsten to carry on the experiments. Dr. R. J. Stephenson, University of Chicago, an associate of Dr. Compton's, was in charge of the ground phases of the work.

Today's flight had been preceded by that of the three Russians who claimed to have reached 11.8 miles, and those of the Belgian scientist, Auguste Piccard, in May, 1931, and August, 1932.

INSIDE STORY OF BALLOON FLIGHT IN LOG OF RADIO

Talk with Aeronauts 11 Miles Up.

An intimate picture of the difficulties and pleasures experienced by Lieut. Commander T. G. W. Settle, U. S. N., and Maj. Chester L. Fordney, U. S. marine corps, as they careened high above the earth's surface in their stratosphere balloon yesterday was obtained in a room in the National Broadcasting company's office in the Merchandise Mart.

A telephone channel connecting New York, Akron, and Chicago enabled reporters at an NBC receiving set to hear all the conversation to and from the balloon, both that which was broadcast and that which was not. The balloon occupants talked to their aids in Akron and Chicago, to physicists in Chicago and to weather experts along the route, while engineers' and announcers' talk between cities also was heard.

Start Down from 58,000 Feet.

At 3:47 o'clock Chicago time Maj. Fordney said they had descended from their apparent peak height of 58,000 feet to 45,000 feet, that they were coming down fast and were east of Hagerstown, Md. At 3:52 o'clock they were 85 miles from Washington and expected to be over Washington at 5:52 o'clock, landing shortly after dark.

At 4:30 o'clock Chicago time radio technicians had lost track of the balloon, indicating that the balloonists had thrown out the radio sending batteries for ballast, as they had announced they would do in order to stay aloft longer.

Meanwhile Prof. Arthur H. Compton of the University of Chicago, who is interested in the cosmic ray findings the balloon ascent is expected to show, asked that the cosmic ray machine aboard the ballon be sent to him as soon as the balloon lands.

At 4:38 the Akron weather bureau sent weather reports to the balloon over the latter's receiving station, W8XL, that a low surface wind of 3 miles an hour was prevalent at Washington, where a landing had been proposed.

Log of Radio Conversation.

A log of the unscheduled, nonbroadcast utterances passing between the men in the air and those on the ground and heard over the low wave length radio transmitter in the Merchandise Mart included such remarks as Lieutenant Commander Settle's words to his aid, Lieut. Sam Townsend, in Akron, "We're busier'n hell up here, Sam."

At one time Louis Alvarez, aid to Prof. Compton, was talking from Chicago to Maj. Fordney in a private conversation.

"Have you taken any observations on Steve's [Dr. R. J. Stephenson, associate of Compton] apparatus through the microscope?" Alvarez asked.

"No, we're pretty busy up here," laughed Maj. Fordney.

"How's your spectrometer going?"

Science from Radio Announcer.

Bob Brown, an announcer, was talking from Akron to an announcer here on another occasion.

"Well, Bob," said the announcer here, "Mr. Alvarez says that that ticking noise we hear isn't the cosmic ray."

Bob: "Well, what is it then?"

Voice: "I don't know, but it's not the cosmic ray machine. Cosmic rays aren't that regular, Alvarez says. They come in every which way."

At 8:10 a. m. conversations started with the balloon, with Maj. Fordney, speaking from the gondola, saying everything was shipshape and ready to go. At 8:28 the balloon cast off.

10:58—Fordney: Hello. Our position is ten miles south of a little town called New Franklin, near Alliance, O. Our altitude's pretty low—only 4,000 feet. O, sure, put on Lieut. Townsend.

Lieutenant Commander Settle—Hello, Sam.

Lieut. Townsend [Akron]—Hello, Tex. I just been down to chow.

Settle—We're going on up now. We are over 5,000 feet.

Townsend—Perk [Howard Perkins, engineer with the Dow Chemical company] is leaving with the girls [the wives of the officers in the air] in a few minutes.

Settle—Fine. I'll call you at 12:30 Right-o.

11:30—Fordney—We're 6,000 feet now.

11:40—Fordney [to Townsend]—Hello, Sam.

Townsend—Hello, Mike. Say, what's your altitude?

Fordney—We're up 12,000 feet. We're over East Liverpool.

Townsend—Say, you gents are getting up.

Reach 49,000 Feet.

At 12:27 they were up 49,000 feet, Settle was letting out the lead dust ballast through a funnel, and Fordney broadcast, saying they were between Pittsburgh and East Liverpool. He said they had no lunch except "a demi-tasse of coffee" each.

1:16 [Fordney to Alvarez]—How's the signal? A.—Beautiful.

Alvarez—Got the cosmic ray machine working? A.—O, yes.

Alvarez—The counter hasn't slipped out of that little fork? A.—Not yet.

Alvarez—Will you take that film of Millikan's [Robert A., famous physicist] out and lay it horizontal? [Grunt, signifying efforts in pulling it out.] Have you turned the clock off. No, but I will.

Alvarez — Made any observations through the microscope of Steve's apparatus? A.—No, we're pretty busy up here. We're up 52,000 feet and we can't get our position.

Lose Sight of Earth.

Alvarez: You mean you can no longer see the earth? A. [Fordney] O, heavens, no, that's been out of sight a long time.

1:37—[Townsend to Fordney]—Hello, Mike? Is Tex [Commander Settle] able to talk? A.—He's pretty busy dumping ballast.

Fordney—Nothing like that up here. I hear you fine. Hello, Tex.

Fordney—If any one sights us from land we'd like to know, as we'd like to know where we are. I think we're about 30 miles southeast of Pittsburgh.

Bag Fully Inflated.

1:45—Maj. Fordney [in reply to questions in a broadcast interview]—Our bag is fully inflated now. The bottom of the balloon is open, and we can look right up to the top inside.

"The ballast is lasting so well that it may outlast the commander. Of course that was said lightly. The commander will win the battle with the ballast."

In reply to a question as to whether he could see "the earth's curvature," Maj. Fordney replied: "No, we couldn't see the curvature. There's no reason to expect we could have. It looked like a plain surface, and a ground haze impeded our view.

No Discomfort in Gondola.

"We're up 53,000 feet now," he continued, "and should reach the ceiling in half an hour. Our oxygen is here, bubbling merrily away in a little 15 liter flask. We feel no discomfort. It's 46 degrees Fahrenheit inside. We're working barehanded, without gloves.

"It's a beautiful sight from here. We look down into a mass of clouds as we look down the porthole and over the lower side. Up above, we see a clear blue sky, and when I say 'blue' I mean 'blue' very definitely."

Q.—Will you be ready to bail out if you have to?

Ready to Bail Out.

Maj. Fordney laughed gently and replied conversationally, "O, of course." He said he'd like to land in Washington, "where I have two young boys and two young girls."

At that time the aeronauts had 100 pounds of ballast left. Settle came to the microphone long enough to say he was feeling fine and when they started slowing down they would have a good lunch, but had had time only for coffee. They were then between 65 and 100 miles east of Pittsburgh.

At 2:22 p. m. the officers in the balloon talked to Rear Admiral Ernest J. King, in charge of the bureau of aeronautics, who talked from Washington. They were then at "something like 58,000 feet," and although the conversation was protracted and full of "No sir's" and courteous remarks, Lieut. Com. Settle betrayed his excitement by saying, "Good morning, admiral."

Before the network was hooked up, an announcer told Commander Settle: Stand by, commander, because we want to put you on the air with Admiral What's-His-Name in Washington." While waiting for the Washington announcer, the gondola occupants were supplied with a little music from New York.

Talks to Admiral.

Rear Admiral King [to Settle]—How is the balloon valve? A.—Functioning perfectly, admiral. It's been a very interesting and nice trip. The stratosphere's rather hazy under me, but occasionally the clouds and haze break away and we get a glimpse of the surface.

King—What altitude are you? A.—As near as we can judge, 58,000 feet. We're at the peak now. In half an hour we'll start down.

King—Is the gas contracting? A.—Yes, sir.

King—I'm glad everything's going so well. What about food. A.—We haven't had time, but we have plenty here.

King—It looks to me like a successful trip, and you deserve the congratulations of the navy department and the whole country.

Fordney was then called to the microphone and received the thanks of the admiral for volunteering to go on the trip. Rear Admiral King then suggested they head for Washington and land at Anacostia, "where you can get concrete evidence of how warm a welcome awaits you."

REPORT FORMER CAPONE AID WILL GIVE UP TO U. S.

Bert Delaney, former superintendent of the Capone breweries, will surrender to government agents today for questioning on an old liquor conspiracy charge, according to reports yesterday in the United States courthouse. Delaney, Al Capone, and 78 other members of the booze syndicate were indicted more than two years ago, but the case has not yet been brought to trial.

Delaney's latest court appearance was two weeks ago when he went before Judge Thomas A. Green on a vagrancy charge. The case was dismissed for lack of evidence.

Since the imprisonment of Capone, his former boss, Delaney is alleged to have turned to labor racketeering. Last spring he was indicted with three officials of the Commission Wagon Drivers' union on charges of conspiracy.

Farmer Host Found Dead, Eight Guests Unconscious

Albion, Neb., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Arthur Ternes, 24, young Albion farmer, was found dead and eight other persons unconscious at the George Ternes home southeast of here when a neighbor went there today to borrow a team of horses. Sheriff L. I. Smoyer said there was evidence that the young people had been playing bridge and drinking.

PLEAD FOR JOBS AS U. S. RELIEF WORK IS BEGUN

The civil works administration re-employment program was formally launched in Chicago and Illinois yesterday amidst difficulties which caused some confusion. More than 60,000 men in the state were scheduled to be placed on federal pay rolls, but an accurate estimate of just how many were actually at work could not be obtained.

City relief stations were invaded by thousands in quest of employment. They were turned away with a reiteration of previous announcements that no applications for jobs can be handled at this time. Persons now on the relief rolls will be notified of their assignment to work through the regular relief agencies. Jobless persons not on the relief rolls were turned away with the announcement that the benefits of the program at present apply only to those who have been accepting the charity of the relief commission. After Dec. 1 the officials in charge hope to be able to distribute jobs to the unemployed who have managed to support themselves without seeking the aid of the relief commission.

Red Tape Delays Jobs.

In many of the densely populated sections of the city the relief station authorities, because of red tape delays, had few or no jobs to offer. The big problem seemed to be the tardy approval of civil projects upon which men might be put to work. The local CWA administrators marked for immediate approval only those projects for which materials and supplies were available without expense to the government. Their object was to make every penny of the CWA appropriation go towards the payment of wages only, if possible.

However, many thousands were actually working, unskilled laborers receiving a minimum of 50 cents an hour under the government scale and skilled laborers getting as much as $1.20 an hour. In Cook county at least 10,000 went into the field, it was estimated. Another 15,000 should be at work today, it was said, completing the transfer from work relief rolls to CWA rolls. Then will follow the task of selecting relief recipients who have not been in the work relief division.

Expect to Hire 5,000 a Day.

Martin H. Bickham, county director of the CWA, said that about 5,000 persons a day may be employed between now and Dec. 1. Cook county's quota of jobs, based on population and the number of relief recipients, has been set at 99,260. Under the general rule, as proposed by President Roosevelt in his announcement of the allotment of $400,000,000 from the public works fund for reëmployment on civil projects, half of this number, or 49,630, should be taken from the relief rolls and the remaining jobs should be given to the jobless not on relief.

Mr. Bickham said that enough projects had been presented to call for the employment of at least 125,000 in Cook county.

"This means," he said, "that we can pick and choose the projects which we wish to approve. No government is going to reduce its budget by proposing a project which it should accomplish out of its own budget. Only clear cut special projects are being considered.

"Our instructions are to select first those projects in which materials and tools are provided by the governmental bodies."

Problems in Doling Out Jobs.

An illustration of the problems confronting the CWA administrators was provided in the experiences of Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt. Commissioner Hewitt proposed 1,966 jobs for several city departments. The number of men who showed up for work was 1,293.

At the Navy pier two painters and five carpenters who had been on relief rolls appeared, but they had no union cards, having been unable to pay union dues. Fearful of a strike by the other union men on the job, the foremen did not permit the seven men to work. The same situation prevailed when three carpenters and one steamfitter without union cards reported for work at the bureau of building maintenance. Conferences must be held with union officials to solve this problem, it was announced.

The heads of the city bureaus also told Commissioner Hewitt that the six hour day required of CWA employés would cause difficulties. The city foremen in charge of the men are supposed to work an eight hour day and their services will be wasted for two hours a day under the six hour system, they explained.

Several men, recommended by relief workers for the CWA jobs, were obviously unqualified, physically or otherwise, and were sent back by the bureau heads. Whether city authorities must put these men to work if the relief workers insist is another puzzle.

List of Jobs Offered.

Of the 1,966 jobs listed by Commissioner Hewitt 1,686 were ready for the workers yesterday morning. The following table shows the projects, the number of jobs available on each, and the number of men who actually appeared and were put to work:

	Jobs listed	Men put to wk.
Bureau of streets	860	697
Repair shop	42	42
Traffic survey	202	112
Bureau of playgrounds, etc.	490	331
Dept. building maintenance	29	16
Navy pier	103	95
Totals	1,686	1,293

In the forest preserves of Cook county, 1,350 men were transferred from the relief work rolls to the federal pay roll. The district wishes to obtain approximately 8,000 jobs from the CWA, but will be unable to employ as many men as it wishes until it has purchased the necessary tools, it was stated. The forest preserves will advertise at once for bids for the tools, which will cost about $35,000, but the tools cannot be obtained for about two weeks.

John C. Christensen, school architect, announced that about 300 CWA employés would go to work in the schools of Chicago tomorrow. He estimated that at least 1,500 men could be employed in cleaning, painting and repairing school buildings.

Approximately 500 men went to work for the highway department, digging ditches, repairing road shoulders and doing other highway maintenance work. About 2,000 more workers are expected to be at work on highway jobs by tomorrow.

On Canal District Jobs.

Another 300 men will begin work for the sanitary district under the CWA by tomorrow, Philip Harrington, chief engineer, said. He estimated that more than 2,000 men would be employed by the end of the week. Another 2,000 men can be put to work next week, he said.

Mayor Kelly announced that he favored the releasing by the state of the city's 1 cent portion of the gasoline tax, a large amount of which, with money collected from the city vehicle license bureau, could be used to purchase materials, thus meeting the qualification made by the CWA administrators. A change in the law declaring that all city streets are to be deemed as connecting routes with state highways would release the money, he pointed out. Jobs for 34,000 could be provided in this manner alone, it was said.

Interviews with those men at work yesterday revealed an almost universal spirit of thanksgiving. Most of them had been receiving relief for the support of themselves and their families for years and expressed gratitude for being permitted to earn living wages.

Less Difficulty Downstate.

Reports from downstate revealed that the reëmployment program was proceeding there under less difficulty than in Chicago because of the relatively smaller number to be employed in each county. A dispatch from Bloomington stated that 950 jobless men, 300 more than originally expected, were given jobs in McLean county.

The Rock Island county relief committee received authority to employ 2,618 men. Civil works projects planned in the county will involve the expenditures of $247,000. Six hundred and sixty men will report for work in Franklin county under the CWA, according to another dispatch. Most of them will be employed on road work.

Tools purchased by the state to outfit CWA employés will be bought, whenever possible, in the communities where the work is to be done, Robert Kingery, state director of public works, announced. Quincy, Ill., merchants had complained that tools had been purchased in Missouri to outfit workers in that vicinity.

To Direct Registration.

Robert J. Dunham, chairman of the Illinois Civil Works Administration, has designated Victor A. Olander, a member of the commission and secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Federation of Labor, as representative of the CWA in the registration and applications for jobs of the general unemployed who are to be put to work after Dec. 1. Mr. Olander will be assisted by Edward J. Blair.

Of the total number of jobs to be allocated, approximately 55 per cent are in Cook county and 45 per cent in the other counties of the state. In these latter counties the registration will be in charge of Dr. A. H. R. Atwood, assistant director of the State Department of Labor in the counties which have state employment offices, and R. C. Jacobson, Illinois director of the federal reëmployment office in the other counties of the state.

New Federal Judge Takes Up Duties

400 at Induction

William H. Holly, newly appointed United States District judge, was inducted into office yesterday in the United States courthouse. He will fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Judge George A. Carpenter. Judge Holly, who lives at 7635 Bosworth avenue, was sworn in by Charles M. Bates, clerk of the District court. He was welcomed to the bench by James H. Wilkerson, senior judge of the District court.

"As a practicing attorney for 30 years, known for general ability and fairness, I feel you are well equipped to handle your duties," Judge Wilkerson said.

"I have no political or economic program," Judge Holly said. "I just plan to be a good judge and to be fair and impartial."

Among the 400 who witnessed the ceremony were former Judge George E. Q. Johnson, Judges Samuel Alschuler, Evan A. Evans, Will M. Sparks of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals; Judges Charles E. Woodward and John P. Barnes of the District court, and United States Attorney Dwight H. Green.

JAPAN REPORTED WOOING CHINA AS MILITARY ALLY

Seeks to Offset American Deal with Russia.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 21 [Tuesday].—Chinese press reports allege that Akira Ariyoshi, Japanese minister to China, and Maj. Gen. Neiji Okamura, vice chief of staff of the Japanese army in Manchukuo, have made a secret proposal to Chinese military authorities by which Japan is willing to abolish the puppet state of Manchukuo providing China is willing to join hands with Japan in a military and economic alliance similar to the present Japan-Manchukuo protocol signed at Changchun [now Hsinking], Manchuria, on May 15, of last year.

The Morning Post of Peiping said the Japanese proposal was made following news of the Russian-American rapprochement. The Japanese purpose, it was said, is to offset Japan's isolation as a result of the Russo-American accord.

Report Japan Offers Loans.

According to reports in Chinese circles, Japan is willing to extend Chinese military authorities practically unlimited loans for munitions, enabling the Nanking government to suppress the communist and other elements now seeking to oust the government of Chiang Kai-shek.

The Japanese army, it is alleged, also will undertake to protect China against aggression by land [referring to Russia], while the Japanese navy will assume China's maritime protection against possible American or European naval aggression.

The economic phases of Japan's plan are said to offer China a reciprocal tariff agreement, enabling Japanese products to squeeze American and European products out of the Chinese market.

Set Up Rebel Government.

A so-called "people's government of China" was created in Fukien province yesterday, with the Kwangsi provincial commander, Gen. Li Chi-sum, as chairman.

Personnel of the government includes two officials of the 19th route army, Gen. Tsai Ting-kai and Gen. Chen Ming-shu, and leaders of the so-called "third party" headed by Mme. Sun Yat-sen, Tsang Ho-chuan, Teng Yenta, Eugene Chen, and George Hsuchen. This organization is popularly regarded as a pink group sympathetic with the aims of the Chinese communists.

An independence proclamation telegraphed to the Nanking government charges that the Nanking government is drifting to a pro-Japanese policy, denounces Dictator Chiang Kai-shek and urges a program of land redistribution and socialization. The rebel group has seized branches of the Central bank at Foochow and Amoy.

The national government issued a circular telegram ordering all military and government officials to adopt drastic measures to suppress the rebellion.

HORNER APPEALS FOR OBSERVANCE OF THANKSGIVING

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Proclaiming Nov. 30 as Thanksgiving day, Gov. Horner today asked the people of Illinois "to demonstrate our spirit of thankfulness" and gratitude for progress made by the Roosevelt recovery campaign.

"In these days that follow months of distress and unrest we have abundant reason for giving such thanks and publicly acknowledging our gratitude," the governor said. "For the nation, so long in the throes of an economic disarrangement in common with other countries of the world, now appears to be on the road to recovery.

"Through the operation of measures inaugurated by our President, want and suffering have been alleviated. Millions of the unemployed of our country have been put back to work, and these no longer must depend upon public assistance for the bare necessities of life.

"Pay rolls have increased and factories long closed have resumed production. The plight of the farmer has at last been recognized and a new era of opportunity is before him. Our people look forward with renewed hope and confidence."

WORK FOR 400,000 WOMEN SOUGHT AT CONFERENCE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—(AP)—In the White House east room, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today presided over a conference on how to create work projects speedily for 400,000 women. Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, called it, and he was there to place a goal—"work for 250,000 women in the next thirty days." Funds were available to take women, like men, from relief rolls to employment, but practical fields had been lacking.

Next week there will be state conferences.

Asserting "the only group neglected right straight along has been the unemployed women," Mrs. Roosevelt asked "as many suggestions as possible for useful work that won't compete with labor on the open market."

Sewing, canning, preserving, craft work, home economics, health instruction were suggested by Ellen S. Woodward, the director of woman's work.

Orchestra Conductor Sued by Divorced Wife

Mrs. Elita Sheasby of New York, filed a suit for $10,000 yesterday in the Municipal court against Louis Sheasby, conductor of a radio orchestra, for alimony alleged to be due her under a divorce decree which she obtained in New York in 1924. Her bill, filed by Attorney Norman Becker, states that Sheasby is 465 weeks in arrears on payments of $25 a week granted for the support of Mrs. Sheasby and a son, Pendleton, now 13 years old. Sheasby lives at 1403 Winnemac avenue.

FORMER PREMIER OF JAPAN SAVED FROM ASSASSINS

Two Youths with Daggers Attack Wakatsuki.

TOKIO, Nov. 21 [Tuesday].—(AP)—Former Premier Baron Reijiro Wakatsuki, foremost Japanese defender of the London naval treaty, escaped injury today when two youthful "patriots" assaulted him with daggers.

The assailants forced their way through a large crowd in front of the Ueno railway station in the northern part of the city and had almost reached Wakatsuki when police intercepted them.

One man, arrested at the station, was identified as Susumu Noguchi, a well known boxer, long contender for the Japanese welterweight championship.

The other escaped in the crowd, but was caught later near the baron's residence, to which police believe he had trailed the ex-premier hoping for another chance to attack him. The second man was identified as Haru Matsui, an ex-soldier. He was carrying a seven inch dagger.

Both Noguchi and Matsui are members of the Japan Boxing association, which hitherto has not been suspected of any reactionary political affiliations. Police are now investigating the association.

Indignant over Treaty.

Police said Noguchi denied connection with any established "patriotic" organizations, and explained that he was personally indignant about Baron Wakatsuki's rôle in helping negotiate the London naval treaty.

Baron Wakatsuki had just returned to Tokio from a speech-making tour in northwestern Japan. He was crossing the station plaza and was about to enter his motor car when the attack was attempted.

Although he had not mentioned the London naval treaty in his recent speeches at Kanazawa, he has been the target of denunciations by reactionary elements in naval circles for some time.

Apparently unperturbed by the attack, Wakatsuki drove to his home. After a brief rest, he entrained again for Ito, where he has a villa. The station was heavily policed.

PREMIER OF JAPAN TWICE.

Baron Wakatsuki, now 67 years old, has twice been premier of Japan during a long and noteworthy political career that began shortly after his graduation from the Imperial university of Tokio.

He rose to political eminence through various posts in the ministry of finance and reached the cabinet in 1912, when he became finance minister.

The baron became premier in 1926. His cabinet fell in 1927 as a result of an acute financial crisis.

In 1929 he was named Japan's chief delegate to the London naval conference.

The next year he was called upon for the second time to serve as premier. His ministry lasted only eight months. In December, 1931, Wakatsuki resigned as a result of criticism of his policy in foreign affairs and finance.

Bare Wholesale Forgeries of Balbo Air Mail Stamp

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 20.—Forgeries on a large scale of the Newfoundland $4.50 special Balbo air mail stamp were discovered here today. The stamps were used on the Italian mass flight to Chicago and return last summer. Detective Strange has gone to Brooklyn, N. Y., to hunt for the counterfeiting plant. Hundreds of the bogus issue were unloaded in the United States and Canada, it was announced.

SENATOR LEWIS COMES TO TOWN, THEN VANISHES

Interviews Himself on U. S. Appointments.

United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis slipped into Chicago from Washington early yesterday, and vanished. He arrived a few hours behind an interview, which he had prepared himself and forwarded by mail.

Senator Lewis could not be found at his Chicago residence, his office, or the clubs he frequents. To all inquiries answer was given that the senator was in town, but his whereabouts was unknown. Political leaders explained his disappearance by saying that he was probably "avoiding persons seeking to have him exert his influence in their behalf."

Senator Interviews Self.

In the interview with himself, written in the senator's flowing hand, he said he must take full responsibility for the appointments of Harold L. Ickes as secretary of the interior, of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson as NRA administrator, of George N. Peek as agricultural adjustment administrator, of Prof. William E. Dodd as ambassador to Germany, and of M. S. Szymczak as member of the federal reserve board.

When Ickes' appointment was sought by former leaders of the Progressive party as a reward for his services as national secretary of the defunct party, President Roosevelt conferred with Senator Lewis at tea in the White House, according to the interview. Senator Lewis declared himself as favoring a straight Democrat, but said he would not prevent his Republicans fellow citizens from having representation.

"I Commended Mr. Ickes."

"The President was anxious to select the secretary of interior from a state not interested in oil and minerals as chief production," Senator Lewis wrote. "I commended the merits of Mr. Ickes. Then I took the floor in the senate and advocated his confirmation."

Later, Senator Lewis said in the interview, he was able to have Mr. Szymczak appointed in the desire to give Polish-American citizens representation. The appointment of Prof. Dodd of the University of Chicago "was agreed upon between myself and the President . . . an old friend of mine as well as of the President," the Lewis statement said.

"The positions now held by Gen. Johnson and Mr. Peek, both of Rock Island county, were consented to by me despite their past politics, as I wanted these places for the state of Illinois," Senator Lewis wrote.

Senator Lewis asserted that business is on the upswing and will climb further when erroneous ideas concerning the NRA are eliminated.

During his stay here, Senator Lewis said in his self-prepared interview, he plans to help city and state projects connected with the government. He announced that he is preparing for a speaking tour through Illinois and other middle west states to explain administration policies.

NRA of Co-operation Is Aim of Business, Strawn Asserts

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Business regulating itself in the spirit of the NRA codes and in the American spirit is the goal set by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America. It is not the business leaders of the nation against the NRA as such, but the question of how the codes are to be implemented, whether through fear and compulsion or in good will and cooperation.

This was made clear yesterday by Silas H. Strawn, former president of the chamber and its spokesman in this part of the country, who discussed the meeting of the directors in Washington, the aim of the investigation about to be undertaken by a special committee of which he is a member, and the policy of the chamber on the money question.

"There is every desire on the part of the committee to go forward constructively with the administration," said Mr. Strawn. "We have hesitated because we knew the President was trying hard to work things out. But we feel that the time has come to be plain about certain interpretative and administrative methods of the NRA."

Committee to Meet Friday.

The committee, he said, would meet in Washington next Friday for a preliminary planning. They would confer with the advisory committee of the department of commerce and similar committees as to how the chamber may have greater usefulness in working out the NRA provisions, to the end that business may become self-regulating. He quoted from the resolution of the directors this clause:

"Under no circumstances shall the committee consider plans that are designed to commit the chamber to become a party to compulsory enforcement of the codes of the NRA."

It is the hope of the chamber to have industry, through trade associations, set up effective agencies for the administration of the code. It has been the recent effort in Washington to have the NRA officials do this. The Swope plan will be studied in this connection.

"We feel," said Mr. Strawn, "that the membership of this committee, drawn from every section of the country and from many industries, is in a better position to know what to do than a few officials in Washington. The NRA codes are basically good. An era of coöperation, rather than the old destructive competition, and fairer dealing with labor, is possible under wisely administered codes.

Sees Mistake in Method.

"But a mistake has been made in the method of enforcement. Washington has undertaken to do too big a thing at once. The whip and the jail and the informer will not go down with the American business man.

"The large industries, such as coal, steel, lumber, textiles, seem satisfied. They will be hurt by the costs later. But it is the smaller business that is suffering. Many cannot go under the codes and survive. The administration should be satisfied to have the big fellows in line and let the little ones come along, as they would do. There is no way to drive people into it. We have an example of an effort to enforce an unpopular law in prohibition."

The chairman of the investigating committee is David F. Edwards, president of the Saco-Lowell shops, Boston. Members with Mr. Strawn are Julius H. Barnes, former president of the chamber; Lewis E. Pierson, former president and chairman of the board of the Irving Trust company, New York; Fred H. Clausen, president Van Brunt Manufacturing company, Horicon, Wis.; John A. Law, president Saxon and Chesnee Mills, Spartanburg, S. C.; Walter C. Teagle, president Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and one of the recent NRA advisers; and Henry I. Harriman, president of the chamber, who was active in getting support for the President in the earlier stages of the NRA.

Stresses Blow at Power Project.

Another highly important act of the chamber, Mr. Stawn said, was the resolution condemning the use of funds of the PWA "to finance business units designed to compete with existing units now rendering adequate service at reasonable cost."

This would apply forcibly to the government's going into the power business in the Tennessee valley in competition with private companies.

According to the chamber resolution, such action is "contrary to sound public policy, destructive of savings investments made in good faith by all parts of our people, including wage earners and farmers, and causes an inequitable shift in the basis of taxation, through removal of extensive property values and the income thereof, from local, state, and federal taxation."

This principle might also apply to the huge federal housing project of the PWA, in which the government is to become the owner of thousands of rental units in competition with private units.

U. S. Admittedly in Business.

Arthur E. Morgan, president of the Tennessee valley authority, announced in Chicago last week that "the government has gone into business in the Tennessee valley." He told of the first contract to supply a Mississippi city with cheap power. He said it was the purpose of the President to extend such experiments in other parts of the country. The chamber sets its face against this. In 1930, after a long investigation by a committee of business men and engineers and after hearing from its membership in referendum No. 57, the chamber said:

"We believe it unwise for the federal government to engage in the hydro-electric business through the development of power at other points on the Tennessee river. These developments should be primarily under the jurisdiction of the states and the federal power commission and aimed to encourage private enterprise." They recommended that Muscle Shoals be sold or leased "as it now stands on the best possible terms."

RESERVE BANKS TO QUIT BUYING FEDERAL BONDS

New Crisis for Money Plan of President.

met at luncheon the federal reserve board advisory council.

All of these moves followed a staff meeting of division heads this morning at which Morgenthau informed them that no information should be given to newspaper men without his permission. Later in the day a formal order was drafted instructing employés that all news must be given out by Herbert E. Gaston, Mr. Morgenthau's shadow in Washington, who is being brought to the treasury from the farm credit administration.

To provide Mr. Gaston with a position sufficiently luctrative to lure him away from the $10,000 a year job to which Mr. Morgenthau appointed him in the farm credit administration, it was understood that he is to be hired for a like salary by the closed bank division of the RFC, and "loaned" to the treasury.

Protests of newspaper men this afternoon against the censorship failed to move Acting Secretary Morgenthau. He informed the reporters gathered in his office that "I am used to running my own shop."

Plans to Shift Others.

Bringing of Mr. Gaston to the treasury is only one step in the shifting into the treasury of the w: 2 hierarchy built up by Morgenthau at the farm credit administration. Herman Oliphant, former general counsel of the farm administration, is being shifted to a newly created position with the same title in the treasury.

W. A. McReynolds, administrative assistant of the farm administration, will also have the same title, newly added to the treasury's pay roll, in Mr. Morgenthau's new department.

Injection of the new personnel was the cause of grumbling in the regular treasury establishment today. It was pointed out that Mr. Gaston's basic salary of $10,000 a year was $2,000 more than that received by the three assistant secretaries of the department. Formal announcement of the appointments by Mr. Morgenthau will not come until tomorrow.

Compromise on Renaming of Crawford Ave. Sought

The postponement yesterday of a scheduled hearing on the proposal to change the name of Crawford avenue to Pulaski road revealed that a committee of leaders on both sides is trying to work out a compromise. The hearing was postponed until Dec. 4. Suggestions before the committee include naming the north approach to the new outer drive bridge Pulaski causeway and the naming of some street after the general, the change in name of which would eliminate one of the 125 duplicate street names in Chicago.

REPORT HENRY FORD MAY SEE ROOSEVELT AT GEORGIA RETREAT

Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—It was rumored today that Henry Ford might visit the President here to discuss, presumably, the possibility of the Ford company coming in under the Blue Eagle. But the reports came from Detroit, it was said, and there was no confirmation of them here.

More certain to be visitors are Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, who is to speak in Atlanta this week and then make the 80 mile journey to Warm Springs for a talk with his chief; Henry Morgenthau Jr., new acting secretary of the treasury, and Harry Hopkins, federal relief administrator, who may come to discuss the new 400 million dollar civil works program.

Favored by balmy weather, the President meanwhile enjoyed his vacation. He inspected the new buildings constructed here since his last visit to the resort he founded for the care of infantile paralysis sufferers. With other patients, he went through the regular schedule of therapeutic exercises, finishing with a swim in the warm waters, which have given the springs their fame in the treatment of the disease. And for several hours, accompanied by Mrs. James Roosevelt, his mother, and Miss Marguerite Le Hand, his secretary, he drove his own small touring car about the countryside.

Gets 5 Years in Prison for Threats to Mrs. Reynolds

Wilkesboro, N. C., Nov. 20.—(AP)—A sentence of five years in the Atlanta penitentiary was imposed today upon John T. Lanier, 35 year old Winston Salem man, who pleaded guilty in federal court here to an attempt to extort $10,000 from R. J. Reynolds under a threat of kidnaping Mrs. Reynolds.

DIES AT CANTON, AGED 88.

Canton, Ill., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Mrs. Jemima Ann Williams, 88, who spent the greater part of her life in and near Canton, is dead at her home in Banner township after a short illness.

NEW NEWS RULE IS ANNOUNCED BY MORGENTHAU

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—One of the first official orders issued by Acting Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau today, at a conference with the treasury heads, is that henceforth they shall not give statistical or other information to the newspapers.

Mr. Morgenthau announced that all treasury news or even background information must clear through him or Herbert E. Gaston, whom he designated as press contact man for the department. Mr. Gaston, a former member of the staff of the New York World, has been associated with Mr. Morganthau at the farm credit administration.

Mr. Morgenthau promised to hold press conferences twice a week, but ordered that newspapermen who want to see treasury officials individually must first apply for an appointment through Mr. Gaston. Nothing of this sort has ever been attempted before.

"I have always been accustomed to being boss of my own shop," Mr. Morgenthau said. "We'll try the new system a couple of weeks and I think that it will work out well."

The treasury department proper had not had a press officer since the days of the bank holiday in March when Charles Michelson, press agent for the Democratic national committee, was loaned to the treasury during the bank crisis.

SWIFT & CO. WORKERS ASK WAGE INCREASE

South St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 20.—(AP)—About 400 employés of Swift & Co., packers, at a massmeeting tonight voted to ask for a 10 cent an hour increased wage, a guaranteed minimum 32 hour work week, and a maximum of 40 hours.

The demands are similar to those of workers at the Armour & Co. plant, where a strike of employés has been in progress since Friday. Armour & Co. has suspended operations except for a maintenance crew.

Pickets still were maintained at Armour's.

LABOR STRIFE IS SEEN IN CHICAGO MILK PRICE FIGHT

Big Companies Expected to Seek Wage Cut.

Indications of impending labor strife in the Chicago milk industry, which has been comparatively free from price wars and strikes for 17 years, were discerned yesterday as the "big four" and other dairies in the so-called "milk trust" girded for a finish fight against the swarms of independents, who have been cutting prices below the scale set by the Agricultural Adjustment administration.

With the AAA now showing a disposition to renounce the arbitrary price of 11 cents a quart, originally decreed for the dairies, peddlers, and milk depots alike, it appeared that the larger dealers were maneuvering for a wage cut for their union employes and intended, thus fortified, to jump into a price war to the finish with the independents. Prior to inauguration of the new deal the "big four" dairies and their allies had relied on the unions to police the industry and maintain prices, but since the establishment of the milk code they have depended on the AAA to fill that function.

Code Revision Indicated.

The situation assumed a new complexion yesterday, however, when Washington dispatches disclosed that the AAA might shortly revise the Chicago milk code, striking out the 11 cent universal price and permitting dairies, peddlers, and depots to sell milk at whatever charge their overhead justified, provided they and the farmer got a fair return. Peddler and depot distributors have been selling here for 8 cents a quart.

Suggestions for the change, according to the dispatches, were advanced by Dr. Frederic C. Howe, AAA consumers' counsel, and were supported by the findings of Attorney Elmer D. Hayes, chief licensing counsel for the AAA, who came out here last week to expose the supposed iniquities of the price cutting "chiselers." The "chiselers" apparently turned the tables, however, in a vigorous defense, declaring the milk code had been drawn for the advantage of the big dealers while they, the independents, were selling at the best price the public would pay.

Meet with Union Leaders.

In the face of the AAA's indicated change of policy, dairy leaders took the opportunity of discussing their tribulations at a conference with chiefs of the dairy drivers and inside workers' unions yesterday at the Hotel La Salle. Representing the unions were Robert G. Fitchie, president; J. G. Kennedy, vice president, and Steve Sumner, secretary. Officials of a dozen dairies were present, including Bowman's, Bordens', Wieland's, and Wanzer's, the "big four."

Whether the dairymen broached the question of a wage cut could not be ascertained, but the shouted oratory issuing from behind the closed doors indicated that the question was under consideration. At a lull in the battle Dr. F. G. Walmsley, chairman of the board of Borden's, stepped out to say that the main issue raised was whether the drivers this winter might renew the practice of last winter in making no deliveries before 8 a. m.

Hints of Wage Cut Plan.

It was Mr. Fitchie, stepping out a while later, who revealed the trend the discussions were taking. His attention was directed to the fact that the union has been working on a month to month continuance of a $40 a week scale, which formally expired last May, and to the charge that two-thirds of all milk costs are alleged to go to labor. He became voluble in declaring the union's stand.

"Why all this hinting about the wages paid the drivers?" he asked. "If the advocates of a lower price for milk think the drivers are getting too much money, why don't they come out and say so. Then we'll come out in the open too, and fight.

"They talk about cut rate milk and monopoly. I say if the government doesn't stop these chiselers, the milk drivers will be asked to take another cut. And they will resist it to the last ditch. I don't believe there should be agitation of a program that will strike at us. We've already taken a 22 per cent cut, the highest in the teaming craft."

Mr. Fitchie said he doubted there would be any public demand for a lower price for milk if the public knew that cut would fall on the drivers.

$10 a Week Cut, He Says.

"Suppose the price is cut 1 cent a quart," he argued. "The public doubtless thinks that will mean a cut of a dollar or two in the drivers' wages. Actually it will mean a cut of $10 a week. The dairies can't absorb it—many of them are on the brink of bankruptcy now, and the farmers can't either."

The cut rate independents, whom Mr. Fitchie placed in the "chiseling" class, cannot survive in any case, he asserted. The peddlers, he maintained, at best were making no more than $15 or $20 a week, and would quit the business when inclement weather came.

Some of the independents—operators of established dairies rather than of peddler routes and depots—are to meet today to consider a further cut in the price of cream, heretofore one of the best revenue producers of the dairy line. The independents last week cut the price of cream from 55 to 35 cents a quart, which price the monopoly companies met yesterday. Today the independents are to meet again to consider a cut to 30 cents, at which price some of them maintain they can still make money.

FESS IN FAVOR OF AMENDMENT FOR FREE PRESS

Yellow Springs, O., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.], today said he would urge an amendment to the national recovery act at the next congress session to lift newspapers "out of the category of trade and industry so far as freedom of expressing an opinion may go.

"I don't want newspapers to be out of the NRA as employing organizations," he said in a statement, "but I do want them to be out of it as far as the expression of free opinion is concerned."

He reviewed the history of freedom of the press and criticized Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator.

SPEED DEMANDED BY MODERN ERA, RAIL MEN TOLD

New Trains Meet Air and Auto Competition.

BY HAL FOUST.

F. G. Gurley of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, in an address last night before a meeting of the Western Railroad club in the Hotel Sherman, declared that railroads are being forced to design fast and light stream lined carriers to compete for passenger business.

"The airplane and the modern automobile on the improved highway," he said, "have changed the ideas of people on speed. Railroad men generally prefer speeds in the lower brackets, but whether we like it or not I fear we are geared to the tempo of the times."

Describes New Trains.

Mr. Gurley, who is assistant to the Burlington vice president in charge of operation, told of the several new single unit carriers and trains designed to meet the public demand for speed. He gave primary credit to metallurgists who have placed light aluminum and steel alloys in the hands of car buildings in the last two or three years.

He described a three car, stream lined, stainless steel train with a 600 horse power Diesel engine being built for the Burlington by the Budd company of Philadelphia. This train will weigh 90 tons. A small steam locomotive and two conventional coaches weigh 210 tons. The speed of the new train is estimated at 100 miles an hour with operating costs, due to lightweight and stream lining, are reduced to a fraction of the costs of the older equipment.

Dead Weight Reduced.

To show how dead weight is being reduced in the new train, Mr. Gurley said, the conventional de luxe type chair car weighs 2,380 pounds for each passenger, while the new stainless steel chair car weighs only 750 pounds per passenger.

Mr. Gurley, as further examples of this new era in railroading, called attention to the Railplane built by the Pullman Car and Manufacturing company and the Stout Engineering Laboratories, Inc.; the Autotram built by the Clark Equipment company, the new Texas and Pacific two car train of stainless steel built by the Budd company, and the aluminum train being built by the Pullman company for the Union Pacific.

ILLINOIS MAYOR GIVES UP ON TAX EVASION CHARGE

Mayor Samuel H. Feibley of Rock Falls, in Whiteside county, surrendered to the United States marshal here on an indictment returned last week which charges that he evaded the payment of income tax in 1929. The government claim is $7,671. The mayor was accompanied by his counsel, Robert W. Besse, former state's attorney of Whiteside county. He was released within an hour on a $5,000 bond.

New Revenue Needed to Carry Out Tax Limit Plan, CRA Told

There is no hope of a limitation of general property tax rates to 1 per cent until local governments and the state find additional forms of revenue to replace part, at least, of what they would lose by the tax rate limitation, the Chicago Recovery Administration was told yesterday.

The executive committee of the CRA received and accepted a report of its subcommittee on tax rate limitation and revenue, headed by William F. Stelzer, stating that the subcommittee "has found the subject before it much more complicated than would be imagined, even by well informed citizens."

The subcommittee is proceeding with its studies, however, with its objectives stated as "relief of real property from an unfair and disproportionate share of governmental burdens and limitation of the tax spending and tax imposing power of government in order to prevent a complete breakdown of society."

New Revenue Source Needed.

"It is agreed," the report states, "that the imposition of a 1 per cent tax limit under any of the several plans studied by this committee will reduce the operating revenues of the local governments so far below what is necessary to supply adequate fire, police, health, and educational services, even on a greatly reduced basis, that it will be necessary to provide for the raising of supplemental revenues by other than property taxes and for the distribution of such new revenues according to the needs of the several local governments."

The proposed 1 per cent limitation would be a rate upon the full value of real and personal property, not the 37 per cent of full value at which Cook county assessments are now equalized to make the county's share of state taxes uniform with that of the rest of the state.

Several factors must be taken into consideration in setting up such a rate limitation the subcommittee pointed out. The first was that no limit can be placed, under decisions of state and federal courts, on tax levies for bond redemption and interest and for meeting judgments entered against the state or local governments by courts of record. This alone precludes an ironclad 1 per cent limitation, since these levies at present are more than 1 per cent of the full value of taxable property in the county.

Cite Problem of Legislation.

Taxes for state purposes other than bonds and interest may be included in a limitation, theoretically, but this would require such complicated legislation as to make it inadvisable, the committee found. However, the report says, this is a minor consideration, because it will be possible to replace the state levy on general property with sales tax collections as soon as the latter are diverted from relief of the idle. Sales tax collections are estimated at about $36,000,000 a year, while the 1932 state tax rate on general property will produce only about $32,000,000.

The subcommittee found, as a result of a detailed analysis made by Douglas Sutherland, secretary of the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency, that if a 1 per cent rate limitation were applied to the 1932 levies in Cook county, including bond and interest and judgment requirements, the governments, local and state, would have to find $124,000,000 in other revenue to meet their appropriations for the year, and that if property taxes for state, bonds and interest, judgments, and pensions were exempt from the limitation, at least $37,000,000 in other revenue would still be required.

NRA INCREASES UTILITY COSTS, BOARD IS TOLD

Adherence to the NRA has caused the operating costs of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois to mount materially since June 30, an attorney for the utility yesterday informed the Illinois Commerce commission. The electric rates of the company, which supplies power to 315 towns in the metropolitan area, are under the scrutiny of the commission.

Attorney Harry J. Dunbaugh, representing the utility, raised the NRA point during his questioning of Mark Wolff, rate expert for the commission. The attorney said that, in addition to the expense caused the company by compliance with the President's program, costs had been increased by the payment of federal taxes on capital stock and on the electricity sold to consumers.

FIVE H. O. STONE OFFICIALS WIN ANOTHER TRIAL

Supreme Court Refuses Appeal by U. S.

The United States attorney's office was notified from Washington yesterday that the Supreme court had declined to review the mail fraud case against five officials of the H. O. Stone company, whose convictions were reversed by the Circuit Court of Appeals.

The government prosecutors petitioned the Supreme court for a writ of certiorari after the Appellate court had reversed the convictions and remanded the case for a new trial. District Attorney Dwight H. Green said yesterday that he would ask one of the federal District judges to set a date for the new trial today.

Appeal From 20 Year Sentences.

The five officials of H. O. Stone & Co., defunct real estate bond house, whose convictions were successfully appealed, are Henry F. Norcott, former president, and Harold D. Bennett, Charles P. Packer, W. Scott Carroll and Leslie A. Needham. Each was sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward, following their conviction by a jury a year ago.

The H. O. Stone company, for many years one of Chicago's most reputable investment houses, collapsed early in the depression and investors lost some $14,000,000 after the defendants had acquired control of it. The government charged that the officials misrepresented the condition of the company and induced investors to exchange good bonds for worthless H. O. Stone & Co. debentures, as well as to buy stock in the concern.

Ruling of Appeals Court.

The United State Circuit Court of Appeals, in its opinion, written by Judge Will M. Sparks, held that Judge Woodward erred in not permitting the introduction into evidence of appraisals of the so-called Lawsonia development, an H. O. Stone enterprise, and in excluding audits purporting to show "the prosperity and growth of the company's business from 1921 to 1928."

The Lawsonia development included the Green Lake, Wis., estate of the late Victor Lawson, publisher. The Stone company obtained possession of the property and sought to subdivide it into several hundred small plots. Witnesses testified that instead of being first mortgages, as represented, bonds sold on the property were subject to a $125,000 issue.

SMASHES WINDOW OF MILK STORE; DRIVER IS SHOT

An unemployed milk wagon driver, fleeing late yesterday afternoon after he had smashed the window of an independent cash and carry milk store at 7851 South Park avenue, was shot and seriously wounded by Motorcycle Policeman Ernest Meade.

At the Jackson Park hospital it was found the man had been struck near the spine by a bullet. He was identified as Lee Meyrick, 32 years old, 2017 East 82nd street. His wife told the police Meyrick had formerly been employed by the Hunding Dairy company, but had been out of work since mid-September and was drawing a small weekly benefit from the Milk Wagon Drivers' union.

Policeman Meade said that he fired in the belief the man was a robber when he saw him fleeing and heard the shouts of Tony Kascos, the milk store owner, and his wife. Kascos said Meyrick returned and hurled the brick after visiting the store and asking him many questions about the conduct of the business. Milk supplies for the store are purchased from the Meadowmoor Dairy company, formerly a cutrate concern. Meadowmoor officials assert they are now operating under the milk code.

Is This Too Good for Your Cough?

Creomulsion may be a better help than you need. It combines seven major helps in one—the best helps known to science. It is made for coughs or colds that hang on, for quick relief, for safety.

Mild coughs often yield to lesser helps. No one can tell. No one knows which factor will do most for any certain cough. So careful people, more and more, are using Creomulsion for any cough that starts.

The cost is a little more than a single help. But your druggist guarantees it, so it costs nothing if it fails to bring you quick relief. Coughs are danger signals. For safety's sake, deal with them in the best way known.

COLDS GO THRU 3 STAGES!

The first is the Dry Stage, the first 24 hours. The second, the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days. The third, the Mucous Secretion Stage. The time to stop a cold is in the first stage. This, Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine does. It does not merely suppress the cold, but drives it completely out of your system. 30¢ and 50¢ at all druggists.

ROOSEVELT LETS ALABAMA COURT TRY NEGRO CASES

Forwards Lawyer Pleas to Gov. Miller.

BY JOHN HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today refused to intervene in behalf of the Scottsboro defendants, whose counsel have been flooding the "little White House" here with telegrams asking the President to request Alabama authorities to call out state troops.

From Samuel Leibowitz, chief counsel, and others interested in the defense of the seven Negro youths charged with rape, have come messages asserting that danger of lynch violence threatened today's arraignment of the defendants in Decatur, Ala., where a motion for a change of venue was scheduled to be heard.

Leibowitz and his colleagues professed to have affidavits by Alabama National Guard officers saying that they looked for a lynching, but would take no action to stop it unless ordered to do so.

"Cannot Interfere."

In a formal statement President Roosevelt declared:

"The federal executive has not interfered and cannot interfere in any case under the jurisdiction of the courts of a sovereign state. But Mr. Early [Stephen Early, assistant secretary to the President] has been entirely willing, in accordance with custom, to forward any communications to the governor of the state in which the case lies."

The messages of the defense lawyers, therefore, were forwarded without recommendation to Gov. B. M. Miller of Alabama.

Negroes Are Arrainged.

Decatur, Ala., Nov. 20—(AP)—The reports of the four investigators employed by the defense were placed today in the record of the "Scottsboro case" to bolster a contention that the seven Negro defendants could not obtain a fair trial in Morgan county.

Two score rebuttal affidavits from residents of the county were also presented.

The seven Negroes were arraigned today on charges of having attacked a white woman on a Southern railway freight train in March, 1931.

Only two witnesses were called during the day on the three motions put. The first was a move to quash the indictment, the next a motion for an interrogatory for the testimony of Ruby Bates, now in New York, and the third a motion for a change of venue.

The defense petition for the change of venue and the supporting affidavits were read into the record—first by Joseph R. Brodsky, one of the defense attorneys, and then by Judge W. W. Callahan, presiding.

Investigator Questioned.

Attorney General Thomas E. Knight Jr. asked Brodsky to take the stand and then questioned him. Brodsky said he had employed David Schriftman, New York attorney, to arrange for the affidavits.

"I told him," Brodsky testified, "that we wanted the whole truth."

With the spectators apparently taking little interest in the proceedings, Schriftman identified the investigators as Jim Jones, a Negro; Victor Elwood, and Charles Williams, all of Birmingham. The state and defense tomorrow will submit additional affidavits.

Today's hearings were held in a courtroom only moderately filled and Decatur was apparently going about its usual business unruffled.

Transfer of the Negroes here before dawn today was without incident. Seven automobiles sped over the highway from Birmingham in slightly more than two hours and arrived before Decatur was awake. Two newspapermen were the only spectators present when the cars, loaded with heavily armed officers, arrived.

Judge Callahan took precautions to preserve order and protect the prisoners by swearing in a score of special deputies and instructing them to protect the principals and their attorneys on the streets as well as in the courthouse.

Fair Next Year Assured of Kosher Restaurants

Jewish organizations in Chicago yesterday were assured by the Fair that next summer when the Exposition reopens there would be no lack of eating places serving kosher food. The Crown Food company, which during the last summer controlled eating stands, and will do so again in 1934, has made arrangements to serve kosher food, Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager, said.

A PILLOW SLIP WITH STAIN ON IT CLEW TO HART MURDER

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Search of lower San Francisco bay for the body of Brooke Hart, kidnaping victim, was intensified today by the finding of a pillow slip in the waters two miles southwest of the San Mateo bridge, from which two men held in the case allegedly confessed they threw the helpless youth the night of Nov. 9.

In statements to police Thomas H. Thurmond and John Holmes said they used a pillow slip as a hood over the youth's head. The article, found half submerged in the water by Coroner J. C. McGovern and County Engineer George Kneese, had a brown egg-shaped stain upon it and a hole such as a bullet would make.

This discovery came close upon the finding of a hat like one which young Hart supposedly possessed. The hat was found on the muddy bay shore about 1,000 feet north of the bridge yesterday. It bore the brand of a hat sold by the Hart Department store in San José. Alex J. Hart, head of the San José store and father of the abducted youth, was positively unable to identify it. The elder Hart said his store sold many hats of that type.

On the theory that sufficient time may have elapsed to allow the body to rise, officers of Santa Clara, San Mateo, Alameda, and San Francisco counties called a meeting in Redwood city this afternoon to coördinate the searching.

Kidnapers Slew Father, Son Tells Coroner's Jury

A coroner's jury yesterday was told that it was a band of kidnapers who fatally wounded Russell L. Blount, 57 years old, mortgage broker and head of a currency exchange, when they attempted to invade his home on last Thursday evening. The assertion was made by his 19 year old son, Lauren, who said that his father feared kidnapers a week before the shooting. The jury returned a verdict that Blount had been slain by "persons unknown."

POSTCARD ALIBIS OFFERED BY HAMM KIDNAP SUSPECT

Schafer Denies He Aided in Brewer's Seizure.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 20.—(AP)—A postcard alibi—two cards bought for a penny each—was offered in Federal court today, intended to show that Gustav Schafer could not have been implicated in the $100,000 William Hamm Jr. kidnaping.

Vigorous objection by the government, which claims Schafer, Roger Touhy, Willie Sharkey, and Eddie McFadden abducted the millionaire brewer last June 16 was overruled by Judge M. M. Joyce, who admitted the two cards as evidence.

Depositions from California.

Depositions from Californians, coupled with the postcards, was presented by defense counsel designed to show Schafer was in Los Angeles, Hollywood, and San Francisco, from June 12 to 19, last, and was en route east by airplane the next couple of days.

Government witnesses have identified Schafer as being in the kidnapers' automobile the day Hamm was abducted and the day he was released.

The first card, read by Thomas McMeekin of St. Paul, associate defense counsel, was mailed June 22 at 12:30 a. m., addressed to Mrs. Mary Schactel of San Francisco, mother of Schafer. McMeekin said it was posted from the airmail field at Cheyenne, Wyo. It said the sender was having a "jolly time" and was signed "Goosie."

On His Way to Chicago.

The second, dated June 21, was mailed at 5 p. m. and bore the postmark Cheynne, Wyo. It was addressed to Mrs. Leslie G. Dolliver, San Francisco, sister of Schafer and said the sender was on his way to Chicago. It was signed "Bro., G."

Mrs. Schactel and Mrs. Dolliver, in their depositions said Schafer was in San Francisco June 17 to 19 and both identified the handwriting on the cards as that of Schafer.

FORMER DRY AGENT DENIES ACCEPTING PROTECTION MONEY

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Accused by six witnesses of accepting protection money from bootleggers in the tri-cities, William C. Cooper, Des Moines, former prohibition investigator, on trial here, today denied that he ever accepted a dishonest dollar in his life.

Cooper testified that Pete Kuhel, the Davenport policeman who had testified that he served as the "go-between" and paid Cooper sums ranging from $300 to $500 monthly as "hush" money, trailed him from the time he took charge of the tri-cities territory and pointed out various small bootlegging establishments to him.

The government has summoned Kuhel to testify in rebuttal. Charges against two of the four defendants on trial were dismissed today when the federal authorities asked Federal Judge J. Earl Major for directed verdicts of not guilty in the cases of William Schwinden, suspended Davenport detective, and Thomas Avery, Cedar Rapids, former prohibition investigator.

LITVINOV TO SEE MUSSOLINI ON HIS WAY BACK HOME

ROME, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini will be the next statesman Maxim Litvinov, soviet foreign commissar, will meet when he leaves Washington.

Having concluded his conferences with President Roosevelt, Litvinov will come to Italy shortly and have one or more conferences with Il Duce before returning to Moscow.

The soviet minister will come by the southern route, probably on an Italian boat. The next ship leaving New York, the Conte di Savoia, will sail on Nov. 25 and arrive in Naples on Dec. 2.

Russia and Italy signed commercial and nonaggression treaties some time ago.

MOSCOW, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Mikhail Kalinin, president of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, sent a message of goodwill and friendship to the American people today. He expressed the hope that the establishment of normal relations between the U. S. S. R. and the U. S. A. would "not only greatly benefit mutual interests but also strengthen universal peace."

The text of his speech follows:

"At this moment when normal official relations between our two states are being established, I am glad to transmit in the name of the peoples of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics a hearty greeting to the people of the United States of America.

Tells of Russia's Progress.

"In the last sixteen years the toilers of the cities and the villages of the soviet union have showed to the whole world examples of tremendous creative work. With intense efforts they turned our country in a short time from a backward agrarian into an advanced industrial country, and it is precisely because of this that our workers and peasants look with the greatest interest and attention to the country of advanced technical progress, the United States of America.

"The most important condition for securing the technical progress and well being of the people is the preservation and strengthening of peace between nations.

"I am convinced that now, when all artificial obstacles for a full and manifold contact between the peoples of our two great countries are removed, it will greatly benefit not only their mutual interests but also the economic and cultural progress of mankind and the strengthening of universal peace.

Sees Era of Coöperation.

"I strongly believe that now will begin an era of fruitful and manifold coöperation between our two nations.

"I am convinced that the joy which we feel on this occasion is shared all over the world by everybody to whom is dear the progress of humanity and peace among nations."

Kalinin spoke from the office of Alexey Rykoff, commissar of posts and telegraphs, in the Central Telegraph building in the heart of Moscow. His words were broadcast to America by the powerful radio station of the All-Union Council of Trades Unions.

Later, Kalinin received American newspaper correspondents informally—he wore a worn brown sweater, a blue serge suit, and a soft white collar—and told them that "the fact that normal relations are now established is very important in itself, but will gain in significance if both sides make proper use of it."

With rare good humor, Kalinin received the questions of his guests, chatting amiably with the newspaper men who pressed closely around him.

"You have just heard by address to the American people," he said in reply to a question regarding his reaction to recognition. "But I can tell you how the peasantry feels. If I were still a peasant, I would say to myself, 'Well, America did not want to recognize us for 16 years, but after all was compelled to do it.' Our people, however, always liked America and hope the two countries will remain friends."

Contrasting conditions in the two countries, he added:

"We are working slowly and trying to work faster, while you are working fast and are trying to slow down. You see how situations change?"

Kalinin parried a question as to whether the way would be paved for a rapprochement between the soviet union and the Vatican by the soviet assurances to President Roosevelt that Americans in Russia would be given religious freedom. He said, with a grin, "I do not want to make propaganda."

LIQUOR CONTROL BILLS SCANNED BY COMMISSION

Battle Over Regulation in Illinois Begins.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The opening guns in the long awaited battle over state liquor legislation were fired here tonight when the Ward liquor commission met at the statehouse to pass on the liquor control bill drawn up by Senator Harold G. Ward and Dewitt Billman of the legislative reference bureau. Guns were turned on the Ward-Billman bill as soon as the question of the sale of spirits over a bar came up.

This was followed by an informal sidetracking of the bill and the presentation of a detailed law prepared by Ralph M. Shaw and Conrad H. Poppenhusen of Chicago, members of the commission.

Agree on Some Features.

Mr. Shaw preceded the introduction of his proposed law by explaining that the best features of legislation enacted in many states to date had been incorporated in the Shaw-Poppenhusen plan. Many features of the measure offered by Senator Ward were detected as well as recommendations of the Rockefeller study.

The Shaw-Poppenhusen recommendation was entirely unexpected, but members of the commission sidetracked all discussion in order to permit Mr. Shaw to read the 60 page document which covered every detail of the subject.

At midnight there was no prospect of agreement on any legislation or plan for a law and the commission adjourned until 9:30 tomorrow morning. For a time it appeared there would be an all night session in an attempt to have something concrete to offer the special session of the legislature when it convenes Wednesday morning. Chairman Ward expressed the belief that a law will have been whipped into shape by that time.

Digest of Measure.

The Shaw-Poppenhusen proposed law provides, in brief, for the following:

1.—The creation of a state commission of three appointed by tne governor to supervise the liquor traffic within the state and to license manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers.

2.—The designation of mayors, presidents of village boards and presidents of county boards as local commissioners with wide local regulatory power.

3.—The requirement that each retailer obtain both a local and state license.

4.—Prohibition of the sale of liquor over a bar for consumption on the premises.

5.—The licensing of hotels, cafés, clubs, dining cars, boats, restaurants and beer gardens for the sale of liquor for consumption on the premises with or without food.

Favors Package Stores.

6.—The licensing of package stores.

7.—The revocation by local commissioners or by the state commission.

8.—In carefully framed terms the Shaw-Poppenhusen bill set forth the duties of all officials with respect to enforcement of the law.

9.—The prohibition of manufacturers and wholesale distributors from engaging either directly or indirectly in the retail sale of spirits, or the retail sale of wine and beer for consumption on the premises.

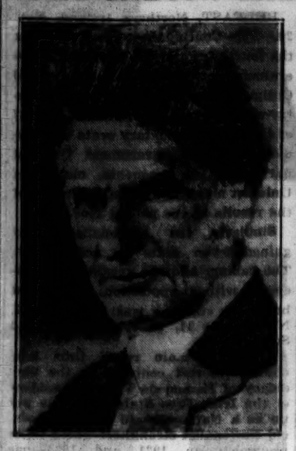
In carefully framed terms the bill set forth the duties of all officials with respect to enforcing the liquor law and offered safeguards for the protection of the public against malevolent influences of the commercial liquor traffic.

Reads Entire Measure.

In presenting the bill drawn up by him and Mr. Poppenhusen, Mr. Shaw, who is chairman of the Illinois Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, read the entire document.

"In the bill we have drawn," he said, "we provided for home rule, but with proper checks and balances. There is no undue restraint of personal liberty. We have a more complete bill than that which has been presented to this commission, one that combines the best features of all legislation so far passed by the other states. It is my opinion that the bill which has been under consideration here does not meet the requirements for the best social interests of the state."

MacFaddens in Divorce Litigation



BERNARR MACFADDEN.

MRS. MARY MACFADDEN.

LIQUOR TRADE CODE FIRST STEP PLANNED TO GOVERN BUSINESS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Whatever the course the government may pursue in the future to control the distribution of intoxicating liquor, it appeared a virtual certainty today that the first attempt following repeal will be through a code of fair competition for the distilling industry.

Representatives of the distillers of the United States will meet in Washington Friday with officials of the agricultural adjustment administration in an effort to work out an arrangement for self-control of the industry, under governmental sanctions. If they evolve a satisfactory plan it will be put into operation immediately after formal repeal of prohibition on Dec. 5.

The apparent certainty of the administration's first post-repeal step developed out of renewed agitation for a government corporation to handle all intoxicants. The corporation plan has been before the President for some time, but since the last publication of this fact the middle of last week, advocacy of such a solution has been growing.

It is the opinion generally of officials that legislation will be required to put the corporation plan in force.

MAC FADDENS SUE AND ARE SUED; DIVORCE ASKED

Each Accuses Other of Misconduct.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Each charging the other with misconduct, Bernarr MacFadden, publisher and physical culture exponent, and his wife, Mary, have filed suits for divorce in the Court of Chancery. Hearings will be held in Paterson before Vice Chancellor Vivian M. Lewis.

The litigation follows the wife's suit last spring for the enforcement of a separation agreement under which she was to receive an allowance of $15,000 a year. She charged her husband failed to comply with the agreement, and he attributed the failure to "financial reverses" and filed a counter claim for divorce, naming one "Baron Rosenerantz" as co-respondent.

The wife then denied the husband's allegations and charged him with misconduct, naming as co-respondent one "Betty Bennett." Shortly after this charge was placed before the court the husband named another co-respondent, "one Charles Wynne."

Macfadden also charged his wife with "extreme cruelty," listing, among other things, her alleged "ridicule" of his attempts to impart physical culture to their children.

He said that until five years ago their six children were "models" that "attracted nation-wide attention," but that his wife discouraged them from exercising and permitted them to "smoke and drink in swanky speakeasies."

MARY M'CORMIC PLANS TO MARRY, LIVE ON A FARM

New York, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Mary McCormic, the opera singer, said tonight that she and Harry Banister were planning to be married Jan. 29 and live on a Connecticut farm that has "cows and potato patches."

"It's Harry's birthday," the diva said excitedly. "But I'm in too big a hurry to discuss many details now. I'm catching a train for Detroit in a few minutes."

Bannister—actor, newspaperman, and former husband of Ann Harding—was not available for a statement.

"Oh, I don't want to be rude," said Miss McCormic, "but I simply haven't time to answer all your questions."

"We are going to live in a Connecticut farmhouse that is 200 years old," she said. "It has cows and potato patches and things like that. I love to dig potatoes."

KANSAS, DRY 53 YEARS, VOTES ON REPEAL IN 1934

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Kansas—pioneer prohibition state—will vote in November, 1934, on whether it shall retain its 53 year old legal banishment of liquor by constitutional amendment, the forerunner of the repudiated federal prohibition amendment.

The referendum provided for next year by a special session of the Kansas legislature today, in the state where Carrie A. Nation gained nation-wide fame for her saloon wrecking activities after Kansas became legally dry, will be the first test of the dry clause adopted in 1880, the first written in any state's constitution.

The house accepted senate amendments to the submission resolution, which was defeated at the last regular session.

LOCAL OPTION DEAD, 4 MI. LIMIT STANDS: KERNER

Attorney General Otto Kerner yesterday expressed the opinion that the Illinois prohibition act, adopted in pursuance of the eighteenth amendment, "by implication repealed the local option act of 1907."

This means, in the opinion of the attorney general, that territories such as Hyde Park, Austin, and Oak Park, which were dry prior to national prohibition, will have to enact new legislation if they wish to remain dry after repeal.

However, Attorney General Kerner expressed the opinion that neither the search and seizure law nor the prohibition act of 1921 had any effect upon the "four mile limit law" prohibiting the sale of liquor in the vicinity of universities. This law, as applied to Northwestern university, would affect Chicago territory as far south as Devon avenue.

U. S. Stores to Sell Silk and Lace Evening Gowns

Unclaimed and abandoned merchandise will be sold today at the United States Appraisers' Stores building, 610 South Canal street. Among the articles to be sold are 11 silk and lace evening gowns, six embroidered or beaded gowns, books, and an antique sofa.

DU PONT OPPOSES RESTRICTIONS ON SALES OF LIQUOR

Says Only Freedom Can End Law Evasions.

New York, Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Pierre S. Du Pont, Delaware industrialist and financier, who was active in the campaign against prohibition, predicted today that liquor consumption in the United States would decrease after repeal to half of the 1914 figure.

He spoke before a hearing called by the Federal Bar association to gather recommendations on liquor control for submission to the next congress and to the 48 state legislatures.

Mr. Du Pont based his prophecy on the experience of England and Canada, after they had adopted control systems.

"That happened in both Canada and England," he said. "They have different liquor laws, so I don't believe the laws have much to do with it."

Credits Sound Regulation.

He made it plain in his answers to questions, that, in his opinion, the decreased consumption was due to sound systems of regulation. In this connection he declared in favor of liberalization of control statutes.

He advocated the removal of restrictions on drinking at bars, on the sale of alcoholic beverages on Sunday, and urged regulations permitting establishments where sales are made for consumption on the premises, to remain open after midnight. Bars were forbidden, along with Sunday sales and sales after midnight, in the Delaware beer regulations, which he helped to draft, Mr. Du Pont said. The Delaware legislature, however, will probably repeal all three restrictions at its next session, he predicted, since they have not proved satisfactory in operation.

Urges Freedom in Buying.

He said that he would favor permitting hotels to sell liquor by the bottle as well as by the glass, saying that the control legislation of the future, if it is to be successful, must permit citizens to buy liquor when, where, and in the quantities they desire. He expressed himself in favor of low taxes on liquor in the first year after repeal, as a means of making bootlegging unprofitable.

"How would you protect a dry state against a wet state?" he was asked.

"If you can show me a dry state, I can answer your question," Mr. Du Pont replied. "There ain't no such animal."

MICHIGAN TO HAVE PLENTY OF RUM AS REPEAL IS RATIFIED

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Michigan will have an extensive supply of hard liquors for distribution through a state liquor store system after repeal, it was indicated today, when it was announced at the liquor control board offices that Frank Picard, chairman of the liquor control commission; William J. Nagel, director, and William G. Lewis, secretary, are in New York seeking options on $2,000,000 worth of liquors.

The options will be allowed to expire if the legislature, which convenes in special session Wednesday, fails to enact a liquor control law to supplant the present prohibition and 3.2 beer acts.

A tester from Quebec is being employed by the Michigan officials, it was said, to assure that only the best quality of liquor is purchased. A bill framed for presentation to the legislature provides for a state monopoly of the hard liquor business, with distribution through a system of government stores and special designated commission merchants.

2 WOMEN PLEAD NOT GUILTY OF AIDING GUNMAN

Mrs. Bobby Moore and Vivian Gibson, friends of Verne C. Miller, gunman and desperado, who are charged with having harbored him in Chicago, yesterday were arraigned before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. Through their attorney, Benjamin Feldman, both defendants entered pleas of not guilty. A hearing on a motion to reduce the $50,000 bond set for both women was set for next Thursday.

Attorney Feldman protested that both his clients were being held in solitary confinement at the house of correction. Judge Wilkerson said that he had not ordered this and asked an assistant federal prosecutor to investigate. At the prison Warden Edward J. Denemark said that he had been told by federal agents to keep the two women in separate cells and to allow them to have no callers. He said, however, that they were not being kept in solitary confinement, their cells being close to those of other prisoners.

Evanston Safety Council Head Fined for Speeding

Herman J. Spoerer, 34 years old, 813 Mulford street, Evanston, head of the Evanston Safety council, was fined $1 and $6 costs in the Evanston Municipal court yesterday for speeding. Spoerer admitted to Judge Harry H. Porter that he had driven at 38 miles an hour on Ridge avenue between Cleveland and Main streets on Oct. 28.

OVERRULE GENE STRATTON PORTER INCOME TAX PLEA

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—(AP)—A petition for determination of income taxes totaling $18,000.04 assessed against Gene Stratton Porter, Inc., a corporation holding copyrights on the author's works, was overruled today by the board of tax appeals.

The board ordered the corporation, with headquarters in Los Angeles, to pay assessments of $7,678.77 for 1924, $5,540.44 for 1925, and $4,781.19 for 1926.

The corporation had appealed the assessments charging disallowance of reasonable deductions from taxable income for copyright depreciation.

Quit Worrying—Act!

That abnormal "falling" is nature's way of throwing off diseased and "dead" hairs. These should be examined, and the entire condition diagnosed and promptly remedied, before it runs its course to complete baldness.

To do this with modern, scientific knowledge and methods is our business and has been for many years.

We eliminate dandruff, itching, over oily secretions, harmful germ organisms and put the scalp in a condition of resistant, glowing health.

Thin spots soon begin to show the result of scientific treatment. A new, healthy growth adds itself to the hair you have. This improvement becomes permanent. All the hair reflects the changed conditions and takes on new life and lustre.

In place of experimenting with all kinds of "tonics" and lotions upon the only head of hair you have, it will be better to come to the WELLINGTON Hair & Scalp INSTITUTE where every worker is registered and works under the authority of the state. There have a diagnosis made of your individual case and follow it through to a healthy hair-growing scalp.

MR. WELLINGTON, founder and head of this Institute and, through long years of study and experience, an accepted authority on hair and scalp disorders, will give you his personal attention.

Upon request, accompanied by this announcement, a one half hour trial treatment may be had at small cost ($1.00). (Save This)

No charge whatever is made for consultation or examination.

This, we believe, will satisfy and convince you of the every day fairness of our organization and thoroughness of our work. Further treatments may be had at $2.50. The trial treatment includes our 100% Olive Oil Castile Shampoo or Egg Shampoo. We take complete care of your hair without any other expense.

This Institute has a most modern, scientific equipment and a staff of experienced, licensed attendants. American and European travelers have high praise for this service as being easily comparable to the finest to be obtained here or abroad.

Our charges are reasonable, in keeping with the times. It is your privilege to investigate and learn for yourself.

★ You may call any Monday, Wednesday or Friday between 10 and 9. Other days between 10 and 6.

SHELDON CLARK'S SON IS SHOT TO DEATH BY WIFE

"I saw Mr. Clark going upstairs with the cue," Mrs. Brown said. "Mrs. Clark was in her room getting dressed. Then I heard her scream from her bedroom: 'O, you're killing me.' A moment later I saw Mr. Clark go downstairs. He held a broken billiard cue in his hand. Not long afterward, I saw Mrs. Clark come down, and go down to the basement. She had a towel wrapped around her head."

Inside the folds of this towel, of the large turkish variety, Mrs. Clark had concealed a revolver, one of the many in her husband's gun collection.

Meantime Clark had gone to the cue rack, put up the broken stick, and picked out another to resume his billiard game with Johnson. The latter, dumbfounded by what he had seen and heard, stood silently to one side. Just as Clark bent over the table to make a shot, his wife appeared at the bottom of the stairway.

"She had a bloody towel around her head, and she stood there for a moment, and stared sort of wildly," said Johnson.

"You've Killed Me," She Cries.

"'Sheldon, you've killed me,' she screamed. Before I had time to move or to do anything at all, she pulled a pistol from the folds of the towel around her head. Then she fired one shot. Mr. Clark fell dead."

It was here, as he was falling, that Clark uttered his words of forgiveness: "That's all right, honey."

Mrs. Clark rushed upstairs hysterically, and cried out to the housekeeper, Mrs. Brown, that she had shot her husband. She hurried to her bedroom and collapsed in bed.

Mrs. Brown telephoned to Mayor James A. Wert of Paulsboro, and to Mrs. Clark's attorney, William A. Gravino of Woodbury. Within a few minutes Police Chief W. J. Matson and Detective W. Clayton Apgar arrived at the residence. They found Mrs. Clark in a semi-conscious condition. A physician was summoned and after giving her first aid ordered her removed to the Underwood hospital.

Self-Defense Plea Expected.

At no time was Mrs. Clark able to give a detailed account of the slaying but from what she did tell, coupled with the stories of Mrs. Brown and Johnson, police were inclined to think a plea of self-defense would be made. Mrs. Clark, they announced, had confessed the shooting.

Police said they would prefer no charges against her at this time, in fact, not until she is released from the hospital. Further hearing on the case will be held at the inquest tomorrow. Meanwhile Mrs. Clark will be in technical custody.

Investigating happenings preceding the shooting, police learned that Clark and Johnson had had several drinks in the basement of the Clark home while playing billiards. They understood that the Clarks previously had had their share of domestic quarrels. The most serious incident concerned a time recently when Clark allegedly threatened to shoot his wife and she chased him away, waving a baseball bat.

The Clarks were married in 1925, after his divorce from his first wife who is said to be now living out west. It was a romantic, rapid courtship.

As Audrey Smith, the present Mrs. Clark was playing in a road company of Rose Marie. She and Clark met in New York City. She went to Richmond, Va. He followed her. He married her the next day. Three years ago he and his wife moved into the old Loudenslager residence here from Red Bank, N. J., after Clark's grandmother, widow of the congressman, had willed it to him. The home has 12 large rooms, luxuriously furnished, and replete with evidences of Clark's various hobbies, such as old pistols, revolvers, and guns.

Clark was a lieutenant of marines during the world war, stationed at Washington, D. C. He had spent most of his adult years in the east. It was reported he had played a bit along Broadway, and during that phase of his career had been friendly with Peggy Joyce. He owned several snapshots showing himself and Miss Joyce together.

Stories were told tonight suggesting that Clark had led a carefree life. One incident concerned the wrecking of a yacht, which his father had given him, on the Florida coast. The other related the time he rode on a sled hitched behind his chauffeur driven car on a hot summer day.

Clark was the son of Sheldon Clark and the latter's first wife, daughter of the Loudenslagers.

FATHER HAS NO COMMENT.

Sheldon Clark, sportsman and capitalist, was grief stricken last night when he learned of the slaying of his son. He was advised of the tragedy while downtown and was accompanied to his home at the Ambassador East hotel by his wife and a friend, Albert H. Wetten. He was too broken to make any comment. Mr. Clark has two other sons, Harry and Carrington, and a daughter, Bonnie-Jean.

SUPREME COURT O. K.'S U. OF MARYLAND'S MILITARY TEACHING

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—(AP)—The right of the University of Maryland to require its students to take military training was, in effect, upheld today by the Supreme court.

That tribunal refused to review an appeal challenging the constitutionality of the state law. The Maryland Court of Appeals previously had upheld the statute. The Supreme court said no substantial federal question was involved.

Proceedings were instituted in behalf of Ennis H. Coale of Harford county, Maryland, who said he was a conscientious and religious objector to military training.

Maryland state officials contended the Supreme court had no jurisdiction. They insisted that if Coale had any right to attend the university, it was as a citizen of Maryland, not of the United States.

SCHOOLS REPORT ANOTHER YEAR OF PUPIL DECREASE

472,221 Enrolled; 5,223 Less than Last June.

A total enrollment of 472,221 pupils in the Chicago public schools was announced yesterday by Supt. William J. Bogan. This is a decrease of 5,223 from the enrollment last June.

The major reason given for the decrease, which started in 1924 in the first grade and has moved into the upper grades, is the declining birth rate. This is attributed in part to the dissemination of knowledge on birth control. Another factor in the start of the school enrollment decrease is said to be that in 1917 and 1918 a number of the male population were in the army.

Simultaneously with the figures on enrollment, Don C. Rogers, director of research for the school system, gave out a report on trends in school population. One of the disclosures was that a decrease of 1,500 students had occurred this year in the ninth grade, or first year of high school. This is the first time the progressive decrease has reached that grade.

High School Holding Power.

"On the other hand, the increase in school holding power and the social and economic trends of the times indicate a continuance of huge high school enrollments," said Mr. Rogers. "The holding power of the high school is growing greater every year."

For every 100 pupils in ninth grade in 1913, Mr. Rogers explained, there were only 25 in the twelfth grade [fourth year of high school]. The holding power has increased, he declared, so that in 1933 there are 40 pupils in the twelfth grade for every 100 in the ninth.

"The social trends have much to do with this holding power," said Mr. Rogers. "For every four children under 16 years of age employed in 1910 there was only one child employed in 1930. Child labor is now taboo by government order. There is little doubt that henceforth adolescents will remain in high school longer, for jobs will be fewer.

100% Gain in Seven Years.

The high schools have shown the largest enrollment increase of any branch of the Chicago system. The city's first high school opened in 1856 with 114 pupils. By 1926 the enrollment had increased to 62,500. During the last seven years the enrollment has increased 100 per cent. This year there are 125,000 high school pupils.

Other reasons given by educational officials for the general decrease in school enrollment this year included the closing of Crane junior college and the 5 year age limit for the kindergartens. The order regarding the kindergartens was adopted by the school board because 3 and 4 year old children had been allowed to enter this branch of public instruction.

JARECKI HEARS ARGUMENTS ON 15 PCT. TAX CUT

Realty Board Lawyer Asks Reduction.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $537,722, making a total of $88,081,297 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the last four years follow:

	1928.	1929.
Nov. 20	$ 34,821	$ 67,670
Uncollected	16,360,322	43,530,365
	1930.	1931.
Nov. 20	$ 89,826	$ 345,405
Uncollected	69,155,796	70,543,563

The day's collections of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $10,591.

County Judge Jarecki yesterday continued until tomorrow his hearing on the petition of the Chicago real estate board that he grant the 438,000 owners of homes and small flat buildings in Cook county the 15 per cent reduction in 1931 building assessments which the board of tax appeals ordered for them. The board's order has been declared void by the Illinois Supreme court.

During the argument presented by Attorney Daniel S. Wentworth, representing the real estate board, Judge Jarecki indicated that he has doubts of his jurisdiction to enter an order in the present case. Attorney Wentworth urged that the broad power of the County court in tax matters gives the judge authority to hear cases in equity concerning taxes.

Calls Tax Roll Illegal.

Attorney Wentworth asserted that the present real estate tax roll is illegal because of lack of uniformity. Income producing properties obtained discriminatory favors over homes and small flat buildings which are not income producing, he argued.

"You contend then," said Judge Jarecki, "that the burden is left on the shoulders of the poor, but has been lifted from that of the rich. I have disagreed with you before as to my powers. I don't believe I have the power to enter a reduction without having specific objections before me.

Promises a Full Hearing.

"However, your charges, such as that the uniformity of the tax roll has been destroyed, are very serious, and I will devote all the time possible to hearing them. Taxes will not be paid until the public is sure that the tax levies are legal."

NORTHWESTERN AND CHICAGO U. FRAME MERGER

Negotiations Are Reported in Final Stage.

Mr. Traylor pointed out that the merger negotiations must take cognizance of legal problems involved in the charters of the two universities. He said this problem is difficult, but expressed the belief that it could be solved.

It has been learned that the present plan is to merge the two institutions under the Northwestern charter. This was granted to Northwestern in 1848 under the old constitution of Illinois and is much more liberal in privileges than any charter could be under the present constitution which was adopted in 1870.

Privileges granted in the Northwestern charter as it affects tax free properties are most liberal, it was pointed out. These privileges have been upheld three times by federal courts. The United States Supreme court has held that the privileges constitute a perpetual contract between the state and the university.

Institutions which have general charters under the constitution of 1870 have fewer privileges and many of them favor revision of the statutes either to provide them equal privileges with those institutions granted charters under the old constitution or to restrict the advantages of the older charters.

UNIONISTS WIN ULSTER ELECTION ERE VOTE IS CAST

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Continuance in power for the fourth term of the pro-British government of Prime Minister Lord Craigavon was assured today by country-wide general nominations. For 27 of the 52 parliamentary seats the candidates of the government Unionist party had no opponents, making a Unionist majority certain regardless of the results in the polling Nov. 30.

Similarly the Nationalist party gained seven seats by acclamation. The cabinet and the speaker were re-elected without opposition. In the last house the standing was: Unionists 37, Nationalists 11, Independents 3, and Socialist 1.

With the main result thus concluded, interest centered in the candidacy of Eamon de Valera, president of the Irish Free State. He was put up as a Nationalist in county Down, old Nationalist stronghold which twice previously—in 1921 and 1925—has given the noted Republican a seat in the northern Ireland parliament. On both previous occasions he was debarred from entering the six counties.

Gets Year Sentence for Impersonating Physician

Don Eduardo De Ranos, 42 years old, 919 North Michigan avenue, was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction and fined $500 and costs yesterday for impersonating a licensed physician by Municipal Judge Alfred O. Erickson. DeRanos, who said that he was a graduate of the University of Barcelona, Spain, was seized Saturday by federal narcotic agents, who charged him with forging narcotic prescriptions for his own use. DeRanos pleaded guilty to nine charges.

COLONEL CAPLES HONOR GUEST AT FAREWELL FEAST

Col. W. G. Caples, war department engineer, who recently received orders transferring him from command of the second Chicago district to a post at Charleston, S. C., was the guest of honor yesterday at a luncheon given at the Illinois Athletic club, at which Ald. William A. Rowan [10th], chairman of the city council committee on harbors, wharves, and bridges, was toastmaster. Hosts at the luncheon, attended by 75 persons, were J. C. Alderman of the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company and A. W. Woodman of the Universal Portland Cement company. With the departure of Col. Caples to his new post, the first and second Chicago districts, comprising all of the navigable waters about Chicago, will be consolidated under the command of Col. Dan I. Sultan, present commander of the first district.

SAMMONS DENIED VENUE CHANGE; TO TRIAL MONDAY

James [Fur] Sammons, Chicago murderer and rapist, was refused a change of venue yesterday and his trial on a charge of attempted bribery was set for next Monday by Judge William J. Murray in the Criminal court of Lake county, Ind., at Crown Point.

The bribery charge grows out of Sammons' alleged offer of $200 for his liberty, made to Deputy Sheriff John Cook when Cook arrested him Nov. 6 at Cedar Lake, Ind., on a charge of intoxication. The charge is a preliminary to Prosecutor Robert G. Estill's attempt to send Sammons to the Indiana penitentiary for life as a habitual criminal.

Sammons, a gang machine gunner, has served reformatory or prison sentences on charges of rape, murder, and robbery. He was once under sentence to hang for murder, but received a commutation. The Indiana Supreme court recently upheld a law under which a prisoner who has served two prison sentences may be imprisoned for life upon conviction of another offense.

Sammons' attorneys, William J. McAleer and Joseph H. Conroy, pleaded in vain for a change of venue on the grounds that newspaper accounts of their client's notoriety would prejudice a judge and jury against him in Lake county.

ADMITS FIRING FATAL SHOT IN LOOP HOLDUP

Leon Tuttle, 26 years old, 5138 South Maplewood avenue, confessed yesterday to Lieut. Otto Erlanson of the homicide squad that he fired the shot during a holdup Feb. 15 on the ninth floor of the Mallers building which killed John Merck, owner of a bookmaking establishment there.

Tuttle was a member of a gang of five holdup men. He fled to the south after the killing, and never received his share of the loot, he said. Detective Joseph Zegar arrested him yesterday after following his wife for four days. Eventually she went to a radio shop where Tuttle found work on his return to Chicago.

Two other members of the holdup gang who killed Merck are in custody. One, Theodore Grove, is in the county jail, charged with another robbery. Another, Harry Dobkin, who is serving a robbery sentence in Menard penitentiary, confessed and named Tuttle and Grove. One of the robbers still at large is known to be in South America.

4 YOUTHS ADMIT 20 ROBBERIES IN LAST 6 MONTHS

Four youths, arrested early yesterday in Oak Park, have confessed taking part in more than twenty robberies in the last six months. They are Robert Jackson, 15 years old, 2636 West 22d street; Theodore Klecki, 18 years old, and Victor Sikorski, 17 years old, 1851 South Western avenue, and Frank Tonanica, 17 years old, 3020 West Congress street. When they were taken into custody by Policemen Hugh English and Clarence Mau, the youths were wearing overcoats and suits they took Nov. 7 in a holdup of a tailor shop at 3329 Ogden avenue. In the automobile they occupied were two sawed off rifles and a pistol. Jackson is an escaped inmate of the St. Charles reformatory.

Almost Instant Relief From Colds in this Simple Way

If you catch a cold—don't take chances with "cold killers" and nostrums. A cold may be dangerous to take chances on.

This is recognized as the QUICKEST, safest, surest way to treat a cold. For it often checks an ordinary cold almost as fast as you caught it. Do this:

1. Take 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets.
2. Drink Full Glass of Water. Repeat treatment in 2 Hours.
3. If throat is sore, crush and dissolve 3 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in a half glass of water and gargle. This eases the soreness in your throat almost instantly.

Your cold should be relieved quickly when you do this because the real BAYER Aspirin embodies certain medical qualities that strike at the base of a cold almost INSTANTLY.

You can combat nearly any cold you get simply by taking BAYER Aspirin as directed. Sore throat can be eased by gargling this way in two or three minutes.

Ask your doctor about this. And when you buy, see that you get the real BAYER Aspirin. It dissolves almost instantly. And thus works almost instantly you take it internally. And for a gargle, it dissolves completely enough for this purpose. Get a box of 12 tablets or bottle of 24 or 100 at any drug store.

STATE WILL TRAIN YOUTH! BAVARIA TELLS CATHOLICS

Church Leaders Criticized by Premier.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—The Bavarian Catholic church was given a severe calling down today by Premier Siebert, who used the most severe terms ever heard in that fervently Catholic state.

"In recent proclamations Bavarian bishops have failed to show the joyful appreciation which the new state demands from everybody," Siebert said.

He followed with this warning to the Catholic leaders: "The days when the church was allowed to delve into politics is definitely over. The state will influence the youth of the country, and nobody else."

3,000 Pastors Protest.

Three thousand Protestant pastors, who are the first Germans to form an opposition bloc to continue the campaign against the "Nazification of the Protestant church," will meet tomorrow to discuss new means of "keeping God first in the minds of Protestant Christians" and to prevent Chancellor Hitler's Germany Nazi Christians from introducing more Hitlerism in the church.

Three of the group's pastors, who were dismissed for opposing the Nazi doctrine after the foreign policy plebiscite and reichstag election, were reinstated today on condition "they abstain from fighting the Nazi Christians." Two of the trio declared they would not allow themselves to be coerced into making statements "conflicting with their creed and conscience."

Meanwhile, Wilhelm Frick, minister of the interior, dwelt on the racial problem in Germany.

"Need More Room," He Says.

"Foreign nations and especially western European states will have to grant our people the necessary space in which to live," he said at the inauguration of the National Health Service.

The Health Service is an elaborate organization cooperating with a flock of other organizations to foster "healthy hereditary traits" and supervise the reich's racial development.

"We must cultivate Nordic thought," Frick said. "But since the Nordics are only a very small fraction of the German people, it is indifferent if the appearance of a fellow citizen stamp him as a German. However, it is important that every man and woman be aware of hereditary biological values and of their duty to the race.

"We have restored to a great part of the nation its self-respect and a feeling for racial purity. Healthy hereditary traits and many children will decide the fate of the German people. Everybody must live for the people and the state, and not for individual happiness, as in the days of the liberalistic state."

Youth was especially admonished to devote itself to "family science" by the cabinet member.

The chief of Germany's secret police, Herr Diehls, has relinquished his post to become Berlin's deputy chief of police. It is expected he will be replaced by another member of Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering's Prussian ministry of interior.

Orders Priests Protected.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

KARLSRUHE, Germany, Nov. 20.—The state government of Baden has issued orders to administrative district heads and police presidencies requiring them to protect priests of the Catholic church from molestation by Nazi zealots and forbidding "extra statutory coercive measures" against them. The precept particularizes the new concordat whereby the church at Rome agreed to restrain its German priesthood from any political activity and also imposed on the reich's government the obligation of assuring protection to those priests in the exercise of their office.

AMBASSADOR DODD REQUESTS LEAVE TO MAKE CHICAGO TRIP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—William E. Dodd, American ambassador to Germany and former professor at the University of Chicago, has asked for leave of absence from his diplomatic post early next spring to return to the university, it was learned today.

Prof. Dodd's request, which is for a leave of absence without pay about next February, has not yet been filed formally with Secretary of State Cordell Hull. The request will be granted if conditions in Germany permit his absence at that time, it is understood.

Permanent retirement from the post of ambassador to Germany is not contemplated by Prof. Dodd, it was insisted here. His request mentions as its basis the need for attending to certain "administrative duties" at the university.

The nature of the duties which are calling Prof. Dodd back was not disclosed. All discussion of his leave has been confined to private correspondence between himself and Secretary Hull, it is believed. Officials of the state department said as far as they knew Prof. Dodd had had no experience which would prompt him to retire from the service permanently. It was recalled, however, that he had been irritated by the length of time the German foreign minister had forced him to wait on the occasion of one American protest against Nazi violence.

STUDENTS THROW STENCH BOMBS AT HAPSBURG FETE

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Nov. 20.—(AP)—A crowd of 60 students, hurling stench bombs and shouting "phooey," raided a legitimist banquet held here tonight in honor of the 21st birthday of Otto of Hapsburg, claimant to the throne of Austria-Hungary. Police cleared the hall, but the anti-Hapsburg demonstrations continued outside.

Speaking at the meeting, Baron Friedrich Wiesner, attorney of ex-Empress Zita, mother of Otto, declared that Austria was still a monarchy, in view of the fact that Emperor Charles withdrew from control of the country only on the condition of a plebiscite which was never held.

Therefore, the baron said, Otto would presently be "emperor of Austria." He praised Chancellor Dollfus, who, he said, by defending Austria's independence had laid the foundation for the restoration of the Hapsburg dynasty.

French Cabinet Agrees to Compromise in Budget Row

PARIS, Nov. 20—(AP)—The French Cabinet sought to stave off defeat today by agreeing to compromise on the Chamber of Deputies finance commission's charges in the first part of a government budget balancing program. In a two hour session the Cabinet decided to try to adjust differences during debate which will begin tomorrow and which probably will decide the fate of the Albert Sarraut ministry.

PRUSSIA SEIZES ALL PROPERTIES OF THE EINSTEINS

Secret Police Brand Him "Enemy of State."

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—(AP)—All properties of the famous scientist, Albert Einstein, and his wife were confiscated by secret police today under laws "concerning the seizure of communist property and property of enemies of the state."

The action culminated the moves of political police as far back as April 1 in placing his bank account under sequestration and later seizing his motor boat and country home at Caputh.

(When Dr. Einstein planned to go to the United States in December, 1932, he was asked by the American consulate in Berlin whether he were a communist. He replied: "I don't propose to answer such silly questions." Mrs. Einstein at that time declared emphatically that her husband was neither a communist nor an anarchist, and that he had never been either.)

All Goods Listed.

The official Gazette Reichsanzeiger, in printing the legal notice of the seizure, listed "all mobile and immobile goods, particularly bank accounts and other deposits," to be confiscated in favor of the Prussian state.

The announcement read:

"In pursuance of the laws of May 26, May 23, and July 14, concerning the seizure of communist property and the property of enemies of the state and of the people, all possessions of Albert Einstein and of his wife Else, whose last Berlin address was No. 5 Haberlandstrasse, especially the bank balances and other deposits, are hereby confiscated in pursuance of a decree of the secret police department of July 7 for the benefit of the Prussian state. The foregoing is made public in accordance with the law. Date of decision, Nov. 16."

Signed by Secret Police.

The announcement was signed by the secret state police.

Dr. Einstein now is associated with the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, N. J., where he holds a chair in physics.

With his wife he fled to Belgium after the rise of the Hitlerites to power. He left Belgium and arrived in London Sept. 9. After living in seclusion for some time he came to the United States.

Considers Action "Unimportant."

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Dr. Albert Einstein could not be reached personally today for comment on the seizure of his German property by the Hitler government, but an associate indicated the Berlin action was not considered important.

Questioned about the seizure order, Dr. Walter Mayer, Einstein's assistant, shrugged his shoulders and remarked the action was "insignificant" and "unimportant."

Mrs. Einstein, shown the Berlin dispatch, merely said:

"We know it."

Leaders Decide Upon 2 Months' Recess.

GENEVA, Nov. 20—(AP)—Leaders who have sought for weeks to find some basis for agreement on disarmament virtually decided today to suspend their efforts for two months.

An official announcement of the recess was expected to be made at a meeting tomorrow. Whether a program of work to be conducted in the interim will be announced was problematical.

U. S. Wants to Include Russia.

American delegates waited to learn whether a special conference will be conducted outside of Geneva and, if so, what countries would be invited to join Italy, Germany, Great Britain and France in such talks. The Americans have indicated that they wished the Russians and Japanese to be included in such negotiations. Authoritative sources said these American efforts had failed.

Italian representatives today opposed a continuation of sub-committee meetings at Geneva during the recess, but the French spoke in favor of such a plan. The Steering committee was convoked for Wednesday to pass upon any program of recess work.

Seek Return of Germany.

Discussions in the interim, if any, were expected to have as a main object the return of Germany to the disarmament conference, which the reich left last month.

Members of the Steering committee met this afternoon at the home of Joseph A. M. C. Avenol, secretary general of the league of nations. Avenol planned to go to Rome tonight to attend the funeral of Senator Vittorio Scialoja, one of the authors of the league covenant, who died yesterday at the age of 79. Avenol expected to discuss with Premier Mussolini disarmament problems and Italy's reported threat to resign from the league.

U. S. PROTESTS JAP TREATMENT OF 10 AMERICANS

TOKIO, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Arthur Garrels, United States consul general, "officially remonstrated" at Metropolitan police headquarters today against police treatment of ten Americans comprising Jerry Woods' orchestra, formerly of Portland, Ore.

Police, intervening in a contract dispute between the musicians and their Japanese employers at the Ginza dance hall Saturday, arrested the Americans. The musicians, freed after several hours' detention, claimed the police forcibly took away their passports.

Authorities promised Garrels an investigation and protection of the musicians.

JURY CONVICTS 3 KILLER ROBBERS; REFUSES DEATH

One Gets 199 Years; Other Two Given Life.

Three Negro robbers, charged with the murder of Harry Bacon, 505 West 65th place, were found guilty last night by the jury in the court of Judge Francis B. Allegretti. The verdict was brought in only a little more than eight hours after the start of the trial at noon.

The demand of the state for a death penalty was disregarded. The punishment of James Brown, 32 years old, who was held by the jurors to have fired the shot that killed Bacon, was fixed at 199 years in prison. Life sentences were ordered for the other defendants, James Williams, 26 years old, and Teddy Haney, who asserted he was 19 years old but was apparently nearer 25.

Testimony showed that the trio had hired Bacon, a taxicab driver, to take them to 548 East 46th street on Sept. 19. Arriving there, they ordered Bacon to raise his hands. He was shot when he was slow in obeying. Brown and Haney admitted the stickup, but each charged the other fired the fatal shot. Williams and Brown are ex-convicts.

A motion for a new trial was made and Judge Allegretti announced he would pass on it this morning. The case was prosecuted by Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert Crowley.

Death Asked for Another.

Another trial in which the death penalty will be asked was started yesterday in the court of Judge Harry B. Miller. It is that of Arthur Barty, under indictment for complicity in the torture murder last March of Theodore Zutaut, 55 years old, 12017 Lowe avenue. A jury was completed in the afternoon and taking of testimony will begin today.

The state will charge that Barty and Michael Lepas, now a fugitive, went to Zutaut's home and beat him in an effort to force him to disclose the hiding place of a cigar box in which he had concealed $4,000. When Zutaut still defied the two men Lepas shot and killed him, the state will assert.

Barty was granted a separate trial when he agreed to turn state's evidence against Edward Weiss, who drove the two killers to Zutaut's home. At Weiss' trial last week Barty refused to testify and Weiss was freed by a jury a few moments after he had urged his attorney to accept a sentence of 14 years.

Two Get 99 Year Sentences.

During the day Joseph Majczek, 24 years old, and Theodore Marcinkiewicz, 26 years old, were sentenced to serve 99 years in the penitentiary by Judge Charles P. Molthrop. The men were convicted by a jury several days ago of slaying Policeman William D. Lundy during a robbery on Dec. 19, 1932. Before prohouncing sentence Judge Molthrop overruled a motion for a new trial and an arrest of judgment.

With these two sentences pronounced, there remains in the county jail only one police killer who must face trial. He is Emil Manzone, a member of the 42 gang. He is charged with the murder of Policeman Maurice Marcusson, slain last January in an attempted holdup of a loop dress shop.

Manzone was seized a month ago in New Orleans and when he was returned to Chicago he was placed in jail before witnesses of the killing had an opportunity to identify him. Since that time the state has been unable to hold a showup. Yesterday Manzone was arraigned before Judge Walter P. Steffen and at least one witness who was stationed in the courtroom to see his face positively identified him as the killer, Assistant State's Attorney Charles Dougherty said. His trial was set for Dec. 7.

Two Robbers Get Life.

Tony Pamilio, 27 years old, and William Burke, 33 years old, were sentenced to life in the penitentiary by Judge Benjamin P. Epstein after they were convicted of robbery under the habitual criminal act yesterday. It was reported that Victor Musso, 20 years old, a companion of the pair, was charged with perjury growing out of his testimony at the trial in a true bill voted yesterday by the grand jury.

Others sentenced in the day's activity in the Criminal court were:

Joseph Johnson, colored, 28 years old. Sentenced to one year to life by Judge Donald McKinlay for robbery of twenty colored couples at a bridge party.

Walter Gaines, colored, 23 years old. One year to life for burglary and ten years for rape. He was convicted of robbing the home of a colored woman and of raping her when she surprised him during the burglary.

Edward Butkus, 20 years old, and Joseph Jonkus, 17 years old. Sentenced to one to twenty years by Judge Joseph B. David for automobile thefts.

Vivian P. Pallas, 31 years old. Sentenced to one year in the House of Correction by Judge David for attempting to sell a stolen automobile.

Virgil Canty, 17 years old. Sentenced to serve one to fourteen years in the penitentiary by Judge David for assault with intent to commit murder in connection with an attempted robbery on Oct. 11.

Martin [Sonny Boy] Quirk and George Downs, south side gangsters, both were granted jury trials when they were arraigned before Municipal Judge Jay A. Schiller in the Felony ocurt. Both men are charged with criminal vagrancy.

MACHADO CHECKS OUT OF CANADA; MAY LIVE IN U. S.

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—(AP)—The assumption of friends here that former President Machado of Cuba intends to reside in the United States from now on was strengthened today by instructions for shipping the belongings he left behind last week.

The management of the hotel at which he had been staying also received orders to close his account. It was not learned where his trunks will be sent, although it is known he is on his way to visit his wife in New York. The telegram containing the instructions was dispatched from Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Troops Battle Rebels.

HAVANA, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Rebels and soldiers clashed late yesterday between the towns of Camaguey and Florida, in Camaguey province. An omnibus en route to Havana along the central highway received the impact of machine gun and rifle fire, and reports reaching the capital said two passengers were killed and 16 wounded.

JOLIET A CLUB, NOT A PRISON, KAVANAGH SAYS

Judge Assails Coddling of Prisoners.

Joliet penitentiary is not a prison, but a club, with two-thirds of the prisoners living better than they would on the outside, Judge Marcus Kavanagh, student of criminology and veteran of hundreds of criminal trials, told members of the Congregational Ministers' conference yesterday at their meeting at the Central Y. M. C. A.

"With a radio in every room, food equal to the best, and an elaborate program of activity and entertainment," said Judge Kavanagh, "two-thirds of the prisoners in Joliet penitentiary are living better than they would on the outside. They are free from the anxieties of liberty.

"Joliet is not a prison, but just a club—a big club with the single restriction that the members cannot leave its confines. They can, however, talk to each other and boast about their crimes and the leniency of judges."

Despite efforts of prison wardens to make themselves popular with their charges, Judge Kavanagh said, fraternization of criminals within prison walls produces an atmosphere of tense hostility which shows itself in riots and convict uprisings when any attempt is made to curb the inmates' privileges.

No Cost to Taxpayers.

"I have no wish to quarrel with my old friend, Judge Kavanagh," said Warden Frank D. Whipp of the Joliet penitentiary when he was told of the judge's statements, "but I hope that some time he may find himself the warden of a big penitentiary. I think he would change his views.

"It is true that we have a loud-speaker system in the old prison, and individual sets in the cells at Stateville, but they didn't cost the taxpayers anything. They were purchased with profits from the prison commissary from which the prisoners buy candy and other luxuries. Aside from the radios, we don't have much entertainment here for prisoners.

"I have neither increased nor decreased privileges since I became warden, and we have had no trouble for a long time. I think that in the matter of privileges, Joliet is just like most of the other prisons in the country."

Raps Leniency of Juries.

Judge Kavanagh attacked the reluctance of juries to impose the death penalty. He declared this leniency to be the principal reason why Chicago has had as many as 587 murders in a year, to 17 in the same year in London.

"We have some of our best citizens on juries, but they won't sentence a killer to death," he said. "Instead they give him some fanciful sentence such as 199 years.

"There have been a lot of misleading statements about the minimum time which must be served under a 199 year sentence. According to the statutes, any one, whatever his sentence, can come before the parole board after 20 years. Loeb and Leopold can reasonably expect a parole.

"My opinion is that a sentence of life should be for as long as the criminal lives."

INDIANA GOVERNOR SEEKS A JURY QUIZ OF BIG PRISON BREAK

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Gov. Paul V. McNutt intends to supply the grand jury of some northern Indiana county with information he has obtained concerning the escape of ten felons from Indiana State prison at Michigan City Sept. 26. He will include details of tonight's questioning of Harry Copeland by the state police here.

Copeland, driving in Chicago yesterday, had a dispute with a motorist. With Copeland was a young woman. Copeland began to aid his arguments by flourishing a gun. Policeman Edward McBride of the Cragin station arrested Copeland and drove him to the station. The young woman was questioned and released. Copeland was held.

Today Copeland was escorted from the Chicago detective bureau by two Indiana state police cars and two Chicago squad cars, in case his friends might interfere. At the Indiana line he exchanged a Chicago auto for one from Indiana.

Copeland is wanted in Lima, O., for the fatal shooting of Sheriff Jess Sarber in a jail delivery there following the escape of convicts from Michigan City. John Dillinger was freed from the Lima jail at that time.

OFFICER SPEARED BY MOROS; THREE KILLED IN CLASH

JOLO, P. I., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Third Lieutenant Mariano Esculto and three Moro outlaws were killed in an ambush and subsequent battle in the Jolo forests today.

The ambush occurred near Camp Andreas, of which Lieut. Esculto was commander, when he led a patrol into the jungle in an effort to halt a battle between rival families of the warlike Mohammedans. Leading the column the officer was speared by Moros.

Long a sore spot to the otherwise peaceful Philippines, Jolo island had been quiet since 19 were killed in an ambush and battle Sept. 6.

FALLS ON STOVE.

FIXER ELUDES SHERIFF'S AIDS FOR 3 MONTHS

After three months' leisurely search conducted by deputy sheriffs, Herman J. Goldberg, convicted tax fixer, is still at large. Deputy Sheriff Thomas A. Hemmersbach reported to Sheriff Meyering yesterday that he had last tried to find Goldberg a week ago, but is now convinced he is in New York.

Rumors that Goldberg was in Chicago and in his usual haunts had persisted several weeks ago, but Deputy Sheriff Hemmersbach has been unable to find him. In giving bond on two occasions in the Criminal court Goldberg had given his address first as 2328 Farwell avenue and later as 1427 Juneway terrace. According to the sheriff's office, however, the correct address is 7663 Sheridan road, where the deputy has been informed several times that Goldberg is in the east. The sheriff plans to send another deputy to the address, in the hope that he may be able to find Goldberg.

The search has been on since Aug. 18, when the Appellate court affirmed the decision of Judge Joseph Sabath that Goldberg should serve three months in the county jail and pay a fine of $1,000. Goldberg was indicted in December, 1931, on charges of conspiracy to make fraudulent alterations in assessment records.

Peorian Sued for Playing of Tunes During Summer

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Because Martin W. King allowed certain tunes to be played last summer at his Aragon gardens in this city the American Society of Composers and two music publishers, copyright owners, asked a federal writ of injunction today against any such further use without their consent. They also asked $250 damages for each violation.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

Does a pimply face embarrass you? Get a package of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights, if you are like thousands of others.

Help cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound; known by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

WE LOSE 51 TONS OF CHOICE HAM EACH YEAR!

By a Unique Process of Slow Boiling Instead of less costly Quick Cooking by Steam!

See how this typically finer method makes our Ham more Tender . . . more Flavory

THIS offers you a more delicious Ham. A true boiled Ham. Slow boiled. Not quickly cooked by steam.

The method we use is one of our own developments. One of many special methods for finer cooking . . . which we have perfected. It does what slow home boiling does. But does it even better.

We start with choice hams hickory smoked. Each must grade to the right proportion of fat and lean. Then we boil them individually . . . under watchful control . . . in a flavor sealing jacket. They cook in their own juices. No water actually touches them. No delicate flavor escapes. Or boils away.

Each Ham cooks thoroughly. To delicate tenderness. The raw, tough fibers . . . the steamy flavor which you sometimes taste in ordinary boiled ham . . . our method wholly avoids.

Equally unusual and exacting Pure Food standards govern the preparation of every food we serve.

Over a million men and women patronize Thompson's Restaurants every week. Large scale operation enables us to buy best qualities economically. To employ experts who make a constant study of foodstuffs. To utilize advanced methods of food protection. To supervise and insure careful . . . cleanly preparation of every food we serve.

A few meals' trial will absolutely convince you that you gain in food quality as well as save money at Thompson's Restaurants. Step in today.

Treasury Head Says He Backs All Roosevelt Policies 'to the Limit'

Silver Move Predicted

By Albert L. Warner

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The White House, pressing the need of unity upon different Administration elements, gave the word today to continue with the gold program of dollar depreciation in a fuller test of the Warren theory of price raising.

Accordingly, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation boosted its bid price for newly mined domestic gold by 13 cents to a new high of $33.45 an ounce, while the dollar slid down against the pound until sterling had duplicated its previous half-century high of $5.16½, made last Friday. Despite the dollar's fall, United States bonds rallied, bringing comfort to the Treasury and those advisers to the President who have argued that the objective of the gold program carried no threat to the value of Federal obligations.

Woodin Backs Gold Policy

Breaking a long silence in an effort to dissipate the well authenticated idea that Treasury officials and other more or less conservative appointees of the President in high financial posts were warning against the Warren program, William H. Woodin, Secretary of the Treasury, announced his support of all

Tammany Leader Denies Truce Plea

President 'Breaks Ice' Between Himself and 'Happy Warrior' After Silence Lasting a Year

By Theodore C. Wallen

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—President Roosevelt was advised today that by coincidence both Alfred E. Smith and John F. Curry, Tammany leader, were to be in Washington tomorrow. Confronted with the problem whether to invite them to the White House, he sent word to Mr. Smith to have tea with him at 5:15 p. m. Up to a late hour tonight Mr. Curry had received no invitation and was planning to return to New York "in the morning" without seeing the President.

With the President "breaking the ice" between himself and Mr. Smith, Mr. Curry was expressively independent. Not only did he disclaim knowledge of suggestions that White House hospitality be extended to him, also, but he repudiated emphatically suggestions that he had come to Washington to seek a truce with the Roosevelt administration.

STARS PICTURED AS A HONEYCOMB LIKE SOAP SUDS

Belgian Astronomer Gives New Idea of Creation.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 20.—(AP)—A brand new picture of creation, a universe of stars forming a honeycomb like soapsuds instead of being one vast expanding bubble about to burst, was given to the National Academy of Sciences today by Abbe Georges Lemaitre, famous Belgian astronomer.

In this star suds arrangement some bubbles are expanding, others contracting, others unchanging. Each bubble is so immense that light takes sometimes 100,000 years to cross from one side to the other.

Each bubble is either one of the huge star clouds called galaxies, or a whole collection of them. Mother earth lies in one of these bubbles, where contraction or the expansion of her neighborhood star group is rather slow.

Nothing to Worry About.

Some stars seem to be rushing toward earth, others away from her. But whatever the ultimate outcome of this celestial puzzle, it will take so many millions of years for humans to get close to any now distant star that there is nothing to worry about.

The academy also was given the latest weather studies to show that all over the earth the weather or any section repeats itself once in about every 23 years. Real long distance weather forecasting was predicted as a result of this discovery, but with the warning that it would be a long time before the details were sufficiently worked out to be printed in the daily papers.

Millikan Discusses Creation.

Scattered evidences of the possible creation of matter, that is of gamma rays which resemble light, turning into solid matter, were discussed by Dr. Robert A. Millikan, Nobel prize winner in physics. He found this evidence at present very slight and doubtful, although he said that theoretically it was plausible.

A new eye piece for telescopes and microscopes, which makes a ten-fold reduction in errors of seeing by polarized light, was reported by Dr. Fred E. Wright of the Carnegie institution of Washington.

Father Lemaitre's new star suds theory was introduced by Dr. Harlow Shapley, director of the Harvard astronomical observatory. Dr. Shapley described recent observations, which he said seem to bear out in a slight degree some parts of the bubbly universe hypothesis. One such evidence is the great density of star collections in some parts of space.

Some Parts of Space Empty.

Father Lemaitre, in explaining his theory, pointed out that astronomers find reason to believe some parts of space are so empty that no more than one atom of solid matter exists in a cubic yard, and in these tenuous spaces, according to Einstein relativity, the laws of gravitation might not work in the orthodox manner.

Likewise he cited evidence for existence of "cosmic repulsion," a force which works the opposite of gravitation. The repulsion would tend to cause expansion.

Father Lemaitre gave mathematical formula to show the probability that in regions of expanding space there were also collapsing regions. Between these collapsing bubbles are other regions whose stars and dust are "in equilibrium"—that is, neither expanding no contracting.

He said it was probable that the collapsing regions of space were about equally distant from each other; he also computed that when a vast bubble or region of space contracts, its body, which is made of dust, gas and scattered meteors, would be forced together to form large, hot stars.

PROSECUTOR DEFIES RITCHIE; REFUSES TO ARREST LYNCHERS

Crisfield, Md., Nov. 20.—(AP)—State's Attorney John B. Robins, the Somerset county prosecutor, today flatly refused to make the lynching arrests or follow the investigation procedure requested by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie and Attorney General William Preston Lane, Jr.

Moreover, Robins declared that if the attorney general would not join him in a move to have a secret grand jury investigation of the testimony of witnesses who have named nine alleged participants in the lynching of a Negro at Princess Anne last month, he would "proceed alone."

Such action, according to Lane, would go far towards blocking the public hearing of the evidence which he and Gov. Ritchie want held before being given to a grand jury.

In the meantime the three judges of the First judicial district, whom Gov. Ritchie advised to replace Robins if he refused to "do his duty" and follow the procedure advised by Lane discussed the matter in Cambridge. They reached no decision nor do they expect to do so before they have talked the case over with Robins.

KIDNAPS EX-WIFE IN DETROIT AND BRINGS HER HOME

Joseph Paciga, also known as John Toth, owner of a butcher shop at 6315½ Grand avenue, was being held by police this morning on a charge of kidnaping his divorced wife in Detroit at the point of a gun and driving her to Chicago. She is Mrs. Julia Toth, 34, of 9197 Melville avenue, Detroit.

She told a vivid story of the alleged abduction. Early yesterday morning Paciga stopped her on a Detroit street and, threatening her with a gun, forced her into his car. Then he started out for Chicago, occasionally brandishing gun, she said, and asking her, "Do you love me?" She feared for her life on the trip, she said.

Paciga reached his home on Grand avenue at 6:30 o'clock last night. Meanwhile Mrs. Toth's relatives in Detroit, alarmed over her absence, notified police, who in turn notified Chicago police. At 10 o'clock last night two squads went to the home, liberated Mrs. Toth, and seized Paciga. They found no gun.

DENTAL SOCIETY AIDS 19,000 IN RELIEF CLINIC

Nearly 19,000 persons, without funds to pay regular fees, have been treated through the relief clinic of the Chicago Dental society in the last year, according to a report by Dr. M. D. K. Bremner, who is in charge of the headquarters at 431 South Dearborn street.

Preliminary examinations of applicants are made at the headquarters, but all work except extraction is performed by 700 dentists who have volunteered to coöperate. Dr. Bremner estimated that the value of the service given was $190,000.

To meet the costs $50,000 has been expended directly, the dentists donating the remainder of the work. The dental society clinic is one of the agencies to which funds will be alloted from the campaign of the Community fund, Allied Chicago Charities, now in progress.

HUEY LONG BOOED AND CHEERED AT OVERTON INQUIRY

Offers Letter to Explain Item of $22,500.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 20—(AP)—After a week's absence, Senator Huey P. Long visited the senate committee investigation of his colleague, Senator John H. Overton, late today and brought a letter intended to show that an item of $22,500 mentioned by bankers early in the day had nothing to do with the campaign.

As he walked down the aisle, the spectators cheered and booed and Senator Long smiled on all sides.

He gave the letter to Senator Overton but after a few minutes walked out when Chairman Connally [Dem., Texas] raised objections to insertion of the letter into the record until the signature and date had been confirmed.

Letter Accepted Temporarily.

When Senator Thomas [Dem., Utah], who was presiding, with Chairman Connally seated at the counsel table, agreed to enter the letter into the record, Senator Long stopped at the door and listened to its reading and then disappeared. The committee held they would insert the letter in the record with the privilege of later striking it out.

The letter was signed by Irving Moss, insurance executive, and addressed to Seymour Weiss, treasurer of Long's political organization, which supported Overton's candidacy. It dealt with the transfer of a note for $22,500 at the American Bank and Trust company from Weiss to Moss and a bank cashier testified that the note was paid by Moss.

At the opening of today's hearing bankers testified that drafts of approximately $9,000 drawn against Weiss had passed through their banks during the Overton campaign. The drafts, they said, were drawn from various sections of the state.

Tells of Two Loans.

John Fink, liquidator of the Canal Bank and Trust company, testified that two loans were made to Weiss, one for $5,000 and another for $2,500 on Sept. 9, three days before the primary election, and they were paid in cash on Oct. 5.

Chairman Connally read a statement on behalf of the committee in which he asked the public and the press to reserve judgment on the committee until completion of the investigation as the committee felt it had been subjected to unjust criticism.

The statement was in answer to charges of "insincerity" and "farcical performance" hurled at the committee by former Senator Edwin Broussard, the defeated candidate, the Honest Election league, the women's committee of Louisiana, and the senate committee's own investigator, John G. Holland.

Witnesses today testified that they had found official ballots scattered in the streets two days after the election, that a dead man was allowed to vote, that votes were bought with whisky on election day, that votes were counted for people who did not even come to the polls, that voters with faulty registrations were allowed to vote, and that Broussard workers were intimidated at the polls. The witnesses charged that all of the offenses were committed by Overton representatives.

Former Bank Teller Gets Year for Embezzlement

Frank S. Mikos, 34 years old, 2036 West Erie street, former savings teller in the Lawndale National bank, was sentenced to one year and one day in Leavenworth penitentiary yesterday by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. Mikos had pleaded guilty to embezzling $600 of the bank's funds. Assistant United States District Attorney James C. Leaton told the court that Mikos aided William J. Karasek, 27 years old, 2745 South Millard avenue, another savings teller, in the embezzlement of $1,700 from the same bank. Karasek has not yet been tried.

ARMY REPRISALS FEARED IN SPAIN AS ELECTION ECHO

Leftist Officers Angered by Rightist Triumph.

MADRID, Nov. 20.—(AP)—The death toll from Spain's first constitutional elections rose from seven to nine tonight when reports reached here that two persons had been killed in the isolated village of Paradela.

The reports said Socialists fired upon a group of people while they were voting, killing two and injuring another. The previous number of known injured was 300.

The Rightists' landslide indicated in early returns became more evident in each successive bulletin. The latest general semi-official returns indicated the election of 149 Rightists, although their headquarters assured the election of 200. The last congress had 473 members.

Leftist Reprisals Feared.

Meanwhile throughout the country the government continued to maintain extreme vigilance to prevent further violence. Leftist reprisals are feared, it was learned, particularly from troops commanded by Leftist officers.

The available returns brought to light that women, given suffrage for the first time in Spain's history, apparently failed to support feminine candidates. Late returns show not one woman candidate victorious.

The Rightists scored their most notable victory in the Socialist stronghold of Badajos province, tabulations showing that a coalition of Rightists, Radical Republicans and Maura Conservatives captured eleven majority posts. This left only three minority posts for the Socialists.

Among the numerous political arguments that led to fisticuffs, one between former Minister of the Interior Santiago Cesares and Minister of the Navy Pita Romera—Both members of the same party—commanded attention. At Coruna conversational disagreement between the two men quickly gave way to blows. Friends separated them before either was injured.

Result Pleases Vatican.

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 20.—(AP)—A semi-official spokesman said today the Vatican was pleased with the outcome of the Spanish elections yesterday, believing the ballot gave a victory to the Moderate party.

He indicated the Vatican was particularly pleased with the decisive nature of the victory on the grounds that this proved the policy pursued by the Spanish cabinets, particularly in reference to religion, was contrary not only to the fundamental interests of the country, but also to the sentiment of the people.

Since the overthrow of the monarchy; succeeding Republican governments have been regarded inimical to the Roman Catholic church, long the state church of Spain.

When Squibb's Dental Cream guards The Danger Line* your teeth and gums are as safe as a dentifrice can make them!

WORRYING over pyorrhea, bleeding gums and similar mouth troubles won't prevent them. What you need is the scientific protection that comes from regular care by your dentist, and regular brushing with Squibb's Dental Cream — 5-way guardian of The Danger Line.

Squibb's cleans effectively and polishes safely, with absolute freedom from grit. It prevents bleeding of the gums by safe cleansing —not by the use of dangerous astringents. It combats the germ acids that cause tooth-decay. And its use is true economy.

The first thing you'll like about Squibb's is its delightful, minty taste—clean and refreshing. Then you'll like the way it brings out the natural, flashing brilliance of your smile. But most of all you'll enjoy the knowledge that your teeth and gums are safely and effectively guarded.

*The Danger Line is the area where the thin edge of the gum encircles each tooth, forming tiny ledges, difficult to reach by brushing. Here food particles collect and bacteria multiply, generating acids. Not one, but all your teeth are endangered by unhealthy gums. When you use Squibb's Dental Cream, you force into the sheltered areas countless antacid particles which combat the germ acids and protect the gums.

THE AAA AND THE MILK BOTTLE.

Secretary Wallace of agriculture and the AAA has been regarded as a not unreasonable man. He has, in effect, a constituency although an administrator. He holds in trust for the farmers and in that position a man is in luck only if he can do miracles. His only good fortune is that he does not have to tax the farms or coerce the farmers. He taxes other people to pay the farmers, but any good fortune that gives him he'll need. One element of Mr. Wallace's bad luck is that he is juggling with the necessities of life as they affect the poorest of people, who are not the farmers.

Even when Mr. Wallace can put up an economic argument for a drastic act he'll offend instinct and sentiment. The slaughter and tanking of pigs rebounded on him. The conjunction of waste and need was too much for any argument. The plowing under of cotton was judged not in relation to surplus but to clothing and price. Processing taxes are translated into bread and meat. Subsidies for nonproduction come down on the cities.

In the items of Mr. Wallace's program there is none with more dynamite in it than milk. The milk administration of the AAA pursues a price policy which deprives the consumer of the right to buy where the price is nearest his ability to pay. The community itself can maintain health standards. Only the price is in question and between marketing methods, they alone being in question, the difference is important. It may even be determinative. If the government outlaws and prosecutes every system of milk vending which does not maintain the high price level the consumption of milk may be reduced and reduced where it is most needed, in the diet of children in families in which there is a problem of proper nutrition.

All the consumer can do to meet price increases is to decrease his own requirements. If milk prices go up milk consumption will go down. The government tries to follow the consumer in his search for substitutes and to close doors as fast as he finds them, but the sure instinct of the restricted family budget is to drop the high priced article and seek a low priced substitute.

Countries in which the milk ration of children has been restricted have seen injurious consequences in public health and physical stamina. Of late the English have been giving serious consideration to such deficiencies. The American mountaineer in the south has suffered from the lack of milk cows on his hillsides. The AAA by condemning a system of milk vending merely because its costs permit low prices is striking at the availability of this food supply where it is most needed, in the cities.

The favored system of distribution is one which many consumers cannot do without or much prefer not to do without. Probably a majority ask that delivery be to their door and will pay the price, but the suppression of competition offered by an entirely different method of marketing, more suitable to the needs of people of restricted means, people who must get the greatest value for every dime they have, is an exercise of authority which may make untold trouble for the administrators. Sentiment is against it. Logic is against it. In other times law would have been against it.

The AAA may be warned now that when it finds in the opposition the figure of a child the spot will be hot. An astute opposition politician will ask for no better exhibit and in this case he will be right. Good intentions will get the administrators nowhere.

The AAA has had its experience with little pigs and the destruction of foodstuffs. Its planners and supporters might well go slowly and thoughtfully with the milk bottle.

QUEER WORK IN LOUISIANA.

The accounts of what happens when the United States senators assigned to duty on the Louisiana election conduct a hearing are interesting without being informative. The election was that of John Overton to the senate. The case is actually against Huey Long, unless it is against John G. Holland, the committee's investigator. Mr. Holland's position seems hopeless. Although he is the chosen agent of the investigation, employed to present the evidence, the committee throws him out and he denounces the committee.

When Gen. S. T. Ansell was the committee's investigator Senator Long used his senatorial privilege and immunity to libel him and the senators who had assigned the general to the work which thus exposed him left him exposed. Whatever else may happen in this prolonged inquiry into the manner of the election of Mr. Long's associate, Mr. Overton, the committee's investigator can safely assume that he at least will be out of luck. He will be put in the middle and worked on by both sides. Mr. Holland is showing the strain.

It is to be understood that any one who questions the qualifications of a senator or the sufficiency of an election certificate brings up a matter which is very close to the interests and emotions of all the Conscript Fathers. There are many things which find the Fathers far from one mind, but tenure is something upon which all agree. It is desirable. Some of the senators might have a private opinion of Mr. Long which would be uncomplimentary. They might prefer to be where he was not rather than where he was, but when his methods of running the state of Louisiana are in question, when it is an issue how he elects himself or his friends, a larger view is taken. A senator is a senator, whether he is Long or Overton.

This senatorial predilection makes it difficult going for the opposition and in the Louisiana case the investigating senators regard their own investigator as the opposition. He is endeavoring to present to them evidence they hired him to get and they won't have it, not if they can stop him and prevent it. This oddity of putting the investigator on the spot is what confuses the Overton hearings. Newspaper readers cannot be blamed if they conclude that Mr. Holland is in danger of being found guilty of discovering evidence embarrassing to the tenure theories of the senate and of being punished for contempt.

THE CHURCHES IN RELIEF WORK.

What we are convinced is a very important development in the field of relief has been described by the Rev. John Evans, religious editor of THE TRIBUNE, in articles in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE. The development is the organization of Protestant churches for the administration of relief as the Catholic and Jewish churches are now doing so well in their respective fields. "Thoughtful Protestant pastors," Mr. Evans said in his first article, "have viewed with dismay the rise of the huge impersonal relief industry. . . . Left in the hands of the churches are only their long established charitable and social institutions. These are now in jeopardy largely because governmental and secular agencies have been permitted to usurp an area included in Christianity's original charter, with resulting decline in public confidence in all church agencies. The Roman Catholic church, despite storms of criticism, doggedly has maintained its right to administer its own charity, regardless of the source of revenue, and thus has conserved its own self-confidence as well as public confidence in its institutions."

Protestant churches have been reluctant to undertake relief work supplied by government money, but there has occurred a change of view among leaders of the Chicago Church federation, which has formed a commission under the chairmanship of Dr. Henry Seymour Brown of the Presbyterian extension board to canvass the problem of administration through Protestant churches, and it may be expected that a system will be forthcoming under which the Protestant churches can carry on effectively their share of the distribution of relief. As Msgr. Cummings, the head of the Catholic charities, has finely said: "Logically the church, whether Catholic or Protestant, is part and parcel with such an enterprise. Charity is a Christian responsibility," and he adds that Catholic charities would be glad to coöperate in case work with an organized Protestant program.

This extension of the relief service seems to THE TRIBUNE in every respect desirable. The depression has enormously increased the task of relief and it has at the same time increased the importance of administration and distributive control. As soon and as completely as possible, relief should be taken out of the hands of government agencies and put in the keeping of private or nonpolitical organizations, of which by far the most important, and in the deepest sense the most efficient, are the churches. The extent of depression needs has compelled resort to government funds, but it by no means follows that the task of administration should be in government—that is, political and bureaucratic—hands. On the contrary, the distribution should be kept out of reach of the political influences inevitable in the workings of government agencies. We are confident that the Catholic and Jewish charities do and that the projected Protestant charities will administer relief with greater economy, with less perversion of funds to unscrupulous individuals, and with a much greater regard for the social values involved than any government agency. Political and bureaucratic relief agencies should be liquidated as promptly as possible and their work should be taken over by the church organizations.

Editorial of the Day

CHICAGO AND ITS EXPOSITION.

[Minneapolis Tribune.]

In a year that has had more than its share of failures and disappointments it is a pleasure to record a success that passed all expectations. We refer to the success of A Century of Progress Exposition, which closed Sunday in Chicago and which was attended, since it opened on May 27, by more than 22,000,000 persons.

Last spring the Stygian gloom that hung over Chicago and its Exposition grounds was thick enough for slicing. The economic situation was such that the failure of the Fair seemed almost foreordained, and it was simply a question in the minds of most observers as to how complete the flop would be. Today, however, Chicago is already looking forward to the reopening of the Exposition next summer. The Exposition was so handsomely patronized that an encore seemed to be simple common sense. The city began thumping its adding machines on Sunday and discovered that more than $25,000,000 had been spent within the Fair grounds. Its Association of Commerce estimated that visitors to Chicago during the summer had spent in the neighborhood of $400,000,000 outside the Exposition. But even if Chicago questioned the exactness of such figures, it knew that the Fair was responsible for one of the most exhilarating periods, from a trade and business standpoint, it had ever experienced.

There are few communities, no matter how hard pressed, which will begrudge Chicago its good fortunes. It took courage and enterprise to go through with the Fair in the face of almost certain failure, and it is fitting that they should be so generously rewarded. Whether there is any moral involved in the Exposition's success we do not know, but it is fairly obvious that even at the tag end of a depression there exists a certain kind of magic that will unlock pocketbooks, set millions in a buying frame of mind, and keep the turnstiles clicking. Chicago inaugurated no "buy now" campaigns. It appealed to no one's patriotic instincts. It simply put on a good show that happened, for one reason or other, to be what 22,000,000 persons wanted to see. As a formula for success in lean years it is difficult to see how that could be improved upon.

SAD BUT TRUE.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Oh-Oh!

(What the Reports of the Football Games May Read Like if They Keep on Playing Under the Dead Ball Rule.)

Today Illinois played Ohio State,
You should have been here, it was great.
At first the teams just wouldn't stop,
We feared the game would be a flop.
Illinois pushed the ball right down near the goal,
That team just got clear out of control.
The coaches raved and stormed and swore,
And warned them be careful or else they'd score.
To win in these days is of course a crime,
And the players remembered just in time.
Both sides retreating to their own home ground.
The rest of the game was sweet and low,
They obeyed the rules—final score O-O.

* * * *

When Wisconsin started today's game with Yale,
The experts and coaches were trembling and pale;
Each side gave the other tit for tat,
And seemed to forget just where they were at;
"Oh dear!" screamed a coach above all the din,
"I'm afraid those fellows are trying to win!"
Down the field went Yale as straight as a dart,
But the coaches screamed loudly, "Say, have a heart!"
The team was as balky as so many mules,
But finally they stopped and remembered the rules.
They came to a huddle over the ball
And said to each other, "This won't do at all."
And from then on they played nice and slow
With the conventional score, good old O-O.

* * * *

Army played Navy today and at first
The rules committee was ready to burst;
They said to each other, "This doesn't look right.
Some of these players declare they will fight.
Oh mercy, if they should forget what we've told 'em,
They might want to score, and nothing could hold 'em!"
It looked bad, for in spite of the moans and the sobs,
The Army got mad and yelled, "Bury them gobs!"
Then the Navy bucked up and marched down the field
With a mad thirst for triumph that was illy concealed.
"Stop!" gasped the experts, "stop this great sin.
If they keep on this way some one's bound to win."
So the teams were restrained, and then joy! ho-ho!
A real happy ending, the score—

WELL, IT WAS A GOOD IDEA; we have to get used to these things by degrees. When he arrived here on his very delicate mission he was known as Litvinov to rhyme with above, dove and love. After he and Franklin Delano signed the recognition papers he appeared in the public prints as Litvinoff, and before he sails for Russia, now that we can think of the Reds without fainting, the newspapers will probably say his name is Litvinoffski. We're certainly getting alongski! Otchen Karisha!

"INSULL REPORTED Going into Lignite Business in Greece." Ah, very soon all the billboards from Athens to the Aegean will blossom with large signs in the Greek language, "Ογνίja εxονra κγρFa γbnnεy kaiεγzt nιωνγ pωakγιo," meaning—"YOU CAN DO IT BETTER WITH LIGNITE."

AND ANY WAY you look at it our newly acquired friendship with Russia ought to save us from reading about every three weeks grim prophecies that within two or three days or two or three hours or two or three minutes the soviet régime is going to fall with a dull, sickening crash. Now that we're friends and everything, we oughtn't to sit around gloomily waiting for the Reds to go into a tailspin and do a nose dive to the earth. Oh not at all! What kind of friendship would you call that?

PRAYER AT EVENING'S END.

Here in this quiet room tonight
Where blooms a soft and lovely light
On tapering waxen stems of white;

Here in this room of hushed content,
Of love warm and beneficent,
Let me be mindful we have spent

Some hours so good to live that we Can face like kings the days to be!
Let me have vision now to see

The beauty of this thing we share!
The slow heart learns, to its despair,
No beauty waits for it to grow aware.

ADELAIDE LOVE.

HEATING AND COLDS.

OVER a period of ten years Dr. E. R. Haynurst of the Ohio state health department has been observing the health of the members of his own family and the comfort of his own home. For a lesser number of years he has been investigating the heating and ventilating of school buildings as well as of industrial plants.

So far as his own family is concerned his experience has led him to the conclusion that "the state of nutrition [meaning thereby resistance] and not bad air determines respiratory afflictions and their complications." The principal respiratory affliction referred to is the common cold.

His records of the ailments of his family classify their disorders into nondisabling respiratory, disabling respiratory, other nondisabling, and other disabling. An illustration of a nondisabling respiratory is an ordinary mild, common cold. Pneumonia is an illustration of a disabling respiratory. Of the other two groups a simple headache is in the first and an attack of what is called acute rheumatism in the second.

We have written of the method of heating and ventilating used in this home. It is heated by a gas furnace [so-called warm air heat], supplemented by radiant gas heaters in sitting rooms and other quarters where a little accessory heating is necessary for comfort. Ventilation is by leakage around doors and windows and through walls, and by windows. The heating is greatly influenced by wall insulation. The cost of heating this ten room basement and attic house ranges from $71 to $108 per winter.

His conclusions as to school children and schools are much the same as those relating to his own children and his own home. They are based on considerable work done within schools as well as his home observations. He considers heating and ventilation of schools not to be the most important factor in the health of the children. They are not even the principal cause of colds. He says:

"I am sure that bad air conditions only initiate colds, and that when these last more than a few hours after the exposure some protective nutritional factor is at fault. If a comfortable atmosphere is provided and is checked for unwelcome radiations, health and efficiency seem assured from the ventilation point of view."

Insulation and heating are the only important factors in production of comfort. Humidification, chemical composition, and exact fresh air quantity may be ignored, he thinks. The chief complication in uncomfortable rooms is not ventilation but overheating. He believes in mechanical control. More attention should be paid to insulation.

But there may be something about the physiologic effects of air that is yet undiscovered. Therefore he advocates opening the windows from time to time in order to let in some fresh air.

MANY CAUSES POSSIBLE.

F. W. writes: What condition of the mouth can make one's breath have a bad odor? Gargling and taking good care of the teeth seem to have no effect on it.

REPLY.

Heavily coated tongue, tonsil conditions, bad teeth, pollution due to sleeping with the mouth open are among the causes that relate to the mouth. The more frequent causes are intestinal fermentations and the use of certain foods and drugs.

OPERATION NEEDED.

C. L. writes:

2. Vaccine has produced no cure.

REPLY.

1. The diverticulum cannot be removed except by operation. Careful dieting sometimes prevents attacks of inflammation.
2. Vaccines promise little.

From Across the Sea

BY HAROLD TATAM.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES. — The mortgage moratorium law, which was hurriedly enacted by congress in the closing days of its last session, appears to be stirring up considerable trouble. This law gives mortgagors a respite from foreclosure for three years, during which period they cannot be forced to pay more than 6 per cent interest annually.

Opposition to the bill was great and the government itself tacitly disapproved it when asking the senate to postpone action on it. After its passage the government was asked to veto the measure in a petition signed by a large number of banks, insurance companies, and other financial institutions. They contended that intolerable hardships would be inflicted upon private mortgagees, that the bond market would be seriously affected, and that it was a direct incentive to hoarding.

The government, however, did not exercise the veto. But it refrained from promulgating the law in the stipulated period, thereby allowing its promulgation to take effect automatically.

Believing the provisions of the law to be unconstitutional, one mortgagee has refused to abide by its terms and has started a test case in the courts to claim his right to foreclose. The right of private contract has been infringed, he argues.

Further complications are threatened by the provincial governments, which declare that their prerogatives are ignored and that provincial mortgage banks will be virtually put out of business. The banks assert that they cannot embark in further business until the law is repealed or amended.

That something will have to be done about it is evident. It is expected that congress will be asked to amend the law in the course of an extraordinary session to be called early in November. But in what way it can be amended so as to satisfy all parties concerned is a tough problem.

Apart from the big landowners who demand the moratorium, there are a great number of small farmers who are equally anxious to see the law remain as it is. They are likely to engage in a huge farm strike if their hopes are shattered. Against them are the private mortgagees, the banks, and other financial institutions which are hit by the law.

It has been estimated that over a hundred million pesos have been "stand-stilled" under this law.

AN OPTIMIST LOOKS AHEAD.

Mattoon, Ill., Nov. 15.—Suppose for a minute that the Roosevelt plans fail as lamentably as the Hoover plans failed, Chicago will not be alone in Secretary Wallace's ash pile. The whole country from the the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to Mexico will be in the same condition.

However, I am an optimist. Chicago and the country will no doubt pull through. They always have. Prosperity will come again. Chicago will grow like nobody's business and the rest of the country will grow.

If we are to judge the future by the past in the matter of growth, Illinois may be divided into three states during the next twenty-five years. Cook county may be a state alone and the rest of the state may be two states divided by the Illinois river and Illinois-Michigan canal. Why not? When Illinois was admitted to the Union in 1818 there were no white settlements north of a point twenty miles south of the present site of Vandalia. So three states in the place of the present state of Illinois is not so absurd as it may seem.

If I were asked to suggest names for the new states I would eliminate the name of Illinois entirely, as that glorious name should not be restricted or divided. I would name the southeastern state Lincoln and the northwestern state Douglas or Grant. The new state on the lake could be named for Marquette, La Salle, Logan, or Roosevelt.

A dream, eh? You may call it a dream if you want to, but I would rather dream of growth, expansion, and new states than of ashes, dead cats, and junk piles.

POSTAL SAVINGS.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Will some one suggest to the Hon. Mr. Farley that joint savings in the postal savings banks are desired?

Under the present system a husband and wife cannot save jointly, and as it is the husband who makes the money [in most cases] and the wife who saves, it is quite difficult in case of illness or death for one or the other to withdraw any or all money. M. E. BALETTO.

A PAMPERED NATION.

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 13.—This year when so many people were out of work Mexican labor was imported to Nebraska and Minnesota to work in the sugar beet plantations where constant wheat planting has depleted the soil. American youths either won't work cheaply enough or don't know how. We have surplus high school and college graduates coming home to be supported by parents who never went to high school but are more resourceful or less choicey and have not taken the snap courses in life.

We have screamed "child labor" till parents are afraid to let their children help. If the spirit of helpfulness is not instilled in our children they will be too lazy to do something to support themselves.

In the south forced education is only on white children. Colored children may learn how to work and later come to Chicago and get the jobs away from the whites. Any one who can read and has the ambition can always keep on educating himself. We have gone too far in forced education.

MOVIES AT THE FAIR.

STOP THAT WHINING, SISTER.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—I remember, not so long ago, how I tried and tried to make the Line—writing what I thought were poetic masterpieces and waiting in a frenzy of eagerness for the verses that were never set in print. And the awful heartbreak and heartache that my spirit was almost too weak to stand up beneath when they weren't.

And now I think that if one is destined to fail [as most of us are] it's much kinder of Some One to let us be among the first fallen and have it all over than to have the pain prolonged and wait feverishly until the end for ships that never come in.

Don't you? MARY.

POOR BRAKES OR CARELESS MOTORMEN.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Within the last three days the writer has seen two elevated trains come to a stop with the rear door of the first car entirely beyond the station platform, one of the trains being a three car train very nearly empty of passengers, and the other one being an express train loaded to its utmost, and still another train stopped with the doors just inside the station platform railing. Either the brakes on these trains are faulty and the motormen cannot properly control their trains, or else the motormen are entirely lacking in any discipline as to the spot at which their trains should be brought to a stop.

Opera Benefit Tonight to Be Gala Occasion

Many Dinner Parties Will Precede Show.

BY JUDITH CASS.

TONIGHT brings the first of the operas intimes that Mrs. Howard Linn has arranged for the benefit of Olivet institute, and judging by the list of boxholders it would appear that it will be a gala occasion, indeed.

Occupying the boxes that have been built in the ballroom of the Palmer house for the production will be Mr. and Mrs. Linn and numerous others of the McCormick clan—Mrs. Linn's mother was a McCormick—including the Cyrus Hall McCormicks, Harold F. McCormick, the Fowler McCormicks, the Chauncey McCormicks, the Robert R. McCormicks, Mrs. Emmons Blaine, and Mrs. Stanley McCormick.

Olivet institute is a Presbyterian settlement house and the McCormicks have been interested in it ever since it was started about thirty years ago and are among its most faithful supporters; in fact, Harold McCormick is chairman of the board of trustees at the present time.

The other boxholders are Mrs. Linn's father, Edward T. Blair; the Wolcott Blairs, William Boyd, the Benjamin L. Behrs, Mrs. Frank Comerford, Mrs. Merrill Hubbard, Robert F. Carr, Roger Hyatt, Mrs. Joseph Leiter, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, the Charles H. Schweppes, the Lester Armours, the John Alden Carpenters, the Charles B. Goodspeeds, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, the William H. Mitchells, the Arthur G. Cables, the Charles G. Kings, the Donald B. Douglases, Vincent Bendix, the junior Edward L. Ryersons, the Farwell Winstons, the Charles B. Pikes, the Edward H. Bennetts, the James S. Kempers, the Byron S. Harveys, and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hughes.

Entertain Guests at Dinner Parties.

Most of these will entertain their box parties at dinner preceding the performance in the foyer adjoining the ballroom and there will be others having dinner parties there, too, including Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Evans—he is chairman of the board of directors of Olivet—Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Cates, the Leo Wormsers, the Henry Faurots, Mrs. Frederic d'Aix, the Huntington B. Henrys, the Frank E. Wilhelms, the Bryan S. Reids, and Paul Butler.

Mrs. Linn and one of her corps of assistants, Miss Francise Clow, have secured some of society's prettiest girls to sell flowers tonight. The Misses Nancy Traylor, Helen Marie Castle, Betty Brawley, Isabel Gordon, Honore White, Barbara Bastien, "Babe" Forgan, Peggy Hixon, Patsy Keith, Nancy Morse, Jean Wilhelm, Fleury Leonard, Mimi Orr, Jeannette Schreiner, Jean Hyman, and Virginia Thatcher are the attractive young women who will try to inveigle all the men present to buy boutonnieres for themselves and corsages for their ladies.

"Mozart e Salieri," by Rimsky-Korsakoff, and "The Cadi Deceived," by Gluck, will be presented tonight under the direction of Karl Krueger, formerly of the Vienna Opera.

Mrs. Talbott Will Sponsor Sale.

Mrs. Harry E. Talbott of Dayton, that charming grandmère who spent the summer in Chicago and entertained 25 of her 31 grandchildren during the time she was here so that they might see the Fair, became so interested in the Chicago Woman's exchange that she has arranged for that organization to hold a sale in Dayton before Christmas. It is to be on Dec. 15 and 16 at the Runnymede playhouse, and Mrs. Talbott and one of her daughters, Mrs. Lillian T. Hilton, will assist the Chicago women who take the beautiful things in which the exchange specializes to Ohio for the sale.

The residents of another Ohio city, Cleveland, are to have the opportunity of purchasing their Christmas gifts from the Chicago Woman's exchange, for Mrs. Philip H. Withington and her two attractive daughters, the Misses Harriette and Marguerite Withington, are sponsoring a sale there for the third or fourth time. This year it is to be on the 11th and 12th of December at the Wade Park manor.

The Christmas sale in Chicago this winter will be on Tuesday, Dec. 5, in the crystal ballroom of the Blackstone. From 9 until 5 the members of the board will be there to assist in selling. Mrs. Philip L. Reed is president of the exchange and some of the women most interested in it are Mrs. James Ward Thorne, Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, Mrs. John W. Gary, Mrs. William Roy Carney, Miss Helen Gurley, Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams, Mrs. John L. Cochran and Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley.

Mrs. George A. Ranney and Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed are planning a sort of grab bag Christmas tree for

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Paul Muni is an actor who's worth anybody's money.

All who saw him in "I Am a Fugitive," "Scarface," and an earlier picture, "Seven Faces," were tremendously impressed by him. "The World Changes" will more firmly reinstate him in the good opinion of his admirers.

The story takes you from prairie schooner days of 1856 to the present time, covering four generations in transit. It dramatically contrasts the old pioneering spirit of men and women who fought the hardships of a virgin land that they might there sink their roots, multiply and prosper, with the feverish and unhealthy zest of their children for money, place and position.

Muni is first seen as a youth—son of Orin and Anna Nordholm, who are the founders of Orinville, South Dakota.

The young chap conceives the idea of driving Texas longhorns across country for marketing, a feat pronounced impossible by the wiseacres of the day.

But Orin Jr. makes his dream come true. And now he is in Chicago, and head of the biggest packing industry in the country. Interesting—very—the panoramic insight you get into the growth of the meat industry!

He marries ambitiously, and with his marriage inspires the frown of Fate. The tale grows painful—and pretty melodramatic—from there on.

As usual Muni proves himself a master actor and a wizard at makeup. It is difficult to believe that the worn, haggard man in the last part of "The World Changes" is the stalwart youth of the story's first sequences.

Aline McMahon runs the star a close second. A brilliant actress, whether in comic or dramatic rôles, she does some magnificent work both as the young pioneer mother and as an indomitable, aged dowager. Mary Astor is splendid as Mrs. Nordholm Jr., whose horror of her husband's business and its "Blood! BLOOD! . . ." drives her mad. All of the acting is good. And how nice to see Anna Q. Nilsson, again! She's been so ill, for so long—but she looks as lovely as ever.

Direction was able and the film is technically commendable.

If you care to look at "The World Changes" facetiously, it is quite possible to construe it as pointing the moral that the only way to be happy, healthy, and successful is to be born in South Dakota and stay there.

However, who said anybody wanted to be facetious?

[The film's based on the novel, "America Kneels," by Sheridan Gibney.]

Grant Memorial Lecture Series Will Open Tonight

Dr. W. H. Collins, director of the geological survey of Canada, will lecture tonight at Harris hall on the Northwestern university campus in Evanston on the topic, "The Economic Future of Northern Canada." The lecture will be the first in a series of four in the Grant memorial series. It is free to the public.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

WE have dwelt a time or two on the sophistication of the younger generation. There was the little girl Kay Wesson of La Crosse writes about. She came home from school and told her parents that the teacher had allowed them to give imitations of their favorite screen and radio stars in the classroom. They were done behind a screen and the teacher was to guess the star. Asked who she imitated, the girl said "Mae West."

Sophisticate—Capitalisms—Personalities—Anniversary.

"What did you say?" she was asked.

"O, I said, 'I always said you could be had. Come up and see me some time,'" drawled the infant.

CHARLES L. HOWARD, back from Washington, says that in the capital, in speaking of the new Vincent Astor-Raymond Moley publication, "Today," they are calling it "Here Today . . ." I guess you know your maxims.

ALSO that some people say that if the Ship of State is floundering it is because it has a Dern Woodin Hull.

AN album of the persons who came to Ruth Page and Tom Fisher's party at the Arts club for Serge Lifar Sunday evening would be a highly interesting souvenir of a memorable party. The first picture in the album should, of course, be the hostess herself, looking a little like a Matisse, in her strange scarlet gown, a little flaring-brimmed hat on her straight black hair. Then Uday Shan-Kar, in black robes, his hand in a sling, his black hair falling to his shoulders, gentle of manner, his luminous eyes shining. Beside him Mlle. Simke, the Parisian dancer, in black velvet, a strange heavy gold ornament at her throat. Miss Cornelia Lunt of Evanston, nonogenarian, white of hair and blue of eye. Tregor, the young Russian sculptor. Tiny, fragile Harriet Monroe, the poetess. Paul Du Pont, couturier. Sam Harper, traveler, author, lecturer, round and intelligent of countenance. The Duchess de Clermont-Tonnerre, using a one-glass lorgnette. Mrs. Howard Linn, in a hat and gown of nasturtium shade, hastening in and out again to speak over the radio about her opera intime tonight at the Palmer house. Vera Stock Wolfe, wearing gardenias. The guest of honor, Lifar, in a gray striped suit, slim and boyish, looking younger than I had expected. Then one remembered that a ballet dancer has to be young and that in the days of the imperial Russian ballet they were retired with a pension at 32. Mrs. Byron S. Harvey, chic and lovely in beige. Rudolph Ganz, animated, sartorially perfect. Frank Waller, head of the Milwaukee symphony. Robert Wolf, young Chicago composer. Kitty Byfield, a severe black topper above her winsome face. Mme. Sert, former wife of the Spanish painter, touring the gallery on the arm of the host. Gennaro Papi, formerly conductor at Ravinia. Irene Castle McLaughlin, slim and graceful in brown wool shot with gold. Arthur Meeker, author. The Russian conductor, Samosaud. Sheila Barrett, mime. Wesley La Violette, composer. Mark Turbyfill, poet. Others, musicians, writers, probably one of the most interesting assortments of people ever gathered at a private party in Chicago.

AN arrival from the east, just in time for the party, was Isamu Noguchi's aluminum statue of Miss Page, put up temporarily in the Arts club at the suggestion of the club. It is an impression of Miss Page dancing her "dance in a sack" number called "Expanding Universe."

WRITING the name La Violette brings to mind the tale of how the composer's family name happened to be La Violette. According to the tale, an ancestor was an officer in Napoleon's army, and the morning of the battle of Waterloo Napoleon plucked a violet and put it in the coat of his officer. From that time on he was called La Violette, and it finally was adopted as the family name.

MAYBE you didn't know it, but the day upon which prohibition will become past history is the vigil day of the feast of St. Nicholas of Bari, patron saint of vintners, brewers, and coopers. Jack Finlay first called attention to this interesting coincidence, and we pass it right along.

New York, Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Margery Durant, daughter of W. C. Durant, former automobile manufacturer, and Fitzhugh Green, explorer-author, were married last Friday by Justice of the Peace Chester B. McLaughlin in Bronxville, it was revealed today.

Lieutenant Commander Green, a retired naval officer, and his former wife, who was Natalie Wheeler Elliot of Philadelphia, were recently divorced.

One of the witnesses to the ceremony reported that Commander Green and Miss Durant met through Mr. and Mrs. George Palmer Putnam.

Scout Audience Resembles Old Opera Opening

Ermines and Gems Adorn Society Throng.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

There was a reminder of an old time opera opening in the brilliant audience that thronged Chicago's Auditorium last night for the performance of Serge Lifar and his Russian ballets, presented as the second program in the Monday night series sponsored by Chicago's Girl Scouts. Ermines and jewels, trained gowns and white ties combined in a spectacle unequaled on any other occasion so far this season.

Most thrilled of all the hundreds in the audience were the sturdy green clad Scouts who, with their leaders, occupied a half dozen boxes in the upper golden circle. To their cause, organized 21 years ago by Juliette Low, the city's social leaders were pledging their whole hearted support.

The majority of the boxes in the glittering horseshoe were filled last night by those who lend active aid to the Scout program. Directly in the center of the lower tier sat Mrs. Arthur L. Farwell, Chicago's scout commissioner. With Mr. Farwell she was entertaining the Ogden Kettings and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter. In the box to the right was the lovely Mrs. William S. Monroe . . . one of the few members of the audience who wore elbow length white gloves throughout the performance . . . with Mr. Monroe and their son, Henry Monroe. Certainly Mrs. Monroe must have felt due pride in the "sellout" throng, for she is the chairman of the concert series.

From an artistic standpoint it was hard to tell whether it was the Hindu dancer, Shan Kar, or the famed French hostess, Mme. Sert who enjoyed Lifar's interpretations more. Shan Kar, who sat with his partner, Samkie, as well as his drummer, is having the thrill of seeing others perform since he had the misfortune to sprain his hand during a recent program in Cleveland. Twice a day, he explained, his hand must be massaged. The rest of his time he is spending in the Art institute.

Mme. Sert, who came to Chicago last Friday especially to see Lifar dance last night, sat with the Charles B. Goodspeeds and Miss Alice Roullier. Her black crêpe gown was decorated with a short shoulder capelet of sequins.

There was no one in the audience that looked more stunning than Mrs. William H. Mitchell. Gowned in tomato colored crêpe, she added distinction to her costume with a feather boa and tiny stars that glistened in her shining black hair. During the second intermission when every one congregated in the box foyer Mrs. Mitchell joined a party that included Miss Edith Cummings, the Lester Armours, the Wolcott Blairs, and the Leslie Wheelers.

A half dozen of the front row seats were occupied by a group that included Mrs. Lloyd Laflin, beautifully gowned in black velvet, Miss Jean Stevens, who wore one of the new dinner suits in gold lame, Mrs. Frances Clow and Durand Smith. The James Kempers were host and hostess to the George T. Leaches and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Defrees. The Henry Faurots, the Thomas Connors, Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Sudler, the Solomon B. Smiths, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Press Hodgkins sat together on the main floor. Mrs. Sudler was striking in red crêpe with a delicate band of brilliants in her hair, while Mrs. Hodgkins was swathed in green velvet and natural fox.

Several wraps intrigued bystanders as the audience assembled. Mrs. Byron S. Harvey wore a handsome evening coat described by several as "pink" fur. A hairline striped woolen and another new variety of fur fashioned the wrap worn by Mrs. Thomas H. Fisher [Ruth Page]. Still another costume that merited enthusiastic comment was the persimmon velvet gown and matching turban worn by Mrs. Douglas MacMillin, who before her recent marriage was Betty Hoyt. She covered her shoulders with a brief mink cape. Mr. and Mrs. MacMillin attended the concert with Mrs. Eugene Howard and her young daughter, Mary Katherine Howard, both of whom wore tiny ermine hats.

The John Simpsons had places on the main floor and so did Mrs. Mitchell H. Follansbee [her son, Rogers Follansbee, was escorting pretty Anne Small], the Vaughan C. Spaldings, the Arthur Meekers, Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman, Mrs. Merrill Hubbard, and the Keith Carpenters.

Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay III., gowned in a lovely shade of gray with a coral band twisted through her black hair, was with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay Jr.; Miss Robin Dienst, Mrs. Henry Stanton, and Herr Broyer. Still a few more glimpsed in the great concert hall were Mrs. John W. Gary, the James Humes, the Arthur Bissells, the Herbert E. Bradleys, Mr. and Mrs. Wentworth MacKenzie, Mrs. Leonard A. Busby and her daughter, Janet; Mrs. Archibald Freer with her granddaughter, Miss Barbara Wilson; the James Norrises with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peck, and the Loring Colemans, Mrs. Charles Wesley Dempster, Mrs. David Cook, Miss Elizabeth Webster, Mrs. Edward A. Leight, the James R. Offields, the Corson Ellises, Princess Rostislav and her sister-in-law, Princess Galitzine, and Mrs. Charles Harrington Chadwick who was hostess to Lifar at a supper party following his performance.

Famous Lifar, Classic Dancer, Has Everything

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Serge Lifar and his Russian ballet company introduced themselves to Chicago at the Auditorium last night, and in the course of a highly successful evening put classical dancing back in the position it occupied when Anna Pavlowa used to come to the same house.

It was a comfort to see again the kind of dancing that goes on for the sake of its own technical perfection and sheer loveliness. Here was a revival of the pirouette, the entre-chat, the inhuman control over human muscles for the sake of extra-human grace, the belief—a quite correct one—that a foot shod with a ballet slipper is better to look upon than the same foot in exposed nudity. Classical dancing is by no means the full art of dancing. But what would be said if Bach and Beethoven were banished from musical programs?

Lifar is a brilliant exponent of the same sort of dancing we used to see in Mordkin, Massine, Nijinsky, Volinine, to name only a few. His company is small, six other men and two girls. His scenery consisted mainly of drapes. On the other hand, what had been expected to be two pianos for musical accompaniment turned into a full sized and competent orchestra. And the performance began a steady crescendo from the start until it ended in quite a blaze of achievement. Incidentally, the Auditorium was filled to the last seat and late comers were turned away literally in hundreds.

As might be imagined, the program was so arranged as to be a series of bravura performances for a male star. There were other points, however. One remembers some charming dancing by Lycette Darsonval with Lifar in "Le Spectre de la Rose," which, by the way, used to be a Nijinsky vehicle, and again both alone and with him in the series of divertissements at the end. She is said to have been accorded first honors in classic dancing in an international contest in Europe last year, and one can believe it, for she has the grace, control, and high development of a first line artist.

There was also Olga Adabache, likewise with Lifar in an interesting if not vastly important piece called "La Chatte" and in a revival of "L'Apres-Midi d'un Faune," beautifully done in its two dimension angularity, even if after all these years the subject still becomes a bit pathological. And the six men were immense in their group dancing.

But Lifar was the star. He is a good looking chap and he has superb mastery of his body. Classical dancing calls for the muscles of an athlete and more than the average athlete's agility. Lifar had everything, and he and his company made a huge hit.

Beatrice Eppstein gave a piano recital at Kimball hall last night. Evidently a young artist, her playing has passed beyond youthfulness into early maturity. Her touch is firm, her execution brilliant, and she would seem to have a thoroughly musical idea in her playing. Her program ranged from Bach to Liszt, with such numbers on the way as the Chopin Sonata in B minor and the Handel-Schumann Variations.

'Music in the Air' Grand Feast for City's Starving Theatergoers

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

"MUSIC IN THE AIR," the operetta or lyric romance which has just begun an engagement in the Erlanger theater, compensates in various ways for the recent scarcity of musical entertainment on the Chicago stage. Perhaps the matter can be summed up in the statement that it is better than any two or three operettas that you may happen to think of offhand. It is copious of material, rich with lovely songs, and utterly charming in its story and general deportment.

Jerome Kern supplied the score, and this fact in itself is a guarantee of suave and glowing musicianship. He is the old master of our light lyric stage, and he has worked, in this case, like a man in love with his theme and his material.

The numerous principals in the large company form an impressive array of operetta talent. The harmonious settings for the nine scenes that serve as backgrounds represent the last stage designs of the gifted Joseph Urban. The show comes here unchanged in cast and equipment after a year's residence in New York, where it was unanimously regarded as the finest lyric production of its season.

In brief, "Music in the Air" is a feast of theatrical values, and the starved playgoers of this region should fall upon it with enthusiasm. It is a brilliant affair which comes as a fitting reward for the town's long abstinence in superior stage amusements.

One of the winning qualities of this artfully woven piece is that, although elaborate, it is not pretentious. There is none of the spirit of whoopee and slambang in its makeup. It moves along with an air of sentimental simplicity in its early scenes, gently building up an atmosphere of charm and open-air romance. Then it reaches a level of adroit gayety and joyous sparkle, and tightens up its plot about two simple hearted lovers who become involved in the minor seductions of city life.

"Music in the Air" is, in fact, a play with music, coherent enough in form and logical enough in texture to be called opera rather than operetta. Its score, lyrics, and book are in a sane and happy balance. Its mood is gentle, its cleanness is refreshing, and its technique is fascinating.

The locale is Bavaria—a mountain village and Munich—of the serene and wholesome period before wars and reparations and Nazis were dreamed of. The story is apparently modern, and yet this is the Bavaria of the old folktales, where everything was warm and wholesome and "gemuethlich."

An old provincial music teacher, his winsome daughter, and the girl's bashful sweetheart go to Munich to find a publisher. There they fall in with a prima donna, a librettist, a music baron, a theater director, and other fancy creatures of the footlight world. They see the sights, get mixed up in the production of a show, part in jealousy, and reunite to go back home again. It is a naive tale and of no special weight in plot. But it is told gracefully, plausibly, and with the maximum of charm.

To glance at some of the personalities in the admirable cast: Walter Sleznak, new here but famous in New York, London, and central Europe, is an admirable light comedian as the country lover. Ann Barrie, also new, and lovely to the eye, is a perfect choice for the heroine from the provinces. Donald Brian, Desiree Tabor, Nicholas Joy, and Harry Mestayer are important contributors to the Munich scenes. Reinald Werrenrath brings his splendid voice to a picturesque peasant character. Al Shean is mellow as the music teaching papa of the story. Incidental characters in troops are interpreted with effective strokes of characterization and musical skill.

Cardinal Mundelein to Be Dinner Host to Visiting Prelates

Cardinal Mundelein will be host this evening at the Holy Name cathedral rectory at a dinner for the archbishops and bishops attending the sessions of the Catholic Church Extension society and the American Board of Catholic Missions. The conventions today will hear reports of the receipts and expenditures of the two organizations.

The Most Rev. Amleto G. Cicognani, apostolic legate in the United States, arrived yesterday from Washington for the gathering and is the guest of Cardinal Mundelein at his residence on State parkway. A delegate who made one of the longest journeys to attend the Rt. Rev. Joseph Crimont of Juneau, Alaska.

Retirement of Al Jolson Lasts Less than a Day

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Al Jolson's retirement from motion pictures lasted less than twenty-four hours. Jack L. Warner read of the black-face comedian's decision to retire and immediately got him on the telephone from the east, where he has been on business. The result: Jolson accepted an optional agreement whereby he would be the star in three more pictures.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY—BASEMENT

By ELIZABETH JORDAN

SYNOPSIS.

Bruce Pomeroy, brought up in poverty, befriended a Russian, Boris Orleneff. In return Orleneff, before his death, left Pomeroy a simple invention, which is about to make Pomeroy a millionaire. Orleneff didn't want his brother's family, whom he considered parasites, to get a cent from the invention. While taking his morning walk through New York's Central park Pomeroy's attention is attracted to a girl sitting on a park bench.

INSTALLMENT II.

KIDNAPED.

Pomeroy was about to pass the girl when he realized that something was wrong. Apparently she had met with an accident. She was hunched forward on the bench in an attitude of great discomfort, with one foot over a knee. She appeared to be trying to pull off a shoe, and her features were distorted as if with pain. He hurried to her side. His eyes were full of sympathy.

"Are you hurt?" he said quickly. "Can I do anything?"

"Yes."

The girl spoke between her teeth. Apparently as an afterthought she brought out the words, "Thank you." She looked around her almost wildly, he thought, as if she were afraid of something or some one in the bushes behind him. Instinctively, he half turned to follow her glance, but she cried out, ending her words with a slight groan.

"If you will take off this shoe—but O, please be careful!"

He bent over, and taking the foot in his left hand gently drew the well-worn black suede pump from it.

"I think I've sprained my ankle horribly," she gasped. "I fell, and my foot turned."

That was the last thing he heard. The small, shapely foot, which he had observed was not swollen, was the last thing he saw. He felt an arm around his neck, felt hands clutch his arms, felt a wet pad over his mouth and nose. He struggled wildly and drew in a sickening inhalation of chloroform that lifted him up like a wave. Then he dropped into a black abyss.

The blackness lasted a long time. When he was again conscious of a suggestion of light, it was accompanied by an impression of motion. That was as far as his intelligence carried him.

Later, hours later, perhaps, he was again aware of light and motion, accompanied by nausea. He was sitting up propped on something soft, and resting against something softer—probably a pillow. His hands and feet were bound, his mouth was covered with something large and extremely unpleasant. Something else was pulled over his eyes. Still later he discovered that it was the visor of a soft cap, drawn low to shut off his vision.

After another long interval he realized that he was in the tonneau of an automobile, racing smoothly along a country road. The side curtains of the car were down and the sun was still high in the heavens. The picture of a bench in the park, a young girl in pain, a foot in a worn suede shoe, swam dizzily before him. Very slowly his brain cleared for an instant and he remembered.

"Damn them," he reflected almost dispassionately. "They're making a good job of this, whoever they are. They knocked me out for God knows how long with their chloroform, and then doped me when I began to come too . . . and those fellows will be waiting, for me at one o'clock."

He closed his eyes and time slid away from him again.

It was at about this point in his reflections that a certain group of prosperous looking gentlemen, assembled at a table in the Sert room of the Waldorf-Astoria, began to look surprised and pained. They consulted their watches, raised their eyebrows, and exchanged various impatient comments. One of them, a financier named Lansing, who was inclined to be peevish, muttered that he had expected something of this sort. Eventually his companions summoned the head waiter. Five minutes later, several slender youths, impressively buttoned into taking uniforms, circulated about the halls and corridors of the big hotel, uttering plaintive cries. Each one, as he went, repeated again and again, with infinite patience and piercing clearness, the same refrain: "Mister Pomeroy." "Mister Pomeroy. Call for Mister Pomeroy!"

. . . . . .

The band over Pomeroy's mouth was removed. A paper cup was raised to his lips and he drank the liquid it contained. He was extremely thirsty and still frightfully nauseated. He did not like the taste of the beverage but its effects were pleasant. It quieted those whirling thoughts of his, made him drowsy, sent him to sleep again.

It must have been a potent dram, for the next time he awoke the sun had gone and electric lights flashed at him from passing cars. He was still traveling, then. Also, he was still bound, hand and foot, still nauseated. He kept very quiet for a long time. Some one was sitting beside him. The cap was still far down over his eyes. After another interval he moved his head with great caution, and by rubbing it against the back of the car partly released an eye from the shadow of the visor. He was traveling in a sedan. The person beside him was a man—a large and very silent man. He was either asleep or deep in thought.

A passing car threw the glare of its headlights on three figures in the front seat—the man at the wheel, a second man, and a woman sitting between them. Pomeroy recognized the orange quill in the close-fitting hat. The girl he had tried to help, the girl whose frightened look over his shoulder he had noted even in the instant when he had drawn off her shoe.

The girl had been planted there to occupy him and distract his attention while his captors crept up on him from the rear. But who the devil were his captors? Who would profit by such an outrage? No one he could think of. Yet the moving spirits in this affair must be men who had learned his habits and who had heard about his daily walk in that lonely region. So far as he knew he had no enemy capable of such an attack.

He had a hazy memory of being moved once or twice, of having had that infernal band taken off his mouth and replaced, of having been given an occasional drink in the interval, of having his fetters changed—not too roughly. There seemed no wish to torture him. But it was all too much for him now. He thought of his waiting partners, groaned, and he drifted off again.

When he opened his eyes the next time some one was busy untying the bands around his ankles. The sedan was still moving, but more slowly. Soon it stopped and he heard the rhythmic beat of waves. His brain felt clearer. He kept his eyes closed and remained very still. Perhaps now he would get some inkling of what this was all about. It was up to him to get back to New York at the first possible moment.

"Hey, stan' up!" The voice held authority, but it was brisk rather than disagreeable. Simultaneously Pomeroy's shoulders were grasped and he was helped to rise. The mouth band had not been replaced. His hands were still bound and his feet might as well have been. They were numb, and almost useless. He stumbled and would have fallen but for the supporting hands under his arms.

"Take it easy, big boy," said the voice. "If you start somepin' we'll sure use the gag again."

Another voice spoke—a masculine voice, well modulated and agreeable, the voice of an educated man.

"Better be good," it advised pleasantly. "It won't get you anywhere to put up a fight. We're a long way from New York, and it's two o'clock in the morning, and this is a lonely region."

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

A FRAMED ALIBI.

"You fellows invariably overlook something," Prof. Fordney said to "Slippery" Willie Washburn. "It makes little difference if your two friends do swear you were playing cards with them miles away at the time of the Archer robbery. This cigaret case, found near the scene, which you deny owning, bears your fingerprints!"

"Slippery" paled and fervently hoped his pals had left no loophole in his framed alibi and that they wouldn't weaken.

Later the professor saw Washburn's two confederates and questioned them separately. Then, when jointly confronted with the fact that they had given different answers as to the kind of hat, tie, and suit Willie wore the evening in question he produced the cigaret case of colored, embossed Florentine leather.

Washburn dropped that in making his getaway," Fordney continued, "and when I confronted him with it he confessed so . . ."

"Why! The dirty so-and-so!" they yelled in unison. "Here we jam ourselves framing an alibi for him and he confesses."

When Fordney later told "Slippery" what his two pals said he confessed.

The criminologist intensely disliked this method of obtaining a confession, but, morally certain that Washburn was guilty, he felt justified.

"Good work, Joe," later complimented Inspector Kelley. "Did that mug Washburn really drop his cigaret case near Archer's house?"

Flustered Cook Annoys Guests by Her Fussing

BY MARY MEADE.

"No, I won't fuss for you at all," promises the hostess as she invites us for dinner. But when we arrive upon the scene and see her rushing back and forth to the kitchen between snatches of conversation with us, and watching the clock every little while, it gives us a most uncomfortable feeling. She not only has fussed, but she's still fussing.

And just compare this confused, moist browed hostess with the opposite type. Calm, looking cool as a lettuce leaf, she greets us and up to the time for piling steaming mounds of food onto platters for their final decoration with bits of parsley and sprinkles of paprika she doesn't appear to have a care in the world.

You've probably heard the answer. In fact, there are several answers. One of the favorite solutions to this company dinner problem is a refrigerator cake all arranged the day before and waiting in its cool chamber to be cut at the proper time.

So let's shift the scenes to the day before. You glance at your recipe and perhaps the first item to catch your eye is "lady fingers." But that doesn't mean you must leave the warmth of your kitchen to search for the fingers. You can either use strips of sponge cake [even when it's a day or two old it will do] or you can manufacture your own lady fingers. Here's how:

LADY FINGERS.

3 egg whites
1-3 cup powdered sugar
2 egg yolks
1-3 cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla

Beat the whites of eggs until stiff. Sprinkle in the sugar a little at a time, beating all the while. Beat the yolks until thick, and fold into the whites, together with the flavoring. Fold in the salt and flour sifted together, and with a pastry bag and tube shape the mixture into fingers one inch wide and a little over four inches long. This should be done on an unbuttered paper laid over a baking sheet, with the fingers several inches apart. Sift powdered sugar over the fingers and bake from 8 to 10 minutes in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.].

ORANGE REFRIGERATOR PUDDING.

1-3 teaspoon grated lemon rind
5 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon orange rind
½ cup orange juice
¼ teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons chopped blanched almonds
Lady fingers or sponge cake

Combine the fruit juices, grated rind, vanilla, almonds, and condensed milk. Line a mold with oiled paper and place in the bottom a layer of lady fingers. Cover with the orange mixture, add another layer of the lady fingers and orange, and continue until the mixture is used, topping with the lady fingers. Let stand in a refrigerator for 24 hours. Turn out on a platter and slice.

FRENCH CREAM PUDDING.

½ pound vanilla wafers
½ cup soft butter
2 eggs
1 cup confectioners' sugar
¾ cup black walnut meats
¾ cup maraschino cherries
1 cup whipping cream

Grind the vanilla wafers fine in a food chopper and place one-half of the crumbs in the bottom of a buttered pan. Cream together the butter, sugar, and eggs, and spread over the wafers. Then whip the cream and combine it with the finely chopped nut meats and cherries. Spread this mixture over the first two layers, top with the remainder of the cookie crumbs, and let stand in the refrigerator for 24 hours. Cut in squares to serve.

A simple but delicious dessert is concocted of graham crackers. Spread graham crackers with sweetened whipped cream, arranging three or four in sandwich fashion for each diner. Let stand over night in the refrigerator. Serve with fudge sauce.

A FRIEND IN NEED

Would Like Clothes.

"Dear Miss Brown: I am a young girl, 17 years old, trying to find work. As one of a large family, I find it quite impossible to purchase clothing. I would be more than appreciative if one of your readers could pass on to me some dresses, size 14 or 16, and shoes, size 4½. Decent apparel would be a great help to me in securing a position, I know. M. W."

Opera Benefit Tonight to Be Gala Occasion

Many Dinner Parties Will Precede Show.

the children who attend the sale. The tree will be ornamented with gayly wrapped parcels, labeled with the price, twenty-five cents, fifty cents or a dollar, so a youngster can buy whichever suits his pocketbook. For the older patrons there will be the usual lovely things that are on sale at the exchange and many new ones.

Needlework Guild Will Meet Today.

An interesting event on today's calendar to those ambitious and painstaking women who belong to the Needlework and Textile guild of the Art institute is the annual meeting of the guild to be held at 3 o'clock at Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift's handsome residence at 1551 Astor street. Tea will be served and there will be samples of needlework as suggestions for Christmas gifts on display.

—Mrs. Eames MacVeagh and Mrs. Jefferson Jackson will pour this afternoon at the tea that is to follow the lecture Mme. Elizabeth de Gramont is to give before Le Cercle Français meeting in the Fine Arts building. Mme. Gramont's subject will be "Chateaux et la Vie de Chateaux en France.". This evening Mrs. Welch Dickinson will be the distinguished visitor's hostess at dinner, taking her guests afterwards to the operas intimes.

Pick Members of Hockey Team.

At the luncheon that the Alumnæ association of Mount Vernon seminary is having today at L'Aiglon restaurant the young women attending are supposed to discuss ways and means of "putting over" a second-hand book sale, but undoubtedly a good bit of the conversation will be filled with congratulations to Miss Marjorie Street, who returned Sunday night from the hockey tryouts at Iowa City with the happy news that she has been chosen to play left wing on the midwest team in the national women's field hockey tournament to be held at Dyche stadium over Thanksgiving week-end.

To celebrate Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Wiley's silver wedding today, Mrs. Julius T. Benedict, Mrs. Wiley's sister-in-law, has invited about thirty of the Wileys' closest friends and members of their wedding party to her home tonight to dinner. Her fifteen year old twins, Jack and Dorothy, are going through a mock wedding ceremony, assisted by the Misses Virginia and Peggy Wiley, the Stanley Wileys' daughters, who have been busy for several days planning other things to add to the evening's fun.

Among those who will be at the dinner are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McNally, at whose wedding the Wileys' engagement was announced; the Allen Ripleys, Mrs. Theodore Rich, Clarence Wiley, Mrs. Charles Pierce, and Wilbur McWhinney.

A wire from Mrs. Philip Maher announced the birth of a son, Jeremy Foster, to Lieut. Commander and Mrs. Festus Foster of Washington, D. C., yesterday morning. Mrs. Maher, the former Madeleine Michelson, went to Washington ten days ago to visit her sister, Mrs. Foster, the former Beatrice Michelson.

Mrs. Borland Returns Home.

"The best part of going away is coming home," commented Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland yesterday after she had unpacked her bags and said "How do you do?" to a half dozen of her friends. Late Sunday Mrs. Borland arrived at home after a glorious two months' holiday abroad with two of her daughters, Beatrice and Martha.

Mrs. Borland and Beatrice really made the crossing to start Martha at Mlle. Bertrand's school in Paris, where she is topping off her three years at Dobbs Ferry. From Paris Mrs. Borland and her older daughter traveled down to Madrid, where Beatrice is now taking a two months' visitors' Spanish course at the University of Madrid. After she completes this on Dec. 15 she will return to Paris to join her sister and then the two of them will go to the Swiss Alps for Christmas.

Returning on the same boat . . . the S. S. Washington . . . with Mrs. Borland were the Sterling Mortons, who have completed a seven weeks' trip to the near east. They were greeted at the New York dock by their daughter, Suzette, who is a student this year at Bryn Mawr. After a reunion week-end in New York, Mr. and Mrs. Morton will arrive home today.

Mrs. Williamson to Take World Tour.

Mrs. Charles Spencer Williamson will realize a lifelong ambition this week when she sets off on a round the world trip that will take her away from Chicago for at least six months. Mrs. Williamson will sail from San Francisco Dec. 1, visit Honolulu, Japan, China, the Philippines, India, Palestine, and spend several weeks in Europe, returning home next May.

There is more than mere pleasure back of the trip, for Mrs. Williamson plans to inspect personally the outstanding missionary projects of the Episcopal church. As president of the Chicago Episcopal auxiliary, Mrs. Williamson has long been interested in missionary work and now just before her departure comes the news that she has been elevated to the presidency of the Midwest auxiliary of her church.

The Ralph Hubbarts made a hasty departure for New York Saturday morning on a sad mission. They had just heard of an automobile accident in which their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Schweizer of Rye, were injured. Mr. Schweizer, who always was known as Jack, died early Sunday morning and the former Mattiebelle Hubbart is in a very serious condition in the New Rochelle hospital.

After the enthusiastic response accorded Dr. Horace J. Bridges' lecture last Tuesday morning at the Fortnightly there is certain to be a large audience to hear him at 11 o'clock this morning. His talk will be a review of Shaw's "Black Girl in Search of God."

The members of the board of the Northwestern settlement are taking several of their friends for luncheon this noon to the settlement house at 1,00 Augusta street to show them the part the settlement plays in the life of the city. During the luncheon they will tell them of the plans for the International ball to be held Dec. 2 at the Congress.

Elizabeth Bolles Bride Tonight.

At 8:30 o'clock tonight in the Fort Sheridan chapel Miss Elizabeth Lanehart Bolles, daughter of Brig. Gen. Frank C. Bolles and Mrs. Bolles, will become the bride of Lieut. Robert A. Hewitt II., son of Mrs. Robert B. Hewitt of Kansas City. Following the ceremony, which will be read by the Rev. de Wolfe of Kansas City, there will be a reception at the Officers' club.

The bride will be attended by her sister, Miss Henrietta Bolles, as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Ann Foster, Miss Dorothy Putnam, and Miss Kathryne Robinson, daughter of Senator Arthur A. Robinson of Indiana.

The bridegroom will be attended by Lieut. Frederick W. Ellery as best man, and ushers will be Lieut. Field H. Tapping, Lieut. John G. Ondrick, Lieut. Walter A. Downing, Lieut. Dwight B. Johnson, Lieut. John C. McCawley, and Lieut. Samuel E. Otto.

Immediately following the reception Lieut. Hewitt and his bride will leave on a ten days' wedding trip. They will make their home at Fort Sheridan.

Among the out of town relatives here for the wedding and the bridal dinner, which was given last night by Gen. and Mrs. Bolles in their Fort Sheridan house, were the bridegroom's mother and grandmother, Mrs. John L. Brown, also of Kansas City, and Mr. and Mrs. Townsend B. Pettit of Garden City, Long Island, and their son, Townsend Jr., and Mrs. Louis N. Lanehart of Hempstead, Long Island, relatives of the bride.

Feb. 10 is the date set by Miss Imogene Bucklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vail R. Bucklin, for her marriage to Frederic Marshall Hurd. The ceremony will take place at St. Chrysostom's church in the afternoon, but none of the other details are settled yet.

Virginia Offers "Spiced" Flower for Quilt Block

Spiced Pinks.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The delicate little pink found in every old fashioned Virginia garden inspired this quilt pattern which originated, by the way, in that southern state. It's a dainty design and makes up most effectively in combinations of plain pink and pink prints.

For a quilt pattern in this design send 5 cents in coin or stamps to Nancy Cabot, the Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

Instability of Emotions Trait of Adolescence

Level of Physical Energy Is Also Uneven.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Yesterday's article about the adolescent had to do with his need of freedom, or independence, or emancipation—whichever you choose to call it.

Today we're going to talk about another, a second phase of adolescence. This is one which worries parents very much because they often think it denotes lack of character and so is an ill omen for their children's future. If they only recognized it as a quite general characteristic of adolescence I think it would worry them less.

The quality I mean is an unevenness, a lack of stability. How does this show itself, you might naturally ask. The answer is, not in one way but in a number of ways. But not necessarily in all these ways in one boy or girl.

Observations not only in the family setting but in the behavior clinics have shown that young boys and girls show instability in the following ways:

They are much more emotional than they were before in earlier childhood or will be later, and the expression of their extreme emotion is not apt to be controlled. They are ecstatically happy or very "low," they "adore" this and "hate" that, they desire intensely and are intensely disappointed. There is then unevenness or lack of stability in emotion.

Next, adolescents are uneven in the amount of energy they seem to have—or in the way they use it. Burst of great exertion in work or athletics or dances or shopping may alternate with lassitude—or we may call it laziness. School work is apt to suffer or family chores.

And there is the familiar flitting from one interest to another, from this enthusiasm to that. Today's desire may not be tomorrow's even the ambition of this week may be discarded next. And, although some young people as early as high school years know what their life work is to be, parents must not worry if their boy or girl shifts his aim or hers several times before coming of age or doesn't even know what he wants to be then. All you can do in this respect is your best, which is to give him opportunities and have faith.

Film Magnate Likes Chases in Movie Shows

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Sam Bischoff, one of the powers at Warner-First National, was discussing with Director Mervyn Leroy the latter's next picture assignment, "Heat Lightning."

"Well, that's one picture in which I do not have to have a chase," Leroy said.

Bischoff: "O, but we want a chase."

Leroy: "Naw, as far as I'm concerned, the chase is out."

Bischoff [placatingly]: "All right, let's have a mental chase."

Who should be manipulating a microphone booth at Paramount lot but Cliff Bergere, veteran auto racer. He's been on this job since last July but he's been in the movies, off and on for more than ten years, starting as a stunt man, and the first to do changes from trains and racing automobiles to airplanes.

"This is a good steady business, safest I've been in," he says. Bergere, who was married in 1927, and who has finished six Indianapolis auto races, says he is out of auto racing except at Indianapolis, "where the racing is a science and not a stunt. It's the only track in the world I will race on."

Bergere attributes his good luck [in not having had his neck broken] to two good luck items: "A tiny bit of sock from his baby niece and a rabbit's foot which never got out of his pocket since his wife gave it to him after their wedding.

Women Visit Evangeline Home of Salvation Army

Members of the women's division of the Salvation Army visited Evangeline residence, 51 West Delaware place, yesterday for luncheon, the first of a series of tours they will make of the Army institutions to study the various branches of social service work. The tour, according to Mrs. Charles K. Corsant, president of the division, is being taken to determine how the division may become more helpful. Young women who live at the Evangeline residence served the luncheon yesterday. The women's division raises funds each year to finance the Women's Home and Hospital and the Women's Emergency lodge.

Jewish Women Support Chanukah Festival Plans

Plans for the active participation of Jewish organizations of women in the city on the second all-Chicago Chanukah festival, to be staged Dec. 13 and 14 at the Chicago Civic Opera house were made yesterday at a gathering of delegates at the Covenant club. Isaac Van Grove, directing genius of both the original festival held at the Chicago Stadium last December and the "Romance of a People" spectacle presented in connection with A Century of Progress, addressed the meeting. He is a member of the consulting staff for the impending performances, which will depict the history of the celebration of the Feast of Lights, ancient Jewish fête.

Stuffed Dolls Welcomed to Toy Counters

Many Clever Patterns Are Available.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

If you care to dwell sentimentally in your past, you can recapture a thrill in a shop where they are doing everything they can to push stuffed dolls and animals, the kind you took to bed with you, the doll and animals that held your childish affections much longer than any wax French doll.

Comfortable affairs that helped that wavering courage in the dark, the quaint dollies that snuggled comfortably and so companionably close to your ribs when the lights were out and you had finally wangled the last drink of water out of your protesting parents.

In this shop you can buy patterns, stamped and ready for stuffings, the all-cloth dolls that every child adores . . . you can find a small dumpling with rosy cheeks, rosier knees and adorable chintz frocks and frilled organdy bonnets all ready for the needle and shears.

You can make them in no time and have a grand time. Making them will be so much fun that you will probably supply all the kids you know with these 1933 versions. Then there is a small Topsy and her little black brother complete with rags and tatters, even the patches on the panties.

A cuddly baby doll is another stuffed heart breaker, and for the animal lovers there is a turtle made of printed chintz that might have wandered in from any dream sea . . . an engaging rascal of a printed cotton daschund . . . a stuffed, black alley cat, the long legged gay dog also of printed cotton.

But the pair that will make any child's eyes pop are the gingerbread man and his dog . . . a pair made of true gingerbread brown cotton cut and sewed to resemble the fragrant spicy models that granny cut with a cooky cutter and dispensed with a glass of milk to home coming hungry youngsters.

Clara's Liquid Diet Eliminates Excess Weight in Reducing Plan

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. — [Special.]—Celery juice, as said yesterday, began Clara Bow's reducing day under the direction of Mabel Burritt, who in two months got Clara's weight down from 135 to 118 pounds. This hot celery juice was made by stewing celery stalks and straining and salting to taste, and was recommended for laxative purposes chiefly and intestinal tract cleansing.

The first four days' diet was mostly liquid, except for a moderate meal at night consisting of fish or white fowl meat or vegetable plate. Every two hours during the day she was allowed some juice, as tomato, spinach juice, grapefruit. A little later in the course, still with one meal a day on the program, Clara drank orange juice into which an egg yolk was dropped. One such glass every couple of hours sufficed until dinner time. If more food was needed a light salad in the afternoon was allowed, after which a one plate dinner was the rule.

Grated carrot once a day was on the bill, as a cleansing agent, as well as for its food value. Honey was used as a sweetener, because it does not cause fermentation. Honey and lemon constituted salad dressing for the grated carrot and lettuce salad, say, or any of the other raw vegetable salads ordered. Raw beets, ground, and spinach, shredded fine, were served frequently. And only 100 per cent whole wheat bread was allowed.

Clara had been a heavy meat eater, and, like most heavy meat eaters, consumed starchy breads and vegetables. Once in a while Mrs. Burritt allowed her a rare steak for its juice, but Clara was permitted only to chew a while on the fibers, not consume the meat. Occasionally a baked potato was included, but mostly it was salads and vegetables, raw if possible. The average person, Mrs. Burritt claims, doesn't chew meat enough. Unchewed, it lies in the intestinal tract and ferments.

In a couple of weeks Clara was eating a light lunch and a light dinner. In the meantime she was doing stretching exercises daily after having been taught to breathe properly. After exercises of stretching the body full length on the floor, standing and stretching, walking and stretching, hot epsom salts baths followed by cold showers completed the program.

Records Prove Divorce Causes Are Much Alike

BY DORIS BLAKE.

HOLLYWOOD. — [Special.] — Marriage is pretty much the same the country over. Or, rather, reasons for making an exit from the scenes of domestic strife are much the same. Witness the court complaints of just one day out in this neck of the woods:

"Every so often Howard Johnson would pack up his clothes and leave home, only to return later and seek a reconciliation. Mrs. Johnson told Superior Court Judge Valentine she was tired of this continuous packing up and returning."

After one month and thirteen days of married life the Dayses troubles ended up in court. The wife refused to do any work. When the husband suggested that she help him about the house she got mad and told him she would slave for no man. "In her anger," the report reads, "Mrs. Day kicked her husband in the back, where he had been injured some time before, and practically knocked him out."

Another local couple who brought their troubles to court were the Browns. Mrs. Brown was employed as a school teacher. Her husband is manager of a local bank.

"Although my success was dependent upon my making certain contacts," testified Mr. Brown," my wife refused to accompany me socially or aid me in my business relations." Mr. Brown further accused his wife of taking no interest in his golfing, although he said it was often necessary for him to play golf in making needed contacts.

Judge Valentine ruled, in effect, that if a man must play golf and establish social contacts in order to further his business interests, it is dependent upon his wife to lend her encouragement to these activities.

And so it goes. These, you understand, are not Hollywood movie couples, just plain folk who can't seem to make the "silver wedding grade."

Say the judges who handle many of the local divorce cases: "It isn't marriage. It isn't the times. It's the terrific moral slack the country over that's at fault."

COOKING SCHOOL OPENS TODAY ON THE NORTH SIDE

Mrs. Chitwood's Kitchen Ready for Women.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

The model kitchen which today will become the laboratory for concocting dining table delicacies before the eyes of 5,000 women was installed yesterday on the stage of the Aragon ballroom at 1100 Lawrence avenue. This afternoon, the third week of THE TRIBUNE'S annual school of cookery—the north side week—will open with a fanfare of music that will introduce Mrs. Ida M. Chitwood, widely known food expert, to north side housewives. The school will be held daily in the Aragon, ending on Friday.

It will be like a homecoming to Mrs. Chitwood, for this is her third school for north side women. The women will be greeted also by Mary Meade, TRIBUNE cooking editor. Men who are responsible for fine food in three Chicago hotels will be on the stage in person, one each day of the school. Today, Erik Dahlberg, maitre d'hotel of the Drake, will conduct a demonstration.

Doors Open at 10 a. m.

The doors will be open at 10 a. m. each day to accommodate early comers. The sessions start at 12:30 with community singing and entertainment. At 1 o'clock Mrs. Chitwood will be introduced by Miss Meade, and her lecture will follow, during which she will make many a tempting dish in the model kitchen. An intermission of entertainment will follow and then Mrs. Chitwood will resume her demonstration.

A leading event in the entertainment features of today's program will be the appearance of the Metropolitan Opera singer, Reinald Werrenrath. He is at present starring in "Music in the Air" at the Erlanger theater.

Other talent to be heard today will include Richard Cole's orchestra of the Empire room in the Palmer house, which is a broadcast feature of W-G-N. Harry Froster Welch, famous for his "one man band," will appear, as will Julian Stripe, who was selected as the best man singer in the 1933 Chicagoland Music festival.

Grocerettes Start Program.

The Grocerettes, Miss Lorraine Nevens and Miss Lois Grider, will open the program, being introduced by Phil Maxwell, master of ceremonies. The community singing will be led by Richard De Young, with Elsie Barge at the piano. Dancers from the Bett Jones School of Dancing are to perform. A short talk will be given by Frances Peck, who is home economics expert for H. J. Heinz company.

TRIBUNE women writers will be presented each day. They will give brief talks. Today Rhea Seeger, fashion editor, and Ruth De Young, assistant to the society editor, will speak.

Mrs. Chitwood, who had planned not to let out any secrets about her dishes ahead of time, reluctantly divulged that today she will make a new sweet potato dish, which includes the use of lemons and prunes.

"And I'm going to fix ham, the way the Canadians like it, and egg foo yong, even to the gravy," she added. "And my garden sandwich loaf. Well, we'll wait till tomorrow to give that secret away."

AUTO TRADE BODY BACKS PLAN FOR SUPERHIGHWAY

Dealers Cite Benefits of Project.

BY HAL FOUST.

The Chicago Automobile Trade association, through its board of directors, yesterday afternoon indorsed the elevated highway system proposed for Chicago. The motor car dealers recognized that they, with the gasoline and oil industry, will receive a special benefit from the improvement in addition to the general benefits of economical and safe transportation which will be enjoyed by the public at large.

These special benefits were cited in a report on a two year study of Chicago's traffic by Dr. Miller McClintock, head of the Harvard university traffic research bureau. His report concerns the relationship of the revenue from license fees and from the motor fuel excise with superhighway construction.

To Stimulate Auto Ownership.

"Improved facility and economy of operation over major routes in the Chicago area," reads an excerpt from this report, "will unquestionably stimulate the ownership and operation of automobiles. This will result in increased returns from automobile taxation and user revenue and should give a very generous return upon the investment."

"In addition to our special interest as automobile dealers," said Lafayette Markle, president of the Automobile Trade association, "we are interested as is the rest of the public in the relief of unemployment which will result from the construction work and in the relief from the hazards and wasteful delays of congestion when the project is completed."

The subject of elevated highways first came before the motor car dealers of Cook county last week at a meeting on rules and codes for the conduct of business under the NRA. Hugh Wehmeier, Pontiac distributor, made a motion that the trade should support the elevated highway system as a measure as important as the NRA as a business stimulant. The motion was seconded by Charles Gambill, Hupmobile distributor, and was approved unanimously.

Alderman Tells of Study.

At the City club yesterday afternoon Ald. John A. Massen, chairman of the city council traffic committee, told of the six years' study by his committee, assisted by Dr. McClintock, which resulted in the elevated highway recommendations.

"The state, the city, and the county," he said, "are now engaged on engineering and financial details and in all likelihood at least one section will be placed under construction this winter. Secretary of Interior Ickes, in an interview at Washington, indicated that the government will look kindly upon an application for a grant."

In the meantime a staff of 202 men started another traffic survey yesterday to bring the city's information about its vehicular movements up to date.

W. W. WILLITS FILES CROSSBILL TO WIFE'S SUIT

John McGregor Willits, son of Ward W. Willits, president of a railway supply company, filed a crossbill yesterday in the Superior court to the bill for divorce filed a year ago by Mrs. Margaret Liggett Willits, 890 Roslyn circle, Highland Park.

Willits charges that his wife deserted him on Sept. 12, 1932, and asks the custody of two children, Jane, 6 years old, and Ann, 2. Mrs. Willits is the daughter of John W. Liggett of New York, an official of the drug store chain.

In her divorce bill Mrs. Willits charged her husband with several instances of cruelty, including one occasion on which she charged that he beat her at a party at the Exmoor Country club. He first signed a stipulation that he would not contest the divorce, but withdrew it recently.

We have put

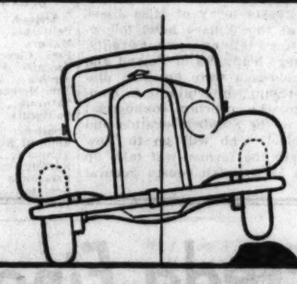
changing your ride to a glide

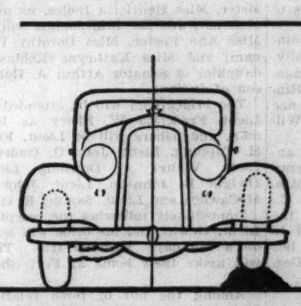
People have expected something spectacular to celebrate our 25th Anniversary, and they will not be disappointed. Our 1934 cars are not the 1933 cars improved; they are the result of a far-reaching change in automobile design. To explain this very technical advance in a thoroughly non-technical fashion, we invite you to glance at the pictures below.

HOW KNEE-ACTION WHEELS WORK



Your present car is stiff-legged. Stiff front springs are rigidly joined by an I-beam front axle. So when you hit a bump the front of the car bounces, the rear pitches, and you are jarred.

See how serenely a man meets a bump. One knee bends easily, lifting its leg. The other leg is not affected; equilibrium is undisturbed. The knee, not the body, takes the jar.



Now, 1934—no more I-beam axle, no stiff springs. The wheel, flexibly mounted on its own soft spring rises and falls like a knee to soak up the shocks, while the car glides on.

JUST WHY THEY GIVE YOU THE GLIDING RIDE

A NEW front wheel assembly, involving a separate soft spring attached to each wheel, abolishes the I-beam axle and the old front springs. Each wheel can step over a bump or a hole without communicating jar to the car or to the passengers in it.

For more than two years, in its Laboratories and on its Proving Ground, General Motors has been at work pioneering the principle of these Knee-Action Wheels. No motoring improvement has ever been more thoroughly tested and proved.

The difference in comfort produced by Knee-Action Wheels, especially on the back seat, is beyond description. There is smoothness at high speeds and a steadiness and clinging to the road almost unbelievable.

Safety is much increased—the life of the car extended. There is no tramp of wheels on the road, no jerk on the steering wheel. Shake and shimmy are banished. Except for setting the course, your hands are at rest.

Have you watched a bird glide smoothly through the calm of a summer day? You may now travel almost as smoothly. With the ups-and-downs absorbed by Knee-Action Wheels, with drafts abolished by Fisher No-Draft Ventilation, the motor ride of yesterday is gone. Our cars of 1934 will glide.

U. S. THREATENS TO BOYCOTT OLYMPIC GAMES

U. S. C. PLAYERS LEAVE TONIGHT FOR NOTRE DAME

Report Three Stars on the Shelf.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 20.—A Southern California football squad of full numerical strength, but in dubious physical shape in several front rank positions, tonight was packing to shove off for South Bend, where the Trojans hope to make it three straight over Notre Dame, and even the intersectional series next Saturday. The 34 Trojans will depart with as many more coaches, managers, trainers, physicians, and faculty companions, tomorrow night.

The party will reach Chicago Friday morning and will go to Stagg field immediately for practice.

Tackles Are Ailing.

Ailing first stringers are Bob Erskine, tackle, with a collapsible right knee, who may not play at all Saturday; Huesten Harper, 220 pound tackle, who sustained an injury to the left shoulder in last Saturday's Oregon game, and Homer Griffith, 195 pound alternate quarter and full back, who was not used at all last week against Oregon because of a bad knee and charleyhorse carried over from the Stanford contest of Nov. 11.

Kenneth Bright, who has played both half back and tackle, may fill in for Erskine.

Aubrey Devine, the former Iowa quarter back, who is Howard Jones' main assistant in preparation for the annual Notre Dame game, was back on the Southern California campus this afternoon, having prepared the reserve team with a repertoire of plays to demonstrate for the varsity. Devine scouted Notre Dame in its last four games.

It is his opinion that Saturday's game will be as hard or harder than any of the Trojans' tests so far this season.

Series Stands 4-3.

If Southern California wins on Saturday the Trojans and Notre Dame will be even in their series. Notre Dame has won four and Southern California three. Notre Dame has accumulated 13 touchdowns and 88 points in the seven games, and Southern California scored 13 touchdowns, one field goal, and 86 points.

"STOP WARBURTON!" CRY.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The enforced rest from hard work during the last two weeks worked out so well that Coach Hunk Anderson ordered the Notre Dame regulars to rest this afternoon, although they play Southern California here Saturday.

The entire Notre Dame defense will be built to stop Irvine [Cotton] Warburton, the Trojan quarter back, it was indicated in today's blackboard drill. Warburton has been the great individual star of Southern California to date, returning punts and breaking away from scrimmage for many long gains.

He's Fast and Elusive.

"He can come to a dead stop and then start off at top speed in another direction," Anderson told the players. "He can be apparently stopped at the line of scrimmage and then break loose for long gains." Anderson warned the secondary men never to relax when Warburton has the ball, but to tackle him at any time the whistle blows.

"Southern California will not run over us," Anderson told newspaper men today. "They are too strong for us, even if they let down a little, because they have speed, weight, experience, and confidence. But we'll give them a real battle from start to finish."

Reach Tackling Peak.

The Irish all reported in good condition today, but those who played against Northwestern were obviously in need of rest for their bumps and bruises. Anderson's judgment in giving them rest was confirmed by John Nicholson, Irish track coach, who is a student of physical condition.

Notre Dame's tackling against Northwestern was the most vicious and effective it has been in any game this season and the Irish had only one tackling drill in the two weeks prior to that game.

A crowd of 40,000 persons is expected for Saturday's game. Even fans who do not figure Notre Dame to have a great chance of winning are coming to see such Trojan stars as Warburton, Bob McNeish, who scored the first touchdown against Notre Dame last year; Aaron Rosenberg, one of the country's outstanding guards, and Capt. Ford Palmer at end.

It will be the last home game for the following nine Notre Dame regulars: Devore, Roach, Krause, Wunsch, Leonard, Gorman, Lukats, Brancheau, and Banas.

A. A. U. WARNS GERMANY NOT TO BAR JEWS

Rename Brundage for President.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 20.—(AP)—The Amateur Athletic union, sports governing body of the United States, today warned Germany that unless restrictions on Jewish participation in the 1936 Olympic games at Berlin are rescinded the United States will not send a team to the 11th Olympiad.

By an almost unanimous vote the national convention of the association adopted a resolution setting forth its attitude and asked that American delegates to the International Olympic committee apprise that committee and the German Olympic body of its stand.

A guarantee of no discrimination against Jews, given by the German delegation to the last International Olympic committee session, has been violated, the resolution said, "if not by direct restriction, certainly indirectly by the withdrawal from them of the rights of German citizenship and of a reasonable opportunity to train, prepare for and take part in sports competition in general and in the Olympic games in particular."

Ends In Conciliation.

Unless this condition is changed, "in fact as well as in theory both to permit and encourage German athletes of Jewish faith or heritage to train, prepare for and participate in the Olympic games of 1936," neither the American Olympic association nor the members thereof . . . will certify any athlete of the United States of America for competition in the Olympic games at Berlin."

The resolution ended in a note of conciliation, stating that it was not prepared "as one of threat or bitterness," but there was little mistaking the temper of the delegates as they gave a ringing chorus of "ayes" when the question was put to a vote.

The resolution was prepared by the executive committee in a session lasting well into the morning hours and was presented by Gustavus Town Kirby, a former president of the union.

Only One Objector.

Only one voice was raised in dissent, that of Dietrich Wortmann, of the German-American Athletic club of New York. Wortmann denied Jews were being excluded from athletic activity in Berlin or elsewhere in Germany, but said he would favor the resolution if the threat of withdrawal from the games be deleted. He made no motion to that effect, however, and the resolution was passed as presented.

Albert J. Whelte of Baltimore, president of the South Atlantic association; Charles L. Ornstein of the Jewish Welfare board and a member of the A. A. U. executive committee, and Ted Canty of Chicago spoke for the motion.

The next step will be presentation of the resolution to the American Olympic association, which meets in Washington Wednesday. The feeling tonight was that the Olympic organization would follow the trail blazed by the A. A. U.

Brundage Is Renominated.

Avery Brundage of Chicago, was unanimously renominated tonight for his sixth term as president. The action was taken at a conference of delegates after the annual dinner. Nomination in the caucus, which is attended by all delegates, is tantamount to election, which will be held formally tomorrow.

Brundage had sought to relinquish the office, but was drafted as the popular choice. In serving for five years, Brundage had exceeded the longest previous term of any head of the organization. A prominent athlete in his undergraduate days at the University of Illinois, and later with the Chicago Athletic club, Brundage is now a Chicago contractor.

The convention adopted the report of its track and field committee urging retention of the metric system in the running events for its track and field championships.

Seat Indians Delegates.

The matter will not be finally disposed of, however, until the legislative committee brings in its adverse report on the admendment which would return the championship events to the yardage basis, but the temper of the convention was clearly shown, as it was in the unanimous report of the track and field committee.

A hot fight developed at the outset of the first session over the right of the Indiana-Kentucky association delegates, led by Paul R. Jordan, to be certified, but a special committee reported they had been elected under the proper procedure and the convention voted to seat them.

The record committee recommended 140 records in track and field, swimming, and gymnastics for recognition and disallowed 41 claims. Among the records was the 4:07.6 mile run by Jack Lovelock of New Zealand, in defeating Bill Bonthron of Princeton in the Oxford-Cambridge Princeton-Cornell track meet at Princeton last summer. Bonthron also was credited with a native American record—a new record category—of 4:08.7 for his second place to Lovelock.

Overrule Committee.

The committee's recommendation was upset on only one point, the convention voting to accept a world record for the 110 meters high hurdles of 14.2 seconds, made by Johnny Morriss of Southwestern Louisiana Institute, in the national championship at Chicago July 1.

WILDCATS FIGURE SATURDAY THEIR DAY TO BE GOOD

The ability of Northwestern's Wildcats to stage strong rallies after their defeats this year is the slender thread upon which hangs their chance to halt Michigan's march to the championship Saturday at Dyche stadium.

Following the Iowa licking the Purple came back to outplay Stanford in a scoreless tie and to win from Indiana. Then followed the Ohio defeat and a week later the Wildcats held the strong Minnesota eleven scoreless.

Hope to Get Offense Going.

Efforts to get some semblance of an offense working by Saturday is the task facing the Wildcats this week. The Notre Dame game proved that Northwestern's pony backs are not sturdy enough to penetrate a strong line. The fact that both Olson and Cruice are nursing injuries that will impair their effectiveness Saturday makes the Wildcats' chances all the more forlorn.

Northwestern's one hope to hold the Wolverines in check is Olson's punting. Consequently every effort will be made to get him in shape to take his place in the lineup. Al Kawal is definitely out for the season. His place will be filled Saturday by Al Lind, who played a portion of the Notre Dame game.

18 Seniors in Last Appearance.

Eighteen seniors, 12 of whom are lettermen, will make their final appearance in a Northwestern uniform Saturday. The lettermen who will complete their collegiate careers in the Michigan game are Capt. Jack Heuss and Bill Riley, tackles; Ed Manske, Art Jens, Howard Kostbade, and Vincent Thomas, ends; Ollie Olson, Roy Augustson, Jakie Sullivan, Bill Lehnhardt, Chester Sutton, backs, and Elmer Anderson, guard. Minor lettermen are George Friedman, John Ben Ben, Phil Pearlman, Dick Linehand, and Irv Lansing.

MICHIGAN TO USE PASSES.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—It rained passes on Ferry field this afternoon as the Michigan coaching staff worked overtime trying to get the Wolverines' overhead attack clicking. The nature of the workout was a give away concerning the respect held here for the Northwestern defense against running plays.

Coach Jack Blott told the staff today that the Wildcats are a stubborn lot so far as giving ground before a running attack is concerned, and the consensus therefore must have been that Bill Renner and his passing assistants in the back field would have to do a lot of pitching Saturday.

The squad was benefited by a clear day and fairly good footing, and consequently got in a long workout. The drill was longer, in fact, than the coaches had intended in view of the condition of some of the boys.

It developed that Michigan may again have a guard problem Saturday. Willard Hildebrand, who started Saturday, was bothered with a neck injury somewhat like that suffered by Wistert in the Iowa game, and was none too spry. John Kowalik, the other guard, stood on the sideline most of the afternoon. Carl Savage, out since the Illinois contest, again took his place in the line and Bill Borgmann was at the other post. The rest of the regulars carried out their assignments.

LANDIS OBSERVES 67TH BIRTHDAY BY PLAYING GOLF

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of organized baseball, observed his 67th birthday yesterday by getting his office work cleaned up in a hurry and then taking on some of his old pals for a game of golf.

"I feel bully," Landis said as he rushed to get out to the golf course. "Now, don't get mixed up with statistics. If you say I'm 67, why let it go at that."

The commissioner was ill for some time with a bad cold, but appeared in fine physical condition yesterday.

THIS COTTON ISN'T SO SOFT

Cotton Warburton, 145 pound back, will lead Southern California's attack against Notre Dame at South Bend Saturday. Warburton played the principal role in the Trojans' ttiumph over the Irish last year, 13 to 0.

Few Things Are as Stale as Last Week's Football Game

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 20.—Nobody knows better than I do how untimely a thoughtful essay on baseball training camps would be just now, but I imagine the citizens must be pretty well crowded with football literature by this time, and moreover this is that blank spot in the sport writer's week when last week's games are stale beer with a sediment of cigaret ashes and next Saturday's games are too far away for lively consideration.

By Monday or Tuesday of next week last Saturday's contests are one with all the other football games ever played, and the chicken track notes which I have saved over with some foggy notion of putting them to some use, though knowing I never will because I never have yet, are so many old mutual tickets.

Good Play Is Stale.

It seemed, at the time, that that remarkable play of Princeton's in the Navy game last Saturday in which Kadlic shot a forward pass to Fairman, who fetched it along until he was tackled and then flipped a lateral to Gary Le Van for a gain of forty yards, would keep fresh until now, but, on turning it over, I find that it gives off the same rather moldy historical whiff that rises when you try to do something with Jack Elder's 95 yard run for a touchdown for Notre Dame against the Army back in 1929 or thereabouts.

A played football game is a caught fish in that it deteriorates quickly and few are worth stuffing and hanging on the wall, and even those which are stuffed and hung on walls, football games and fish, alike, presently become just so much clutter, calling for some one with sufficient gumption to toss them where they can be forgotten.

Stale beer, moldy history, caught fish, a metaphorical triple threat.

Some Dusty Recollections.

It seems to me that Princeton, the most collegiate of the eastern major league football institutions, has more of these glass eyed muskies, with the taxidermist's hay beginning to leak out through their gills, hanging about than any other school. Princeton had all those Poes, mysterious, little, dour, and brave, as I have heard their stories told, and Sam White, the one who recovered those fumbles to run for touchdowns which beat the Harvards.

As the story has come to be told for posterity, White had practiced endlessly in snatching up a football bouncing crazily on its snout, which probably wasn't so at all. And Big Bill Edwards and Hobey Baker and the boys who went through a season all hopped up on the pep meeting slogan, "The team won't be beaten can't be beaten" and came to be referred to, seriously, by educated men, as the team of destiny.

Saturday afternoon, at Princeton, with an hour to pass before the game, I sat in some club, the name of which I wouldn't know, as it had no sign outside, and heard an old football piece which was news to me 22 years after its happening. My host, a recent alumnus who had played on the varsity in his time, had been speaking of coaches.

He left the group a few minutes to get a sandwich, and while he was gone another man said, "That boy was here in a bad time for football. They had some big, tough, brutal coaches around here then who used to batter the kids to ruin just for the pleasure of mauling them. This kid didn't weigh more than 150, but there was one big coach who used to put in his time trampling all over him. He would yell, 'I'm coming through now and you block me.' It was murder."

Speaks Up to Coach.

Our host came back and the conversation became less personal, but in view of the rather well known tyranny which was practiced upon some of the Princeton football teams in other times, I inquired whether there had never been a student, paying to be educated in football as well as other subjects, who had had the nerve and originality to remind a football coach that he wasn't John J. Pershing after all, but just a hired man and not much superior to the boss-janitor.

"We had one like that," he said,

MAROONS TO TRY TO CHANGE GAINS TO TOUCHDOWNS

Prepare for Battle with Dartmouth Saturday.

Saturday's intersectional game at Stagg field, Dartmouth versus the University of Chicago Maroons, brings together two teams anxious to convert recent almost victories into something better.

Dartmouth during the last four weeks has tied Harvard, lost to Yale, 14 to 13, lost to Princeton, 7 to 0, and to Cornell, 7 to 0. Chicago has made 1,100 yards from scrimmage against five Big Ten opponents, with only one touchdown to show for it.

The game will draw Dartmouth men from several hundred miles around Chicago for a two day reunion celebration, while the Maroons have designated Saturday as homecoming day.

Social Events Planned.

There has been no football homecoming on the Midway for nearly a decade, but Wayne Rapp, Maroon guard, who was elected senior class president two weeks ago, announced a renewal of the custom and has arranged a dance, a tea, and various other events for the week-end.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy gave his squad a light workout yesterday, but announced that today he will "get out his gun." He means this literally as well as figuratively, since he proposes to bring a starter's gun to the practice to help correct the timing of the blockers by firing the gun at appropriate moments.

The Maroon squad survived the Illinois game without serious injury, though the three regular tackles, Rice, Bush, and Deem, took some hard bumps and will be favored with a day or two of rest.

Six to Play Last Game.

Six members of the Maroon squad will play their final game Saturday, four backfield men, Capt. Pete Zimmer, Vinson Sahlin, Bob Wallace, and Bill Berg, and two guards, Walter Manelkas and Wayne Rapp.

DARTMOUTH'S DAY OFF.

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Dartmouth football was at a standstill today. Coach Jack Cannell was out of town and no practice was held. The squad will have only two days of work before leaving for Chicago on Thursday. Snow and freezing weather continued to prevail here and the squad may be forced indoors tomorrow.

If Bill Clark recovers from his ankle injury it is expected that the same team will face Chicago that took the field against Cornell.

It was revealed today that George Stangle, a varsity quarter back, played through most of the Cornell game with a badly wrenched back. It was finally necessary to substitute Gene Burnkrant for him in the last quarter. Stangle had played through the Harvard, Yale, and Princeton games.

Norman Rand, the former Salem star, finally got into a major game after warming the bench for four weeks, but his appearance was only for the closing plays of the game.

The team is in good condition and a squad of about 35 players will be taken west.

SNOWBALL HITS COLGATE CENTER; CAUSES FUMBLE

Hamilton, N. Y., Nov. 20.—(AP)—A snowball thrown by a spectator might well have cost Colgate a touchdown and possibly a victory over Syracuse Saturday it developed today as the Red Raiders discussed their 13 to 3 victory.

In the fourth quarter, with Colgate trailing 3 to 0, and with the ball on Syracuse's six yard line, a crowd of spectators gathered on the sidelines. It was third down with goal to go. As Glen Peters, Colgate center, bent over to pass, a spectator threw a snowball.

It struck Peters' left arm, caromed off and showered his face with a spray of snow. He made a bad pass. The ball bobbed along the earth. A Spracuse player and Ike Kern, Colgate half back, leaped for it. Kern got it. Time was taken out and the snowball thrower was sought but not found.

Kern passed to Capt. Anderson for the touchdown on the next play, although the snowball thrower had cost the Raiders a loss of five yards.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

LATERAL PASSES.

MICHIGAN loses, for next fall, eight, probably nine, players who were called the first string of this year's varsity. Minnesota, which held the Wolverines to a scoreless tie, loses only Capt. Oen, at center. Michigan is pretty well fortified with reserves. Minnesota retains most of its regulars, of course, and has, in addition, one of the most promising freshmen squads in the Big Ten.

From present indications conference elevens from which the most will be expected at the start of the 1934 season are Minnesota, Iowa, and Illinois. Both Hawkeyes and Illini have great freshmen prospects, in addition to juniors and seniors remaining.

ROY OEN.

Purdue is hit heavily by graduations, which causes Helper G. W. H., Purdue, '97, to write: "That wrecking of the Boilermaker squad by graduations is just another bear story. With Skoronski passing the ball alternately to Purvis and Carter, we won't need a squad until 1935."

Tom Jones, veteran of the Wisconsin athletic department, sat next to us at the Notre Dame-Northwestern game. He was scouting. Both Notre Dame and Northwestern are on the Badger schedule next fall. Brother Jones confides that the Badger freshmen, as a team, were outplaying the varsity this fall. Naturally he hopes the yearlings will remain eligible scholastically.

Red Grange set the precedent ten years ago of being employed as an "iceman" during vacation to keep in condition. There have been many since. Inky Froschaur and Charles Bennis of the Illini work for the Lincoln, Ill., Ice company in summer. Julius Alfonse, brilliant Gopher sophomore back, is another iceman. His father is in the ice business at Cumberland, Wis. Since 12 years old the boy has helped about the plant. He estimates he has lifted 1,700 tons of ice since he began making deliveries.

As soon as football is over Petoskey, captain-elect; Oliver, Tessmer, Wistert, Regeczi, Borgmann, and Malashevich will report for basketball to Coach Franklin Cappon, also Michigan line coach. Capt. Eveland, Garner, Petrie, and Altenhof of last year's quintet have been graduated.

That Illinois line which has given such a good account of itself all season under the tutelage of Line Coach Justa Lindgren shows how high school players are adapted to other duties in college. Only three of the seven played their present positions in prep school. Frink and Shustek were ends. Bloom was a center. Galbreath was a quarter back. Tackle Antilla was an end. So were Guards Grabowski and Bennis. So the line is composed of five original ends, a quarter back, and a center.

GAMES TONIGHT.
Blackhawks at Boston.
Detroit at Ottawa.
Canadiens at Montreal Maroons.
Toronto at New York Rangers.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Hockey fans are expected to pack the Boston garden tomorrow night for the first game of the season between the Bruins and the Chicago Blackhawks. It will be the Blackhawks' first appearance here since last March 14 when Manager Tommy Gorman led the Blackhawks off the ice after a goal had been awarded Boston in the overtime period. Six minutes and some seconds remained to play. Referee Bill Stewart gave the game to the Bruins by a 1 to 0 score.

President Calder gathered evidence from players and onlookers alike but it was of such a conflicting nature that the matter, after being shunted back and forth during the summer months between the National Hockey league board of governors and Calder, was finally dropped.

Write New Rule.

However, the law makers put a new and drastic rule into effect to cover such occurrences in the future as follows:

When, for any cause, a team shall wilfully refuse to continue to play before the regular playing time or overtime has been completed, the referee shall, after giving the team two minutes' notice within which to do so, award the game to the nonoffending side, but any goals scored by either side shall be included in the records.

Bad blood has existed between the two teams since way back in the early days of hockey in Chicago when Eddie Shore, Boston's bad man, made it a part of his night's work to rough it with Blackhawk players.

Mush March, who sustained a severe eye injury in last night's game with Ottawa, accompanied the Hawks but will not play in Boston. His injured eyelid required three stitches and was closed when the team departed for the east. The club's physician, Dr. Meacham, stated that he should be ready for the Americans in New York Thursday. Tommy Cook, second string center, was left at home because of a torn ligament in his knee. Gorman has assurance that Cook will have sufficiently recovered to be in the lineup next Sunday for the Boston-Blackhawks clash at the Chicago Stadium.

Jenkins Back at Wing.

In the absence of Cook and March, Gorman probably will move Roger Jenkins from the defense line to his former right wing spot with Doc Romnes in center and Donnie McFadyen at left wing.

Conacher, Coulter, and Abel in that case would be required to share the defense duties until the return of one of the ailing forwards.

NICHOLS BEATS LARRY JOHNSON IN TEN ROUNDS

Henry Rothier, Davenport, Ia., undefeated in his first nine professional bouts, defeated Pee Wee Jarrell, Fort Wayne, Ind., in the six round semi-windup. In other bouts Jimmy Richards beat Davey White in five rounds; Joe Bozak stopped Frankie Hall in the fourth round, and Tommy Habel won from Bobby Bedford in four rounds.

SOLDIERS' FIELD NAMED SITE OF PREP TITLE TILT

Harrison Starts Drill for Morgan Park.

Soldiers' field was selected yesterday as the site of the game between Harrison Tech and Morgan Park for the Chicago Public High School league football championship Saturday afternoon. Decision to play the contest on the lake front was made at a meeting of officials in the offices of A. H. Pritzlaff, league director of athletics. The game will start at 2 o'clock.

Coach Bob Dougherty of the Harrison squad, who led the 1931 team to the school's first football title, ordered a long workout at McKinley park, 39th street and Western avenue, yesterday in preparation for the game. The drill was devoted to forward passing, with Capt. Andy Puplis doing most of the tossing and scrimmages against Morgan Park running plays.

No Drill Friday.

Dougherty has ordered long drills today, tomorrow and Thursday. There will be no practice on Friday, Dougherty said. Instead he plans to hold a lecture.

Undefeated and holders of the best record compiled by any league team during the season, Harrison will be the favorite in the game. But it will be far from overconfident, for Dougherty yesterday stressed the fact that Morgan Park has triumphed in every contest in which it ruled as the underdog.

He recalled the overconfident Englewood eleven which lost to Morgan Park in the finals for the championship last year and the amazing power Morgan Park displayed in league games this year after a poor practice season in which it did not win a game. The climax of Morgan Park's schedule was reached last Saturday when it defeated Lindblom, once one of the strongest teams in the league, in the semi-finals.

Harrison Is Powerful.

Statistics show Harrison scored 101 points in winning four west section games and defeating Schurz in the semi-finals last Saturday, while its opponents made 26, 13 of which were scored by Schurz. Morgan Park, which won three south division games and was tied by Calumet, 13 to 13, scored 53 points to its opponents' 28.

The records of their sectional and semi-final games follow:

HARRISON.		MORGAN PARK.
19....	Austin 0	13....	Parker 7
18....	McKinley 7	14....	Phillips 0
21....	Marshall 6	13....	Calumet 13
13....	Crane 0	6....	Fenger 2
30	.....Schurz 13	7....	Lindblom 6

Fenwick and Loyola, the finalists for the Chicago Catholic High School league championship, will play Sunday afternoon. Selection of the site of the game is expected to be made today. It probably will be Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue.

Fenwick, which joined the league only two years ago, is undefeated and untied, having scored six consecutive triumphs, piling up 168 points while its goal was crossed only twice. Loyola also is undefeated, but was tied by Mount Carmel and Leo.

Lost Art of Bookmaking Coming Back?

BY FRENCH LANE.

An old time Chicago bookmaker remarked yesterday that one of the lost arts is the art of bookmaking on a horse race.

He was quite enthusiastic about his old trade which took him into contact with such fellows as Jim O'Leary, Pittsburgh Phil, Riley Grannon, Gates, and Drake.

He was hopeful the lost art might be coming back and was making ready to move on to New Orleans where it has been announced an open betting ring will prevail during the Fair Grounds meeting.

He was of the opinion that he will get the jump on his younger rivals. It has been a score of years since the opportunity bobbed up to make book on a horse race in this country just as one pleases and to lay 3 or 4 to 1 against a favorite if one doesn't like the favorite, he pointed out.

They're Pikers Now.

"Pari-mutuel machines, certificate betting, the totalizator have all combined to wipe out our profession," he said.

"Bookmakers these days are not even good clerks. Most of them couldn't tell you today what horse raced yesterday. Somebody tells them that a favorite should be quoted at 7 to 5 and so 7 to 5 it is from the beginning of the wagering until the finish. They have no opinions. And only a few of them have much of a bankroll. Horse racing is made possible by opinions. Bookmakers must have money.

"When somebody walks in and offers to bet a couple of hundred dollars on a horse the bookmaker will shout right up and say 'I'll take ten.'

"I don't like to imagine what the old time plungers would have said about such goings on," he continued.

"Way back twenty and more years ago our bookmakers would take a bet of twenty or thirty or fifty thousand dollars and not blink an eye and at the same time know they could pay off if they lost the bet. Maybe the bookmakers would take such a bet and not blink an eye in these times. But paying off—well, that's something else again," he concluded.

Won't Be the Same.

Except for this one old tim... it isn't possible to dig up any other bookmakers from Chicago who are going to New Orleans with any thought of living out the meeting should the players pick a lot of winners and wager on them in the early part of the season. Back in the days when bookmakers were bookmakers Chicago was the hotbed for the trade.

Bookmaking has been brought back at New Orleans because the laws regarding this sort of gambling in Louisiana are most liberal and because the pari-mutuel form of wagering during the last few years hasn't been productive of enough revenue to keep the tracks going along.

CAN MOOSEHEART STOP THIS QUARTET?

Dec. 3 to Be Ladies' Day at Cardinal Football Game

It will be Ladies' day, Dec. 3, at Wrigley field, when the Cardinals meet the Boston Redskins in a National league football game. Women desiring tickets for this game must write to Dr. David J. Jones, Chicago Cardinals, Wrigley field, Chicago, and all letters must be accompanied by a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

The new Gem Micromatic Razor is built in one piece with no takedown parts. Blades are locked unbudgingly at five points. Dual-alignment (exclusive feature) positions the edge so exactly that you can use full, swift, time-saving strokes without facial injury or skin irritation.

Gem's surgical steel blades (incredibly sharpened by 4840 separate stroppings) wade through the roughest stubble with such a clean, close shave that, once over and once a day will keep any "blue-beard" socially fit for twenty-four hours.

MILESKI WHIPS FITZGERALD IN C. Y. O. BOXING

North Siders Win Way to Semi-Finals.

Probably the best of the 16 quarter-final bouts of the Catholic Youth organization's amateur boxing tournament last night at C. Y. O. center was that between Ed Mileski, St. Pancratius parish welterweight, and William Fitzgerald of St. Kevin, which was won by Mileski after three rounds.

Although only north side qualifiers were to compete last night, Mileski and Fitzgerald, both of whom are from the south side, were forced to meet for the second time for the right to face Bob Crowley of St. James in one of the south side quarter-final contests tonight at the center.

Proves He's Best.

An error in the scoring by south side officials awarded Mileski the match last week at St. Columbanus, and Mileski had to prove he was the better man.

The outstanding north side winner last night appeared to be Nestor Bruggman, St. Jerome welterweight. He outclassed Joe Sprafka of St. Viator in the first round and Referee Phil Collins awarded Bruggman a two round technical knockout victory.

Semi-finals Open Thursday.

Bruggman and other north side victors will compete in the semi-finals at the center Thursday and Friday.

Cancela and Everett to Open New Arcadia Tonight

The remodeled Arcadia Garden, 4444 Broadway, will open tonight with a boxing show, the feature of which will be a fifteen round bout between Tony Cancela, Tampa, Fla., heavyweight, and Buck Everett of Gary, Ind. In addition Promoter Mique Malloy offers King Levinsky, west side heavyweight, in a three round exhibition. Levinsky will box two rounds with Seal Harris and one with Ed Wills.

The Cancela-Everett encounter will be the first at fifteen rounds between heavyweights in Illinois since boxing became legal in 1926. It is the second at this distance since then. Last June 14 Johnny Pena beat Varias Milling in a fifteen round bout at Mills stadium in the first. These fighters are featherweights.

Both Are Fast.

Cancela and Everett have more speed then the average heavyweight. They have met twice previously.

Everett won a ten round match from Cancela at Indianapolis, Ind. They met again at Winnipeg, Man., last Oct. 17 and the bout was called a draw after ten rounds.

When negotiations for a third bout were opened both sides were agreeable on everything but the length of the match. Cancela demanded that it be fifteen rounds instead of ten. He said that Everett tired in the late rounds in their other battles and the additional five rounds would aid him in scoring a victory this time.

Misko in Third Start.

Frank Misko, Saginaw, Mich., middleweight, who has won his two appearances here, meets Bill O'Connell of Streator, Ill., in a six round match. There will be four preliminary contests, one at four rounds and three at four.

Tonight's Card

Buck Everett vs. Tony Cancela [15].
Frank Misko vs. Bill O'Connell [6].
Tony Bruno vs. Walter Jers [3].
Mickey Joy vs. Bill Reardon [4].
Gene Higgins vs. Hank Bueker [4].
Lenny Cohen vs. Frank Almares [4].
King Levinsky vs. Seal Harris [2], and Ed Wills [1], exhibition.

King Levinsky has signed to engage in exhibition matches at Davenport, Ia., next Monday and at Omaha, Neb., Nov. 28. He is signed for his first fight since Sept. 18 at Milwaukee, Wis., on Dec. 8. An opponent has not been selected.

Champion Barney Ross starts training Wednesday for a bout with Billy Petrolle at New York Dec. 6. He will drill here until Monday.

George Zaharias and Gino Garibaldi, heavyweights, will head the wrestling show at the Coliseum next Tuesday. . . . There will be a boxing show at La Salle, Ill., next Monday and a wrestling card at Peoria on Dec. 1. . . . Johnny Behr has renewed his referee's license. . . . . Jerry Heffernan yesterday obtained a referee's card. . . . Johnny Coulon has renewed the bond for his promotional license. . . . Young Geno, La Salle, is training at Kid Howard's gymnasium for a bout with Mike Primitch of Indiana Harbor at Milwaukee Thursday . . . . Battling Williams is a boxing instructor at Phoenix, Ariz. F. M.

Jackie Purvis Defeats Weinert in Six Rounds

Young Scotty beat Frank Keevil [4]; Art Mitchell beat Sammy Wallace [4]; Paddy Walker beat Eddie Smith [4], and Tom Rolleweicz and Ed Van Herrick drew [wrestling].

Heavyweight—James McClure, St. Anthony, Joliet, beat Ed Sedlin, St. Denis, Lockport [3].

CLASS B.

118 pounds—Robert Kenney, Immaculate Conception, Morris, Ill., beat Sammy Guzzino, St. Raphael, Chicago Heights [3].

147 pounds—Tony Spota, St. Anthony, Joliet, beat Thomas Piese, St. Mary Crostian, Joliet [3].

Heavyweight—Max Zona, St. Agnes, Chicago Heights, beat Steve Bilof, St. Cyril, Joliet.

CHICAGOANS WILL START SATURDAY FOR ST. JOHN'S

Two and possibly four Chicago boys will be in the starting lineup for St. John's Military academy against Mooseheart Saturday afternoon at Wrigley field. They are Harrison, Voss, Heinze, and Klech.

Harrison, who plays guard, has been in every starting lineup this season. He is 19 years old and weighs 170 pounds. Other Chicago boys on the squad are Burnstine, Keese, Schwaba, and Stevens.

St. John's has two captains, John Conrad of Tiffin, O., playing his third season as a half back, is the back field leader, and Big Mike Calvano of Waukesha, Wis., playing his third year at center, is the line captain.

SHIKAT IS BACK IN THE LONDOS SET ONCE AGAIN

Wrestling fans who attend the match between Jim Londos and Jim McMillen at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night will witness the strange spectacle of Londos, recognized as a leading claimant to the title, on the same program with Dick Shikat, the man from whom he won his claim to the crown more than three years ago.

Since that time Shikat has drifted away from the Londos set, and apparently was established with one of the left wing groups opposed to it. The Londos organization was considerably upset recently when it learned that Shikat had gained permission from the Illinois athletic commission to appear on the card tomorrow, considering that he was supposed to have been an outsider.

To make it immediately difficult for Shikat, they chose George Zaharias, generally regarded as the meanest wrestler in the game.

The Londos-McMillen bout will mark the first important appearance of the former since his defeat by Joe Savoldi in the Stadium ring last spring, a defeat which is still not regarded as such by his followers.

In the other bouts on tomorrow's program, Ray Steele of California will meet Dutch Hefner, a Texas newcomer to these parts; Everett Marshall will battle Frank Speers, former Georgia Tech star, and Dr. Karl Sarpolis will meet Tommy Marvin, Oklahoma Indian.

HEY, BOY, ARNICA! FIVE MINNESOTA PLAYERS INJURED

But They'll Be Ready for Wisconsin Saturday.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The blackboard room and the training room were the most popular places for University of Minnesota football players today as they drew a well earned rest after their scoreless tie with Michigan at Ann Arbor Saturday.

Five players, Sheldon Beise, Capt. Roy Oen, Glenn Seidel, Dick Sawyer, and Bill Bevan, were forced to get extra attention from Trainer Davey Woodward. They were considerably banged up, but Woodward was certain that they would be in shape for Wisconsin here Saturday.

The squad spent an extra long session in the blackboard room with Bierman directing the chalk talk. Red Dawson brought back the information that Wisconsin this year has a better offense but not so good a defense as in 1932.

BADGER VARSITY RESTS.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin varsity team rested today while reserves undertook the task of stopping freshman plays patterned after Minnesota formations. The Badger first team will meet the freshmen tomorrow for the first practice in preparation for the game with the Gophers Saturday.

Trainers reported that George Dehnert, quarter back, received the only serious injury in the Ohio game. It is considered probable he will be able to play against Minnesota. Capt. Hal Smith, full back, and Thomas Fontaine, half back, also were injured, but not seriously.

IOWA PLAYERS WRESTLE.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—University of Iowa football players turned to wrestling today as a means of keeping in condition for the Nebraska game at Lincoln Saturday.

Coach Solem refused to take chances with his battered squad in hard practice, but had the men report in gym suits for limbering up. The players were paired up according to size for five minute wrestling matches.

Although all of the regulars are expected to be available for the Cornhusker game, Bernie Page, Joe Laws, Dick Crayne, and Zud Schammell were absent today because of injuries sustained against Purdue. Page has a bruised knee, a recurrence of an injury received in the Michigan game. Laws was kicked in the side in the Boilermaker game, but will be ready for action later this week, as will Crayne, who has a shoulder bruise.

KRONE PLANS 'ALL-CHICAGO MAT PROGRAM

Doc Krone, veteran Chicago promoter, this winter will promote shows featuring Chicago wrestlers. In announcing his new policy yesterday, Krone said:

"My purpose is to develop the best wrestlers in the city in the heavyweight, light heavyweight and middleweight divisions. There are scores of high class wrestlers in these weights, who have had few chances to display their ability in Chicago rings."

Krone, who will promote his shows in the newly remodeled Arcadia Gardens, 4444 Broadway, said he had signed five wrestlers, members of Charley Postl's all professional squad, to appear at his opening show Nov. 28. They are: Jack Smith, a heavyweight, who has won every match here in the last two years; Jim Laird, part Indian from Canada, who has been trained the last year by Postl; Gus Clem, former light heavyweight champion of the A. E. F.; Rudy Hoffman, 190 pounder, vastly improved since turning to the mat game two years ago, and Phil Grueber, who will make his professional wrestling debut on this card.

ARKANSAS LOSES RESERVE TACKLE; RULED INELIGIBLE

Fayetteville, Ark., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Ulysses [Heinie] Schleuter of Boonville, Mo., a reserve tackle, was declared ineligible to play football at the University of Arkansas today. An investigation requested by a Southern Methodist university official disclosed that he played football at the University of Nebraska in 1932. Arkansas officials believed him to be a direct transfer from a Missouri junior college, they said.

Schleuter admitted he played with the University of Neoraska last year. However, he failed to list Nebraska credits on his football eligibility blank.

BEARS ARRIVE TODAY FROM EASTERN TOUR

The Bears will arrive in Chicago this morning to prepare for the hardest part of their National league schedule—Portsmouth, the Cardinals, and Portsmouth again—all within a space of ten days.

The appearance of Portsmouth at Wrigley field Sunday is generally conceded to be the cross roads for both teams, with the divisional championship possibly in balance.

Denies Giving Ring Permits for Texas Campaign Funds

Austin, Tex., Nov. 20.—(AP)—C. W. Howth, Beaumont attorney and a leader in the campaign of Miriam A. Ferguson for governor, denied before a house investigating committee today that he had "even suggested" the barter or sale of boxing and wrestling permits to obtain funds to defray campaign obligations.

It's Time Makers of Football Rules Gave Fans a Break

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Since its invention, football has been attacked constantly. At first thought, this sentence brings to mind the assault of the reform element which, until the depression brought digression, attacked big business in football, envied the importance of mere football coaches in contrast to the apparent unimportance of the university instructor, and thought of remedies for the brutality of the game as well as qualifications and limitations for the participants.

Football always will be assailed by groups of this ilk, but the general offensive, which reached its peak with the publication of the famous Carnegie report, no longer seriously threatens the game.

What About John J. Fan?

A more important attack which reaches a climax each winter, a sort of hot stove gossip drive, has again been started. The annual attack is serious, for it is made by the friends of the game who are like the reform element in that neither group gives sufficient consideration to the general public.

Football invited in the public, built stadia for accommodation, and used receipts for support of other sports, including intramural competition, and now it can scarcely exist without public interest. Yet football rule makers, coaches and friends each year alter the pattern of the game generally with no other thought than their own advantage.

New Rules Decrease Action.

The general observation recently has been that defense in football has become too strong for the offense; that the game needs more action. Yet, with the exception of the 10 yard sideline rule this year, every change in rules has meant a decrease in action, a penalty on aggressiveness or, let us say, a reward for mediocrity.

The 10 yard sideline rule, which eliminated the out of bounds play, brought hozannas from spectators, but other alterations can be made without involved fundamental rule changes which will create more action and probably increase the scoring.

"Dead Ball" Deadens Game.

The best example of recent decrease in activity was the "dead ball" rule adopted to appease the critics who decried the brutality of the game. Football rules at that time amply protected the ball carrier, if those rules were enforced, and added protection wasn't needed. The rule has served only to nullify the offense when the ball carrier touches the ground with other than his hands or feet. It cost valuable yards and made it as effective to stop an aggressive runner by knocking him off his feet as to tackle him.

1. Place the goal posts on the goal line, making it easier to score the point after touchdown and encourage development of field goal kickers. The field goal really was intended to reward an offense which penetrated within the opponents' 20 yard line but which could not reach the goal line.

Would Follow Pros.

2. Permit forward passes from any point behind the goal line [adopted by professional teams] to hold in check defensive backs, thus increasing the effectiveness of running with the ball.

3. Eliminate some or all restrictions on running with blocked kicks or fumbles.

The first two are open and shut propositions. The third may be argued pro and con with reason. The restriction which prohibits the defense from running with a fumble [the offense may run with its own fumbles] was intended to encourage the use of lateral passes. Any play in the open is a better crowd pleaser than a close line play hidden largely in a mass of swirling players generally unidentifiable by the spectators. In theory this restriction also was intended to encourage the catching of punts for the only penalty for a fumble was loss of the ball.

There seems less reason for the restriction which prevents players on the kicking team running with a blocked kick while the defense, upon blocking a kick, may advance it.

Urge Return of Onside Kick.

Others have suggested that the onside kick be returned to the rules. Thus a player standing behind the kicker would be eligible to gain possession of the kick. This, it is said, would force the defense at all times to cover for possible kicks, decreasing the number of players in position to stop runs and passes in the immediate vicinity of the line of scrimmage. It might also be added that elimination of the five yard penalty for second or more incomplete forward passes in a series might help the offense.

All of which may or may not be adopted this winter when the rule makers get together.

Scoreless Ties Can Thrill.

The only fallacy in discussion of the present alleged equality of the defense to the offense is that tie games and scoreless ties are necessarily listless and uninteresting. None in the crowd of 65,000 which saw Minnesota and Michigan fail to score last Saturday was dissatisfied. Football, primarily, is a contact game, and certainly the tackling and blocking by Michigan and Minnesota left nothing more to be desired.

BUTTERFINGERS AND BABY RUTHS MEET TONIGHT

The Baby Ruths and the Butterfingers, victors in their opening games in the newly formed Chicago Amateur Hockey association, will meet at the Coliseum tonight to settle the leadership of the association's Big Four teams. The Baby Ruths made their debut last Thursday night by whipping the Blue Ribbon sextet, 6 to 2, while the Butterfingers took their opener from the Nestor Johnson team, 2 to 1, on Sunday afternoon. The game will start at 8 p. m. and will be preceded by figure skating exhibitions.

SET TENNIS DATES.

New York, Nov. 20.—(AP)—The national junior and boys' indoor tennis tournaments will be held in the Seventh Regiment armory Dec. 26-Jan. 1, the United States Lawn Tennis association announced today.

MORGAN PARK CADETS CAPTURE FINALE, 20 TO 6

Morgan Park Military academy's football team, which defeated Culver Military academy last Saturday, concluded its Midwest Prep conference schedule yesterday by defeating St. Albans, 20 to 6, on the Morgan Park field. Carlson, full back, starred for Morgan Park, scoring three touchdowns. Lineups:

MORGAN PK. (20)		ST. ALBANS (6).
Blodgett	L. E.	Burke
Hitmann	L. T.	Fields
Falk	L. G.	Enos
Ballen	C.	Kostlin
See	R. G.	Ackeret
Braatch	R. T.	Natrow
Schenning	R. E.	Frank
Schappa	Q. B.	Bowers
Pilkis	L. H.	Elliott
Miller	R. H.	Minkley
Carlson	F. B.	Rivkin

Bart Cummings, Illinois Tackle, Is Operated On

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Bart Cummings of Rockford, Ill., tackle on the University of Illinois football squad, tonight was operated on for appendicitis. No alarm was felt regarding his condition. Cummings is a junior in the university, who won his letter last year and also was a member of the track squad.

BART CUMMINGS.

Cummings has played an excellent game all season and particularly will be missed against Ohio State Saturday. The loss of Cummings dims Illinois' hopes for a victory over the Buckeyes, against whom Coach Bob Zuppke had hoped to send his strongest team. The Illini emerged from the Maroon game, however, in fine physical condition.

Zuppke told his players they must tackle a team that will outweigh them an average of 20 pounds per man, as the Buckeyes average 195 pounds against the Illinois team average of 176, which makes the varsity the lightest team in the regime of the coach. Zup pointed out that there was a similar disparity in weight against Michigan.

The celerity with which Crain Portman grabbed a pass from Benyon and scored the winning touchdown against Chicago and his feat in overtaking Sahlin almost at the goal line, brought the Urbana star into prominence and he will get a chance again at Columbus.

FOUR BUCKEYES INJURED.

Columbus, O., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Whatever hopes Ohio State had for taking the Illinois game here Saturday received a serious jolt last weekend even though the Buckeyes won the Wisconsin game by a score of 6 to 0. Four regulars suffered leg injuries and according to Walter S. Duffee, team physician, one may not be able to play against Illinois.

Ted Rosequist, tackle, who received such a serious injury to his leg that he was assisted from the field, was in the hospital today where physicians said he must stay until Friday. X-ray pictures failed to show any broken bones, but the sprain is so serious that it is unlikely he will be able to take his regular place. His place will be taken by either Lud Yards or Pete Delich.

Jack Smith, half back, who ran 55 yards against Wisconsin for the game's only score, also may be out of the game with a leg injury. Other Buckeyes barred from practice for the week include Co-captain Joe Gailus and Half Back Dick Heekin.

SHARKEY WINS OVER BOOKER IN 8 ROUND FIGHT

Jackie Sharkey, Minneapolis, Minn., featherweight, won an eight round decision over Harry Booker, Chicago Negro, in the windup bout of the professional boxing show at the Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, last night. Johnny Long defeated George Williams in the five round semi-windup. Other results:

Johnny Terry beat Walter Statkus [4].
Sammy Adams beat Ken Murray [4].

Frank J. Marshall, United States chess champion, will give a simultaneous exhibition tomorrow at the Chicago Chess and Bridge club. Play will start at 8 p. m.

Last Week's Game Grows Stale Quickly

"long before my time, but we were still hearing about him when I was in school and I guess he never will be forgotten. His name was Eddie Hart. He was captain of the varsity in 1911 when Woodrow Wilson was president of the university. I suppose the story has been standardized in the telling since 1911 and the version they were telling in my days was this:

"Bill Roper, whose way with the football players was never what you would call motherly, was riding the squad one afternoon. Hart walked over to him and said, 'Mr. Roper, I am captain of this football team and I will just ask you to leave the field. I think you have told us about all the football we need to know from you, Mr. Roper, but if there should come a time when we need any more instruction I will send for you. That will be all, Mr. Roper. Goodby, Mr. Roper.'

Captain Runs Team.

"Roper went to Woodrow Wilson and Mr. Wilson called Hart in and said, 'Hart, what is this about your ordering Roper off the field?'

"Hart said, 'Mr. Wilson, as captain I am going to take full charge and run the team. If we need any instruction from the coach I will ask for it. But if I am captain I will have no superior. I will take the responsibility.'"

"What happened to Hart's team?"

"They beat Harvard and Yale. That was the year Sam White picked up those fumbles."

"Is Hart still around?"

"I don't know. He is one of those legendary figures, the football player who put the coach off the squad. Can you imagine some kid ordering Pop Warner or Tad Jones off the field today?"

"Yes, he's living," Mr. Grantland Rice said. "I saw him only a few days ago. He's in the financial business. He was the strongest man that ever went to Princeton. Played that season with two broken vertebrae and his neck in a sling. He is a very civil man, but he just has definite opinions. It seemed sensible to him that the team captain should run the football team."

Nobody knows better than I do how untimely a thoughtful essay on baseball training camps would be just now. So I think I will save it until February.

HIGHLAND PARK SEEKS 15TH WIN IN 18 BATTLES

Pug Rentner and the Highland Park eleven will appear at the 124th Field Artillery armory, Cottage Grove avenue and 52d street, tomorrow night in a game with the Chicago Shamrocks professional football team.

Highland Park has won 14 of 17 games the last two years. It was tied twice and beaten once. Highland Park has scored in every game.

Oklahoma Game Preserve Plan Tip to Illinois

BY BOB BECKER.

Since a survey of Oklahoma game conditions has shown that 100,000 licensed sportsmen take approximately 1,500,000 quail in a season, the conservation department has been struggling with the problem of growing enough birds for everybody.

Now that Oklahoma is ready to announce what the system is going to be, Illinois sportsmen should be interested because it again calls attention to a method neighboring states have tried and found successful. The system is simply one of managed game producing areas, a procedure which could be put into effect in Illinois.

Here in Illinois we want quail for three reasons. First, there should be a large, permanent quail population because the birds are valuable to the farmer in combating insect and weed pests. This is the most important reason. Secondly, quail are desirable from the sportsman's point of view because hunting Bob Whites with a good dog is one of the most delightful of sports. Quail also are wanted because of what the bird fan and the conservationist calls "esthetic values." Bob Whites are interesting, handsome birds on any property.

We can apply the same reasoning to pheasants. Both quail and pheasants can be increased by managed areas which simply are tracts of land planted with certain shrubs and plants to give birds plenty of cover and food. In Oklahoma they have been shooting 1,500,000 birds in a season, yet the state game farm turns out but 5,000 in a season.

As the game department has pointed out, this can't go on forever unless nature is given a full opportunity to raise many birds under natural conditions. Small managed game preserves are going to be established all over the state. On these the quail population will increase and overflow into surrounding open territory.

Here in Illinois we have efficient game farms turning out thousands of pheasants for restocking. But in spite of the large number of birds produced the supply still is inadequate. As Michigan has demonstrated it is economical and entirely practical to manage tracts of ordinary farmland and increase pheasant production 400 per cent.

The cost of this management [which simply means giving the birds every chance to raise their broods] is about 40 cents per bird. In Illinois and other states a marked increase of both game and song birds is going to come only through this system, which is based on the landowners' interest and desire to coöperate. Experiments already have shown that it is folly to raise birds on farms, turn them loose and expect a permanent "sustaining" bird population unless the land is managed to give the birds adequate cover and food areas.

Chicago District Ping-Pong Tourney Opens Tomorrow

The Chicago district ping-pong tournament will open tomorrow at the Universal Ping-Pong club, 222 South Wabash avenue. Entries include Coleman Clark, Johnny Lehman, D. McEwan, Ray Leninger of the Inter-fraternity club, and the national star doubles team of Bill Condy and Carlton Prowdy. Women entrants include Flossie Basler, defending champion, Mrs. R. D. Hammond, Florence Keddie, Reva Karr, and Pearl Larson.

Ottey Takes U. S. College Harrier Title

New York, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Thomas C. Ottey, a lanky young man who left Ardmore, Pa., to make his long distance running reputation at Michigan State, came back east again today and defeated a brilliant field for the 34th intercollegiate cross-country championship.

Ottey not only led home a field of 118 athletes from 20 colleges and universities in the varsity event, but he led Michigan State to the I. C. A. A. A. A. team championship, the first time the title ever has gone west of Pittsburgh. Four of his mates finished with him inside the first 20 for a total of 54 points.

Manhattan Frosh Win.

Manhattan, team champion in both the varsity and freshmen events last season, kept the frosh title, winning for the third straight year with a low total of 33 points, although William F. Hunnewell, from the University of Maine, captured the freshmen individual championship.

Ottey, national 10,000 meter champion, member of the 1932 Olympic forces, took no chances today with a field that included some of the finest college milers in the country, among them Gene Venzke, from Pennsylvania, Joe Mangan of Cornell, Frank Crowley of Manhattan, and Frank Nordell of New York university.

Takes Early Lead.

Within the first seven-eighths of a mile of the six-mile course, Ottey, who finished third last year, took command of the situation, never to be headed thereafter.

Ottey finished so easily he stood around several minutes, scarcely breathing heavily, autographing programs. His time was 30 minutes, somewhat slower than the record of 28:58.8 set last year by George Barker of New York university.

Times for the next three finishers were: Vesey, 30:15; Russell, 30:25, and Venzke, 30:35.

Other Varsity Finishers.

Following were the other varsity finishers, in order: 6, Morton Jenkins, Massachusetts Tech; 7, Otto Pongrave, Michigan State; 8, Allen Minor, Yale; 9, Robert Carr, Syracuse; 10, Marcus Cotter, Rhode Island State; 11, Ernest Black, Maine; 12, Edward Bechtold, Michigan State; 13, Bruce Kerr, Cornell; 14, George Harvey, Penn State; 15, Albert Acerno, Manhattan; 16, John Hammer, Michigan State; 17, William Ray, Manhattan; 18, Walter Hertzler, Michigan State; 19, Lloyd Everingham, Syracuse; 20, William Racy, Yale; 21, Earl Buteman, Syracuse; 22, Morris Canning, Yale; 23, Frank Nordell, New York university; 24, John Tarpey, Manhattan, and 25, Frank Crowley, Manhattan.

BUCKEYES DENY REPORT DORAIS IS NEXT COACH

Columbus, O., Nov. 20.—(AP)—The Ohio State Journal said tonight that Charles E. [Gus] Dorais, now at the University of Detroit, is slated for the post of head football coach at Ohio State university next season.

From L. W. St. John, director of athletics at Ohio State, came a prompt denial of the report. "It looks like it's made out of whole cloth," St. John said, adding that "nothing has been done about the coaching situation."

KIZER PRAISES PURDUE; FEHRING OUT FOR SEASON

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Despite the loss to Iowa, which marked Purdue's first defeat in 21 straight games, Coach Noble Kizer had nothing but praise for the courageous stand of the Boilermakers and in particular Duane Purvis, half back, as the squad reported today to begin drill for the annual battle with Indiana in defense of the old oaken bucket.

"They were fighting till the final gun," said Kizer, "and that, after all, is the test of a great team."

Purvis Boosts Record.

Purvis, who shortly after the start of the second period suffered a shoulder injury that made his right arm limp and useless, managed to considerably boost his already outstanding ground gaining record. Although unable to pass and receive passes, Purvis averaged nearly eight yards a crack on running plays against Iowa, gaining 71 yards in nine attempts. Including the Iowa game, Purvis has carried the ball 95 times for a total gain of 527 yards, an average of 5.57 yards per play.

Although Purdue's string of games without defeat was snapped by the Hawkeyes, the alertness of Fritz Febel, guard, who scored after a blocked kick, enabled the Boilermakers to increase to 47 their string of games in which they have made one or more touchdowns.

Fehring Hurts Knee.

Purvis' shoulder and a knee injury to Capt. Dutch Fehring, which occurred early in the Iowa game, are apt to prove costly in the season's finale. There appeared little possibility that Fehring would be able to play against Indiana.

HOOSIERS WORK HARD.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 20.—[Special.]—Abolishing the usual Monday lay-off, Coach E. C. Hayes today sent the Indiana university football squad through a stiff work-out in preparation for the homecoming game against Purdue here Saturday. Disappointed with the poor showing the Hoosiers made in losing to St. Xavier last week end, Coach Hayes is seeking material which will put up a battle against the Boilermakers.

Indiana's best full back, Wendel Walker, suffered a rib injury in the Xavier game and will not be able to play Saturday. Burton, Keck, and Leach will be drilled to replace him.

AUTOS COLLIDE; ONE HURTLES ON FOUR WORKERS

Bank Chief Charges Youth Passed Red Light.

Four employes of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, engaged in opening a street main at Southport and Belmont avenues, were seriously injured late yesterday afternoon when two automobiles collided and one plunged into the workers.

Struck by Banker's Car.

The drivers of the cars were Joseph James Budlong, 65 years old, of Wilmette, president of the Lake View Trust and Savings bank, and Marion Koch, 17 years old, 2631 North Avers avenue. Both were charged with assault and with reckless driving. Budlong, whose car struck the victims blamed the accident on the youth passing a red light.

Michael Devaney, 48 years old, 1920 Addison street, was the gas company employé most seriously hurt. He suffered a fracture of the skull. The others injured are John Joyce, 30 years old, 3510 Rokeby street; Michael McCann, 33 years old, 830 Wilson avenue, and John Lynn, 48 years old, 2301 North Spaulding avenue.

Collision in Fog Is Fatal.

W. O. Lester, 44 years old, of Indianapolis, was instantly killed early yesterday when his truck loaded with cattle collided with another on Roosevelt road in Du Page county, near Elmhurst. The accident occurred during a heavy fog which blinded both drivers. James Crabb, also of Indianapolis, Lester's helper, was critically hurt.

Four automobile fatalities in Cook county brought the toll since Jan. 1 to 974. The victims:

Morris Levin, 47 years old, 1308 North Oakley boulevard. Died at the county hospital of injuries incurred last Wednesday when he was struck at Western and Potomac avenues. The driver was held.

David Malizia, 19 years old, 1429 5th avenue, Chicago Heights. Died in St. James hospital in the suburb from hurts incurred when he was crushed between two trucks at the Chicago Heights Brewing company, where he was working, on Sunday afternoon.

John Nadorski, 50 years old, 2325 North California avenue. Died in the Alexian Brothers hospital early today. He was struck in front of 2293 Clybourn avenue by a car driven by Robert Schlhaber, 49, of 5212 Berenice avenue.

Unidentified man, about 50 years old. Died in St. Luke's hospital of injuries suffered Sunday when struck by a machine driven by John Regan, 29, of 4644 Virginia avenue, in front of 1441 South State street.

CITY EMPLOYES FIRST TO SUPPORT RED CROSS DRIVE

Among the first to answer the Red Cross roll call were unpaid city employés, teachers, and policemen, James T. Nicholson, manager of the Chicago chapter, told members of the executive committee yesterday at a luncheon in the Palmer house. The annual call to enroll 250,000 members opened on Armistice day and will end on Thanksgiving day.

"We have been tremendously encouraged in our present membership drive," Mr. Nicholson said. "Almost 90 per cent of the employés of the Cook county bureau of public welfare already have answered our appeal for contributions. People who are most familiar with the work have volunteered again this year, despite the rigor of their own circumstances."

James B. Forgan Jr., chairman of the Chicago chapter, stressed the importance of making the position of the Red Cross in conducting its own campaign clear to its supporters.

"The Red Cross does not receive any state or federal money," he said, "nor does it participate in any proceeds from the present Community Fund drive. The Red Cross is entirely dependent upon the voluntary support of the dollar memberships."

Aged Millionairess Dies; Was Victim of Kidnaping

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Josina Do Amaral, 78, the multimillionairess who vanished from her home in 1932 and was found in October locked in a wardrobe closet in Rio De Janeiro, died today of old age. Her death complicated the family dispute over the huge Do Amaral estate for which a host of relatives are contesting. It may, in fact, interrupt the court investigation into her disappearance which police regarded as a kidnaping.

Edwin J. Beaverstock, 92, Veteran of 23d Ohio, Dies

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20—(AP)—Edwin J. Beaverstock, 92, native Ohioan and Civil War veteran, died yesterday at the home here of his daughter, Mrs. Pearl Parsons. He enlisted at 21 in the twenty-third Ohio volunteer infantry in 1862. He served in many engagements and finally was captured at Winchester, Va., but was exchanged at Columbus, O., and returned to his regiment.

Dr. John W. Martin, Veteran Physician, Dies

NEW WILLS FILED IN PROBATE COURT

Five wills were filed with Clerk Mitchell C. Robin in the Probate court yesterday, and were approved by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to the probate judge, as follows:

IDA MANSBACH, died Sept. 12. Estate, $10,000, to daughter Blanche Glasener, who is executrix.

PETER B. HOSTERT, died Nov. 9. Estate, $26,000, to five children. Frank Hostert, son, is executor.

IDA L. MAW, died Nov. 13. Estate, $50,000, to widower, William Maw, and son, Forest Epperly, who are co-executors.

PAULINE RUDZINSKI, died Aug. 6. Estate, $10,100, to five children. Joseph Rudzinski, son, is executor.

SIGMUND M. ROSENTHAL, died Aug. 18. Estate, $10,000, to widow, Ray Rosenthal, who is executrix.

$325,000 ESTATE TO GO TO HEIRS OF MRS. PATTERSON

The will of Mrs. Elinor Medill Patterson, daughter of Joseph Medill, founder of THE TRIBUNE, was filed yesterday with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court. The estate as shown by the petition is valued at $225,000, of which $50,000 is in real estate and the remainder in personal property.

Her son, Joseph Medill Patterson, president of the New York Daily News and vice president of THE TRIBUNE, is named executor of the will. It directs that he distribute $10,000 as he sees fit among his mother's servants, and that the remainder of the estate be divided equally between him and Mrs. Patterson's daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Medill Patterson, editor of the Washington Herald.

Mrs. Patterson died Sept. 5 in Chicago, at the age of 78. She was the widow of Robert W. Patterson, who died in 1910, and the sister of the late Mrs. Katherine Medill McCormick.

Allen Curtis, Broker in Peace Leak Quiz, Dies

Boston, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Allen Curtis, 71, prominent Boston broker who testified in a congressional investigation in 1917 in connection with leakage of news of a peace note prepared by President Wilson for warring nations, died today of injuries received when struck by a bus last Wednesday.

WILLIAM E. DEE DIES; CHIEF OF COMPANY ESTABLISHED IN 1850

William E. Dee, president of the building materials company bearing his name at 1233 South Wabash avenue, died yesterday at his home at 6858 Constance avenue. He was 74 years old.

The Dee company, said to be the oldest building material company in the country, was founded in 1850 by William M. Dee, father of William E. Dee.

WILLIAM E. DEE.

At the time of the Iroquois theater fire, in which 605 persons lost their lives on Dec. 30, 1903, Mr. Dee was advised while at one of his factories in Mecca, Ind., that two of his children, Edward, 7 years old, and Margaret, 2, had been taken to the ill fated matinee.

Unable to get in touch with his home, and with no immediate trains scheduled, Mr. Dee chartered a locomotive, without coaches, and made a 175 mile record dash to Chicago, seated with the engineer. The frantic parent arrived in time to be the first to identify the children, who had died of suffocation.

Mr. Dee was a member of the Chicago Athletic association, the South Shore Country club, Olympia Fields Country club, the Builders club, and the Chicago Equestrian society, and was president of the Mecca Bank of Indiana. He is survived by his widow, Grace; two sons, William E. Dee Jr. and Samuel Allerton Dee; a daughter, Jane Elizabeth, and two stepchildren, Simon D. and William T. Dee.

BOON COMPANION OF KING EDWARD DIES IN POVERTY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 20.—The boon companion of King Edward VII., when the late monarch was prince of Wales, Sir James O'Donohue, once wealthy mayor of Galway, died destitute in the Mercy hospital here at the age of 79 years, today. Sir James fled Ireland because of the enmity he incurred upon refusal to renounce his commission in the British army and arrived in Canada before the war. Subsequently a business partner absconded with his patrimony and at 70 he was forced to find a job, which he had to relinquish, because of injuries received in a fall down an elevator shaft. After his wife died, friends secured a haven for him at the Mercy hospital.

Another of King's Friends Dies.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Louise Jopling-Rowe, 90, a great friend of the late King Edward and known as the first woman in England to smoke a cigaret, died yesterday.

Mrs. Jopling-Rowe was one of the noted figures in the social and artistic world of an earlier generation in London. She was founder of the School of Art, president of the Chiltern Club of Arts and Handicrafts, and also president of the Buckinghamshire Art club. She herself was a constant exhibitor at the Royal academy, the Paris salon, and other galleries, as well as being a lecturer of note. Her portrait by Millais hangs in the Tate gallery.

CHIEF OF LONDON FIRE INSURANCE PATROL IS SEIZED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Echoes of the fire fraud scandal of last August were heard in the Bow street police court today when Capt. Brynmor Eric Miles, chief of the London salvage corps, was charged with participation in the conspiracy.

Sixteen men, headed by Leopold Harris, were sentenced to prison last August for their part in a gigantic plot to defraud insurance companies by claiming heavy payments for nonexistent stocks supposedly destroyed by fire.

Miles, as head of the salvage corps, attended every major fire in the last ten years and directed the salvage operations of the organization, which was created and maintained by insurance companies.

Miles pleaded not guilty. He was released on $25,000 bail.

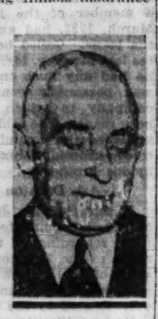
FAILURES HELD HELP TO ILLINOIS LIFE INSURANCE

'Housecleaning' Aid to Revival—Behrens

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Instead of being injured by the failure of three big Illinois insurance companies—Illinois Life, National Life of the United States of America, and Peoria Life—the life insurance business in this state will be put upon a sound basis and will attract new capital, says Herman A. Behrens, president of the Continental Assurance company and its running mate, Continental Casualty company.



H. A. BEHRENS.

"A housecleaning has been undertaken," says Mr. Behrens, "and when there is housecleaning the dirt must fly. Temporarily some premium money is going to companies incorporated in other states. But when turmoil has died down Illinois will be ready to build up a proper insurance structure.

Capital Coming to Illinois.

"One constructive result of the housecleaning has been that capital is for the first time in years becoming interested in insurance companies in Illinois. During the last three or four days the representatives of four different substantial interests have asked me whether the time is not now ripe for investment in life insurance companies in Illinois."

Illinois, Mr. Behrens says, now has the most stringent set of laws governing company investments of any state in the nation—more stringent even than those of New York, Connecticut, and Massachusetts, whose laws are frequently held up as models.

"During the exciting days of the banking troubles early this year," he adds, "the legislature at Springfield enacted these drastic new laws affecting life insurance company investments. In the excitement the full significance of the statutes was not fully realized at the time.

Laws to Prevent Mistakes.

"The law, of course, can prevent dishonesty, but the chief trouble with the life insurance companies that have failed has not been dishonesty, but poor investment practices. Such practices are impossible under the new laws.

"They prevent investment of life insurance company funds in common stocks. They prohibit investment of company funds in ventures in which officers or directors are interested either directly or indirectly. Provision is also made for adequate diversification. No longer will it be possible for a life insurance company to put so many of its eggs into one basket.

"Illinois has learned a lot of things through bitter experience in the failure of some of the largest life insurance companies in the state and this experience has been crystallized in the new legislation.

Laws Not Too Drastic.

"I personally do not regard the new laws as too drastic. I think they will lead eventually to the building up of a strong group of life insurance companies in Illinois, companies adequately financed and properly managed. This will be a great thing for the state financially, for it will keep the premium payments of Illinois people for investment in Illinois."

Mr. Behrens' belief that interests representing big accumulations of capital are becoming interested in investment in insurance companies in Illinois is borne out by recent developments.

Bids for reinsurance of companies now in receivership, according to reliable sources of insurance information, are being contemplated by a number of "big money" groups. It is an open secret in insurance circles the Kuhn, Loeb & Co. sent representatives here two weeks ago to look into the Peoria Life case with a view toward taking it over. This group, it is reported, might have taken the company over and prevented a receivership had not the company's affiliation with the Bank of Peoria complicated matters.

Week's Output of Soft Coal Up 195,000 Tons

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20—(AP)—Production of soft coal during the week ended Nov. 11 increased to 7,210,000 net tons, the U. S. Bureau of Mines reported. This was a gain of 195,000 tons compared with the previous week and was 584,000 tons greater than the corresponding week of last year.

Shoe Plant Closed Nearly Two Years Resumes Work

Quincy, Ill., Nov. 20.—(AP)—After a shutdown of nearly two years, work was resumed today in the Quincy plant of the International Shoe company.

Hotel Owned by Peoria Life in Difficulty

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 20.—The financial and legal tangle resulting from the collapse of the Peoria Life Insurance company, the city's largest financial institution, today became more involved when receivership action was begun against the Hotel Pere Marquette, of which the insurance company was the principal owner.

The action was brought by the St. Louis Union Trust company, which charged that the hotel had defaulted on $27,000 of its first mortgage bonds which became due July 1. The hotel, the building corporation, and the insurance company are named co-defendants in the receivership bill.

Two Receivers on Job.

Meanwhile, the affairs of the insurance company, which has outstanding policies of $172,000,000, were being administered by two receivers, one named by the state director of insurance and one picked by Circuit Judge John Niehaus in defiance of the department's wishes. Up to a late hour today Judge Niehaus had made no comment on the statement issued Saturday by Ernest Palmer, director of the insurance department, that he regarded the appointment of the law partner of the judge's son as co-receiver as illegal. George Shurtleff, Peoria attorney, is the judge's selection whom Palmer refuses to recognize. Charles V. O'Hern, another Peoria attorney, is Palmer's appointee.

The hotel is the third Peoria institution to become involved in financial difficulties. The Bank of Peoria, with deposits of $450,000, closed the day the company failed. It was controlled by the Insurance company.

Warns Policy Holders.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 20.—Ernest Palmer, director of the state insurance department, today warned policyholders to scrutinize closely the proposals of representatives of other companies who would induce them to drop their present policies. He warned other companies that the state's "anti-twisting" law would be strictly enforced.

EARLY REPORTS SHOW FREIGHT TRAFFIC GAINS

Freight loadings held up well during the week ended Nov. 18, according to the showings made by the first roads to report. The North Western handled 22,430 cars, compared with 19,454 in the like week of 1932. The gain over the preceding week of this year was 747 cars.

Cards handled by the Milwaukee totaled 23,503, compared with 22,981 cars in the like week of last year, and with 22,304 cars in the preceding week.

Santa Fé loadings totaled 26,428 cars, compared with 26,491 in the preceding week, and with 25,265 a year ago.

Chesapeake & Ohio loadings totaled 29,317 cars, compared with 27,490 in the preceding week, and with 30,561 in the corresponding week of 1932.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 20.—The $70,000,000 issue of municipal 4 per cent ten year bonds which will finance the city's idle relief operations was awarded today by Controller George McAneny to the only bidder, a banking syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., which bid on the entire issue at par.

The banks which took the issue are those which participated in the four-year financing agreement with the city, and the bond issue was a part of this arrangement.

The city will use $26,150,000 of the proceeds of the sale to repay sinking funds for money advanced for the city's past relief needs, and $8,850,000 will be used to reimburse the pension funds.

LEADERS TO APPLY OLD THEORIES TO NEW DEAL REALITIES

Chicago business leaders are to discuss old theories of economics in the light of present day new deal realities in a series of weekly forums to be started early in December by the Economic Club of Chicago, according to an announcement made yesterday by William J. Kelly, chairman of the club's program committee and president of the Arthur J. O'Leary & Son company. Details of the plan are to be presented at the club's dinner on Dec. 5 when Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, will give a talk on the "International Outlook."

Mr. Kelly explained that the weekly discussions will be based on a review of various economic factors by a representative of an academic school of thought and the same subject will then be discussed by a man of practical business experience.

At the first meeting it is expected that Dean Ralph E. Heilman of Northwestern university and L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central, will be the formal speakers. At the conclusion of their talks the meeting will be thrown open to general discussion.

Postpone Oil Price Fixing; May Drop It

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—Because of strong opposition within and outside the oil industry, and in the hope that the industry itself can work out a solution of the price problem, the price fixing hearing which was set for today was postponed until Dec. 5 by Secretary Ickes, administrator of the oil code.

At the same time Secretary Ickes announced that he had postponed until January 1, 1934, the date for putting into effect price schedules promulgated a few weeks ago. In doing so he reserved the right to postpone the effective date and if he thinks it advisable, to suspend the operation of the schedules indefinitely or permanently.

150 Witnesses Present.

The auditorium of the department of the interior was crowded with representatives of the oil industry, of civilian groups and of the consumers' advisory board of the NRA. More than 150 witnesses were ready to be heard. A majority of them were understood to have been opposed to the schedules submitted by the planning and coördination committee of the industry.

In postponing the hearing, Secretary Ickes said: "As is well known, there has been within the petroleum industry differences of opinion on the question of price control and as to schedules proposed in the event there should be price control. In other respects, there is very general agreement within the industry as to the administration of the petroleum code.

"Just prior to the time set for the initiation of the hearings it was represented to me that certain interests within the industry opposed to price control had suggested to the planning and coördination committee a postponement of the hearings in order that a fair test might be given to the effect of production control and the administration of other features of the code.

Agrees to Postponement.

"I am advised by the planning and coördination committee that it acquiesces in a postponement of the hearings for fifteen days, so that within this period the planning and coördination committee may consider certain plans and suggestions of a group opposed to price control and make a further recommendation to me. If a definite plan based upon these suggestions can be worked out it will result in postponement of the hearings for ninety additional days.

"In the meantime effective control of production under the orders of the administrator will be continued."

Treasury Bills Are Sold at Average Rate of 0.46%

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Acting Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announced today that applications amounting to $207,445,000 had been received for the issue of 91 day treasury bills, to be dated Nov. 22. Of this amount $60,063,000 was accepted, the average discount equaling an interest rate of approximately .46 per cent.

WESTERN RAILROADS CUT RATES 35 TO 40% ON RELIEF SUPPLIES

The western railroads will cooperate with the Washington administration in the distribution of food and clothing under its relief program by reducing freight rates on their transportation, Harry Guy Taylor, chairman of the Western Association of Railway Executives, said yesterday. The reductions in freight charges will average 35 to 40 per cent.

The rates will be applicable to practically all the railroad mileage in the western territory, according to Mr. Taylor. They will become effective at once, although there may be some tariffs that may have to be adjusted.

The relief rates will apply to approximately $150,000,000 worth of food and clothing which the government proposes to buy for distribution to the needy. Included in the purchases will be citrus fruits, beef, clothing and other articles.

The eastern railroads last week agreed to allow reduction in charges on supplies moved under the government's relief plan.

MARKS COMPANY HEARING IS PUT OVER TO NOV. 29

The bankruptcy hearing of J. L. Marks & Co. before Federal Referee Edmund D. Adcock yesterday was postponed until 10 a. m. Wednesday, Nov. 29. Michael Gesas, attorney for the company, said that a plan for the assumption of the company's debts is under consideration. It is, he said, in large part dependent on a suit to set aside the revocation of the company's license to do business in Illinois, which comes up this week.

Frank Schofield, representing a group of creditors, alleged that although the company's liabilities to its 2,300 creditors amounted to between $400,000 and $500,000, cash on hand was only $18,000. The concern, he said, was just a shell, and is "hopelessly and irretrievably insolvent."

The audit of the company's books was a disappointment, he said. When the auditors started to check their results they found that out of the first five items checked three which should have been credited to customers were credited to the company. They said it would require 30 to 60 days to make a detailed audit of the books.

INSURANCE GROUP HITS BANKRUPTCY PLAN FOR CITIES

The committee on preservation of municipal credit of the American Life convention held a meeting at the Palmer house yesterday to discuss ways to arouse opposition to the Sumner-Wilcox bill providing for municipal bankruptcy actions. Yesterday's session was a preliminary gathering which is to be followed in several weeks by a meeting which is expected to develop a specific program.

The committee was formed at the recent convention of the life insurance group in Chicago following the adoption of a resolution by the financial section which stated that the Sumner-Wilcox or any other similar bill allowing municipalities to go through bankruptcy would seriously impair municipal credit and the holdings of all insurance companies in the country.

Dollar Slides as Gold Price Is Lifted 10c

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 20.—Under renewed pressure from Washington, where the domestic price for gold was increased for the first time in a week, the value of the dollar slid steadily downward yesterday. In French exchange it fell to 61.03 cents and then rallied. At its lowest it was down 62 points from Saturday's close. It then rallied to 61.21, still off 39 points for the day.

French francs advanced to a peak of 6.42 cents and then reacted to 6.39½. Sterling moved up more sharply than francs, rising to $5.33 and then receding to $5.30½.

Canadian Dollar Up Nearly Cent.

The Canadian dollar moved up nearly a cent to 103.

For the first time since last Tuesday the Reconstruction Finance corporation advanced its price for domestic gold, moving it up from $33.56 to $33.66, thus dropping the dollar's value to 61.40 cents from 61.59 cents. It had been held at the former figure in the excited markets of last week, evidently in an effort to retard the swift decline in the dollar in exchange markets. The dollar was moving too fast even for Washington. Now that it has steadied, renewed but gentler presure is being applied to push it lower.

Morgenthau Won't Comment.

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., the new acting secretary of the treasury, told newspapermen that he had no comment to make about the gold policy at this time. He said he had been watching the market for government securities and had been informed that government bonds had firmed after an earlier decline.

He said the government, so far as he knew, had made no bond purchases today to give strength to the market. He added that funds were available for such purchases by the postal savings system and the farm credit administration if it was felt advisable to make them.

Mr. Morgenthau said that where the government had money to invest in bonds it would make such investments, but said nothing to indicate that large size purchases were contemplated at this time.

Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the RFC, said 265,000 ounces of domestically mined gold had been purchased up to this time, involving an expenditure of about $8,500,000.

OIL COMPANIES REJECT PARLEY IN LABOR STRIKE

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Eight major oil companies whose stations in St. Louis and St. Louis county have been closed as a result of a strike by attendants, today rejected mediation by the regional labor board, and declared the strike "unwarranted."

Although no formal announcement was made, it was generally believed tonight that the companies might attempt to resume service shortly despite the strike.

Spot Silver and Futures Active at Higher Prices

New York, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Active buying again came into the silver market today and prices were lifted substantially in both spot metal and futures. Bar silver was quoted ⅞ cent higher at 44¼ cents an ounce, compared with the recent peak level of 45 cents. Futures closed ¾@⅞ cent higher. Sales totaled about 8,200,000 ounces.

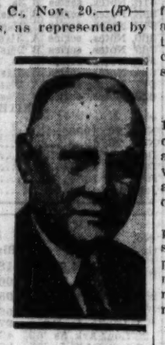
LABOR ASKS PAY PACT BEFORE IT APPROVES CODE

Leader Says Present Plan Is Unfair.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Organized workers, as represented by the American Federation of Labor, today opposed before NRA officials the proposed master construction code and demanded that employé and employer agree on wage scales before a trade charter is approved.



WM. GREEN.
[Palmer House Studio.]

William Green, president of the federation, and M. J. McDonough, president of its building trades department, argued before Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator, that the code was unjust to labor.

Gen. H. E. Wood of the NRA industrial advisory board announced approval by that agency of individual codes coördinated in a basic code, and held that a code would give the building industry opportunity to act as a unit for the first time.

40 Cent Minimum Opposed.

McDonough, announcing that the code should provide a 30 hour or less work week, opposed the proposed 40 cent an hour minimum for unskilled labor and asserted that unless labor was given better terms the unions would "have to appeal to higher persons."

"The 40 cent wage would, with the chiseling contractors we have been dealing with, become the legal wage," McDonough said, adding that 86 per cent of the workers in the building trades were skilled.

"I request that the deputy administrator adjourn this hearing at once and let representatives of the construction contractors and of the American Federation of Labor negotiate minimum wage agreements," McDonough said. "When they have concluded, they [the agreements] shall become the labor sections of the code."

Green, disapproving consideration of all construction sections in a unit, contended that the building and open construction divisions should be treated separately, and of the proposed code's labor sections, said:

Says Labor Is Not Favored.

"The provisions are less constructive, more open to abuse, and less favorable to labor than in the great majority of codes. Where the hours of labor have been materially reduced in other codes, the present code envisages no reduction in hours. The wage provisions are characterized by vagueness and uncertainty."

Green said that the exemptions destroyed the effectiveness of the labor sections, and added that "only a complete redrafting of the code, in our opinion, can bring it in line with the purposes of the administration."

One code for the construction industry as a whole, Green said, would be "entirely impractical" for many reasons, including "profound differ-

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 20.—Directors of E. I. du Pont de Nemours company met today and voted an extra dividend of 75 cents a share on the company's common stock in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents, thereby passing along to stockholders the extra dividend to be received on its General Motors holdings. Both dividends are payable Dec. 15 to stock of record Nov. 29.

This brings the total distribution for 1933 to $2.75 a share, the same amount paid for 1932. Payments for this year will amount to about 90 per cent of estimated earnings from all sources on the common stock.

Holds 10,000,000 Shares.

The Du Pont company holds about 10,000,000 shares of General Motors corporation common stock on which an extra payment of 25 cents a share was recently declared. There are about 25,000,000 shares of Du Pont common outstanding.

"The financial position of the company has been and remains highly satisfactory," M. Lammot du Pont, president, said today. "Cash and current assets are ample for present needs and for any prospective requirement or development.

In Good Position.

"The small items of current payables constitute the sole company liability. The reserves currently accumulating have furnished more than sufficient funds to provide for the somewhat lower capital needs of the company during past years of lower industrial activity, and promise to supply a substantial part of such needs for the immediate future.

"Under the circumstances, the board of directors has felt that this somewhat greater dividend distribution than might be customary was well warranted in the interest of stimulating business activity by contributing this added aid to the purchasing power of its common stock holders."

U. S. AND CHAMBER GROUPS TO STUDY SWOPE PROGRAM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, Nov. 20.—The investigation of recovery codes to be made by the committee of eight of the chamber of commerce of the United States, formally named today, will devote much study to the Gerard Swope plan, looking towards self-regulation of business, it was announced today.

This committee will go into the Swope plan and other recovery suggestions in coöperation with a committee of the advisory council of the department of commerce. The business leaders hope to reach an agreement with the advisory council looking to radical changes in the recovery codes.

Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, who resigned recently as chairman of the industrial advisory board along with Mr. Swope and three others, holds some essential features of the recovery program must be retained as part of well established principles of American business; others, he holds, such as government enforcement of the codes and price fixing, have no part in the system and must be eliminated, if the code program is to survive and work successfully to the benefit of consumers, producers, and employés.

LEADING STOCKS CARRIED TO NEW HIGHS FOR YEAR

Dollar's Weakness Brings Gain.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 20.—Leading stocks forged into new high ground for the current movement as the market registered a brisk advance in late trading today. The rise was closely attuned to the advance in wheat and other commodities.

Paced vigorously by old line pivotal industrial issues, the market closed strong, with leading shares up 1 to 4 points on the day. The movement carried a number of prominent stocks to new 1933 peaks, notably American Can and du Pont. Turnover was around the million and a half share mark. In the last half hour about as much business was done as in the preceding four.

Lower Dollar an Influence.

A moderate decline in the dollar with intermittent rallies, as the new week got under way, served to strengthen inflationary sentiment as the dominating market factor.

While the monetary situation remained the market's guiding light, there was a note of improvement in week-end trade news.

With traders hugging the sidelines, looking for signs of a definite trend, the market settled down into inertia at the opening, with the price range narrow. The undertone was persistently firm, however, and, impressed by the market's latent strength, traders placed orders on the buying side in increasing volume.

Brisk Closing Rally.

Then, after a lengthy period of drifting, the buying movement was resumed in earnest as a closing rally sent wheat up more than 2 cents. The ticker raced in contrast to its earlier slow gait as speculators came into the market for stocks of all descriptions.

Du Pont was a distinguished leader, extending its recovery into new high ground on a net advance of 3½ after announcement of an extra dividend of 75 cents on the common. At 98⅝, American Can broke through its previous high for the year and finished up an even 4 points. Other features of strength among industrials included Chrysler, General Motors, General Electric, Radio, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, and Westinghouse.

The new stock of National Distillers was about the only sour note of the day. The stock came under all-day pressure as the old issue, which was split three for one, disappeared from the board.

Railroad Shares Spurt.

Laggards in the recent recovery efforts, rails spurted into life in the late rally and their action spurred fresh buying in the rest of the list. New York Central was the carrier pacemaker on a net gain of 1½.

Closing up 2⅜, American Telephone was a standout performer among utilities, others of which were restricted to fractional changes on the average.

The bulge in wheat returned Case, Harvester, Deere, and the mail order shares to the spotlight on substantial gains.

Socony-Vacuum and the Standard family shared leadership of the oil division. Metal shares were strong at all times, especially silvers and golds. Foods were firm and the chemicals were buoyant.

It is asked—in times like these:

How are Chicago families reacting to general conditions?... What is the effect on demand for loans? How do borrowers perform under stress?

OUR ANSWER: In boom times people look pretty much alike... but in times of stress good people and good character always stand out. In days like these, people are more thoughtful, more watchful, a little more in earnest... they are cutting the corners, and they watch the cost... If borrowing is in order, they try to make a smaller amount do. (We notice this in a slightly lower average loan.) And when it comes to paying back, Chicago families are quite as faithful in keeping their promises as when things were different... Is it any wonder we like our job?... to make loans to those within the helpful scope of credit, and to see the overwhelming degree of character on the part of so many people, who are making progress in spite of the times and everything.

New York, Nov. 20.—Activity in the listed bond market today was sharply curtailed compared with the brisk business of last week. United States government bonds dipped in sympathy with the weakness in the dollar, while leading foreign loans moved higher. Advances and declines in the domestic corporation list were about evenly balanced.

Final prices for United States government bonds on the stock exchange were 15-32ds off to 2-32ds up in dealings amounting to only $2,824,000. The total for the entire listed market was $11,904,000. On Friday, the last five hour trading day, the total was $17,506,000.

Gold Payment Issues Up.

The so-called gold payment issues led the advance in the foreign group. French government and municipal loans climbed 1⅝ to 4½ points; Dutch East Indies loans, 1⅝ to 4¼, and Swiss government, 5½s, 1¾ points. United Kingdom bonds were bid up half a point to 3⅝ points. Bonds of the German group showed few changes on the day.

The Domestic corporation group failed to develop a definite trend today. On the average, rail issues were slightly lower and industrial and utility issues slightly higher.

Gains of Most Active Liens.

Of the most active liens, American Telephone and Telegraph debentures 5s due 1965 and 1960 were up ⅜ and ⅝, respectively. Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific 5s, due 1975, and the adjustment 5s, due 2000, were up a point and unchanged, respectively. Baltimore and Ohio 4½s, due 1960 and Interborough Rapid Transit 5s, due 1966, rose a point.

Domestic bonds on the curb exchange moved irregularly higher in fairly active dealings. Foreign loans were uneven. Imperial Russian government issues were active with only minor variations in prices.

Colorado Fuel and Iron.

Investors' Guide: Please give me some information on Colorado Fuel and Iron stocks as safe investments.—K. A.

Answer: Colorado Fuel and Iron company is the largest steel company west of the Mississippi river. Under normal conditions about two-thirds of output is steel rails. It is the third largest manufacturer of steel rails.

Drying up of railroad buying during the last two and a half years resulted in steadily increasing losses. Working capital as a result was reduced more than 50 per cent. This culminated on Aug. 1, 1933, in the decision of directors to default on interest due on that date. Receivers were appointed.

The company has a heavy funded debt, which at the close of 1932 amounted to $32,183,000. Net worth was slightly more than $8,000,000.

Protective committees for the various issues of bonds have been formed and foreclosure proceedings have been instituted. No reorganization plan has been announced, although unofficial sources indicate that the tentative plan calls for issuance of $5,000,000 first mortgage bonds and $10,000,000 income bonds, on which interest will be paid only if earned. If this proves accurate, it would probably mean that both the preferred and common will be wiped out, or at best, would be given only subscription rights to purchase securities of the new company.

Both the preferred and common are purely speculative.

Women's Federal Oil.

Investors' Guide: Sixteen years ago I bought some shares of Women's Federal Oil company. Could you give me any information on the stock?—Miss E. M.

We have the following report on the company:

"Organized about 1914 at Shreveport, La., to develop a 40 acre lease. Secured enough production to provide some profit and pay dividends. No drilling of account has been done for several years, but the company was swapping and peddling leases in Louisiana and Texas at the time of the north Texas boom. All the company's officers were women. The secretary reported in January, 1920, that cash amounted to $17.75 and debts were $63,438."

We have no further information on the company.

Skelly Oil.

Investors' Guide: What is your opinion of Skelly Oil company 5½s, due 1939?—J. T. O.

Answer: Although current position of Skelly Oil company is favorable, earnings during the last few years have not been impressive. Competition in the industry is strong. The 5½s, due 1939, are the unsecured obligation of the company. They are speculative.

ESTIMATES STEEL PLANT OUTPUT AT 26.9 PER CENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 20.—Telegraphic dispatches received by the American Iron and Steel institute from plants representing 98 per cent of the total capacity of the steel industry today indicate that for this week the operating rate will be approximately 26.9 per cent of capacity.

This compares with a 27.1 per cent rate in the immediate preceding week and with 25.2 per cent of capacity two weeks ago.

November and December are usually the months of lowest production in the steel industry and under normal conditions the drop this week would have been forecast. However, the figures were somewhat disappointing as it has been thought in some steel circles that improvement in business placed by the railroads and some fabricators would find reflection in a slight increase.

Anticipates Buying Revival.

An expansion of 4 points in steel works' operations for the last week to 28 per cent of capacity is noted by the magazine Steel, which attributes the rise mainly to releases for a number of lines whose full requirement could not be anticipated.

A substantial revival of buying, if not in actual production of steel, is anticipated by steelmakers, and the opinion is general that if inflation does not stimulate conversion of money into commodities, stabilization of the dollar should restore confidence by eliminating many uncertain factors.

Although the seasonal trend in steel production is normally downward during November and December, the sentiment in the industry is at present supported by broadening interest in structural material, by further progress with the railroad program, and larger miscellaneous requirements.

May Place Own Orders.

The government's decision not to allocate $44,000 tons of rails on which it procured bids, but to permit railroads to buy direct, is of prime importance to the mills, as it gives the railroads the opportunity to place their own orders, whereas government purchasing would have been at mills nearest to basing points. Freedom also is granted the carriers to buy 245,000 tons of track fastenings where they choose, the government deciding not to take bids.

Clarification of these points, which tended to retard action by the railroads, is now expected to expedite releases.

BARIUM STEEL COMMON STOCK OFFERED PUBLIC

An offering of 5,000 shares of Barium Steel corporation class A convertible common stock was announced yesterday by J. A. Sisto & Co. This is one of the first offerings of securities for an industrial enterprise, outside of the distillery and brewery businesses, since the 1933 securities act went into effect, and one of the few public offerings on behalf of a steel company in years.

The complete offering prospectus will be publicly advertised as is the practice in Great Britain. Organized under Ohio laws, Barium Steel corporation is a new entrant into American steel business, and will produce stainless steel in open hearth furnaces from scrap by the use of the Barium compound.

The corporation has a capitalization of 6,000 shares of no par class A capital stock, authorized and presently to be outstanding; 20,000 shares of class B capital stock of which 14,000 shares will presently be outstanding, and 6,000 shares reserved for conversion of the class A stock. Both classes of stock have equal voting rights.

The estimated net proceeds from the securities being offered for sale are $200,000.

American & Foreign Power Net Covers Dividend Needs

New York, Nov. 20.—(AP)—American and Foreign Power company, Inc., a subsidiary of the Electric Bond and Share company, reports for the twelve months ended June 30 net income of $5,586,753, compared with $11,246,621 for the twelve months ended June 30, 1932. The amount earned was slightly in excess of full dividend requirements on the $7 and $6 preferred stock.

SILVER FUTURES

Resumption of the advance in the price of domestic gold, with strength in sterling and continued agitation for demonetization of silver were instrumental in lifting silver futures in New York rather sharply. While the best prices were not fully maintained due to profit-taking the close was at net gains of .70 to .83 cents per ounce. Sales aggregated 8,200,000 ounces. December closed at 44.45@44.48 cents; January, 44.75 cents; March, 45.23@45.25 cents; May, 45.70@45.75 cents; July, 46.20 cents and September at 46.70 cents.

WHEAT HIGHER ON CROP THREAT IN ARGENTINA

Other Grains Also Join Late Advance.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

An outbreak of what is believed to be stripe rust in the southern part of the province of Buenos Aires, Argentina, a large producing area, started a buying movement in wheat late yesterday after local and eastern longs had liquidated fairly liberal lines.

Closing trades were near the top on net gains of 2¼ to 3¼ cents, with the July option leading the upturn. Corn and other grains advanced sharply in sympathy with wheat. Corn gained 1⅞ to 1¼ cents; oats, 1 to 1½ cents; rye, 3⅝ to 3½ cents, and barley, 1¼ to 1⅞ cents for the day.

December at 89 Cents.

December wheat closed at 89 cents, May at 92⅜ to 92½ cents, and July at 91⅜ to 91½ cents. May corn closed at 54½ to 54⅝ cents; May oats, 38⅜ to 38¾ cents; May rye, 69½ cents, and May barley, 50¾ cents.

According to London cables rust has been found in five districts in Argentina. In 1929 R. O. Cromwell, crop expert of Lamson Bros. & Co., first identified the rust as the striped variety, apparently unknown in that country, and estimated that it had caused extreme damage over an area of 40,000 square miles. In some sections the yield per acre was only two bushels, due to the rust.

Apparently the area affected is approximately the same that suffered so severely in 1929. The crop there is not harvested until December and January under normal conditions and is now in the stage when it is most likely to suffer from the rust.

Known in United States.

Stripe rust, while known in the United States, has been confined to scattered districts in the Pacific northwest and the intermountain territory. As far as known it has never caused material damage. However, it is a most important plant disease in the large producing sections of Europe.

The advance in the price of domestic gold as announced by the RFC and strength in sterling had some effect on the grain markets at times. Firmness in wheat in Liverpool also was an influence. Liverpool ignored the break in North American markets Saturday and closed ⅝ cents per bushel higher. Winnipeg gained 1 to 1⅛ cents in Canadian funds.

Corn Nears Export Basis.

American corn prices are close to the world basis and, according to New York advices, bids from Europe figured within 3 cents a bushel of a working basis. This has been the first intimation that foreign business was in sight, although in the last two weeks about 50,000 bushels of the white variety have been sold for special purposes abroad. Pronounced strength on the November delivery in Rotterdam, which closed at 60⅜ cents, or 8⅝ cents premium over wheat, attracted some attention.

There was buying of corn futures which was regarded in some quarters as based on possible further federal relief operations. Last week about 600,000 bushels of cash corn were bought by the government.

COTTON GINNING TO DATE AHEAD OF 1932 RESULT

Cotton ginning in the United States to Nov. 14 this year is 11,379,730 bales, as reported by the James E. Bennett-E. H. STILL GREATER BENEFITS!
The Great Benefit of the NRA as it pertains to Beauty Culture is the guaranteed salaries and shorter hours it compels—but the greater benefit is the return of the Century of Progress which creates jobs for these salaries and hours. Prepare now for a job in Moler's concession next summer. Many benefited by it this year. Private lesson course qualifies you quickly. Even half-rate regular course gets you ready in ample time. An interesting puzzle contest on abbreviations is offered this week; solved, is worth $10 in Transportation, or can be used on private lesson course.
